Large Crowd Has Coffee With Downing; Spirits High

Approximitely 500 persons attended a coffee for First District Congressman Thomas N. Downing at the American Legion Clubhouse here Wednesday morning.

Congressman Downing, who is seeking re-election in Tuesday's election to his second term in the House of Representatives, was accompanied by Mrs. Downing.

The coffee was sponsored by the "Women for Kennedy" group of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. Mrs. Paul Dolgins served as chairman.

Representative Downing spoke to the group, which also included many men, and told of the campaign and the work that has gone into it. He was introduced by Sidney S. Kellam, national Democratic committeeman for Virginia.

The coffee meeting was replete with campaign material. The Kennedy Golden Girls were present and saw that everyone had buttons, bumper stickers and other campaign literature.

Downing is being opposed by Republican Richard A. May in the general election Tuesday.

Beach Caravan of Buses to Attend Kennedy Rally Friday

Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County Democrats will have free bus transportation to Norfolk early Friday morning to hear an address by Senator John F. Kennedy to be held at Granby High School at 8:30 a.m., it was announced Monday.

Democratic headquarters here has announced that special buses will leave from the Convention Center at 7 a.m. on Friday morning. The buses are expected to return to Virginia Beach about 10:30 a.m.

Those interested in going to the Kennedy rally Friday morning via the buses are asked to call the Virginia Beach - Princess Anne County Democratic headquarters. The telephone number there is 428-6005.

The Kennedy appearence has been arranged by the First and Second Democratic District committees and it marks the first time a presidential candidate has spoken in the Hampton Roads area during this century.

Plans call for Gov. Almond to introduce Senator Kennedy. The Democratic presidential nominee is expected to speak for about 20 minutes then he is to be aboard his plane by 10 a.m. He is scheduled to speak at the Roanoke airport at 10:30 and in Toledo, Ohio, at 1 o'clock.

The Norfolk rally is expected to draw Democrats from all parts of the state and officials believe that less transportation problems will be encountered if most persons went by bus.

Council Okays Rudee Inlet Fund

The Rudee Inlet Authority was given an appropriation of $5,000 Monday by the Virginia Beach City Council to conduct a feasibility study for the development of Rudee Inlet as a boat marina.

Council's action coincides with that taken a week ago by the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors. The county also approved $5,000 for the authority to conduct such a study.

A mild objection to the appropriation was voiced Monday by Joe W. Dunn, a weekly newspaper editor, who felt "every nickel Council could get its hands on should go into the beach erosion program."

L. Stanley Hodges, vice-chairman of the Rudee Inlet Authority, told Council: "We think we're going to help the beach erosion. We're going to build up the sand."

Hodges also told Council that the authority has been impressed with the interest shown by other cities in the proposed marina.

An engineer for the Authority stated that the inlet project "if worked in conjunction with the erosion commission, would benefit the beach, not harm it."

Plans for the proposed marina call for a 138-slip marina, a jetty extending into the Ocean and a bridge over the inlet. Cost of the project is estimated at $450,000.

Council also amended the quarterly tax payment ordinance to include a 30-day grace period without penalty.

"Every gift, no matter what the amount, will be appreciated. In a big venture such as the building of a 100-120 bed hospital, every dollar is needed", said Mr. Riganto.

Sun-News Urges Demo Support

The Sun-News, this week, in an editorial has endorsed the candidacy of Senator John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee for president.

Along with support of Senator Kennedy and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice-presidential candidate, the Sun-News states its support of all Democratic nominees in next Tuesday's election.

Along with support of the national ticket the Sun-News is urging the re-election of Representative Thomas N. Downing and U. S. Senator A. Willis Robertson, both Democratic candidates.

If Name Means Anything It's KennedyTuesday

What's in a name? That question has often been asked and maybe there is something to a person's name. At least, it may have some bearing on the present presidential election, that is, the length of the candidate's last names.

A check of history produces a revealing fact. In every presidential election since the 1920 election the candidate whose last name had the most letters was the winner every time.

In 1920 it was Harding over Cox for the top office of the United States. In 1924 Coolidge defeated Davis. The 1928 election found Hoover defeating Smith.

After the 1928 election the next four presidential elections found Franklin D. Roosevelt the winner over Hoover in 1932; Landon in 1936; Wilkie in 1940; and Dewey in 1944.

Then in 1948 Truman topped Dewey and in 1952 and 1956 Eisenhower defeated Stevenson.

If this trend continues in the 1960 election it would be Kennedy over Nixon by two letters, or a 7 to 5 margin.

Start Of Bridge-Tunnel

This was the scene last week as Lacius J. Kellam, chairman of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel Commission, addressed a crowd of dignitaries who gathered to watch the first of some 3000 piles to be driven into the bed of Chesapeake Bay as support for the complex $200,000,000 bridge-tunnel. The huge project is expected to be completed in late 1963.

"Suburbia Today," New Sun-News Feature Will Make Debut In November 10 Edition

Famous author, scholar and naturalist John Kieran says that walking suits him right down to the ground, in the big November issue of "Suburbia Today," which will be included in the November 10th edition of your Virginia Beach Sun-News.

Looking back over past Thanksgiving Days, noted newspaperman Hal Borland can't remember any that were quiet, orderly, or dull, because there were always plenty of children around, and children just don't go in for quiet, orderly holidays.

There's a study, too, this month, by Luis and Jo Villalon, on school costs around the country. They ask, "Are School Costs Getting Out of Hand?" — and they come up with some surprising answers (plus a work sheet and figures that will help you figure out how your own town measures up).

The Commuter's Comedian, Alan King, considers some of the strange brands of telephonetiquette; while the "Commuter's Commuter," Walter W. Bailey, admits that he drives 227 miles a day to and from his job—and enjoys it.

There is also a very useful article for indoor gardeners who have never considered cacti as house plants. They are extremely easy to grow, require almost no care, and are generous in fragrance, color, and bloom.

This month's Unusual Suburban Home began as the personal project of architect Bayard Underwood, who wanted the most for his money and therefore used steel frame construction. His house proved so successful that it is now the model for an entire development near Boston.

The food pages, this month, include kitchen-tested reasons for coming in out of the cold as Broiled Salmon, Spicy Tokays, Hot Potatoes with Pimiento-Onion Butter, and an absolutely marvelous, easy-to-prepare Chocolate Dessert Superb.

The news column, Getting Around, is overburdened, this month, with good common-sense advice about how to keep warm in a football stadium, how to avoid a parking ticket if you happen to be driving a 155-car freight train, and how to get a Manhattan cocktail around Chicago if you are 13 years old.

In Suburbia—Any Day! Our cartoonists take up money matters—in very uncertain but very funny terms.

Finally, sadder and wiser, we bid farewell to our series of Contests For People Who Never Enter Contests—and if you're still holding out after three chances, you lose automatically and we have to send your Lark Station Wagon or Westinghouse washer-dryer combination or Hardman duo piano to someone else.

Five Princess Anne Seniors Honored In Scholarship Tests

Five seniors at Princess Anne High School have been honored for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school receives a formal Letter of Commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Mr. Littleton, the school's principal, has announced that the commended students are; Evans Cayce, Warren Powell, Conrad Shumadine, Carolyn Stanley and William Wheeler.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, stated:

"Letters of Commendation are being awarded to some 28,000 students throughout the United States in recognition of their excellent performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test."

"While these bright youngsters did not reach the status of semifinalists in the 1960-61 Merit Program, they are so outstanding that we wish to single them out for special attention. The semifinalists and commended students together constitute less than three per cent of all high school seniors, and this certainly signifies noteworthy achievement."

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation gives recognition to two groups of students who achieve high scores on the NMSQT. The semifinalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories. Some 10,000 semifinalists will take a second examination in December to establish further their eligibility to receive Merit Scholarships.

"The Letters of Commendation provide tangible recognition of the commended students' high ability," Mr. Stainaker continued. "It is our earnest hope that the recipients will continue their education, and thus benefit not only themselves but also the nation.

"The Merit Program has several objectives. One is the selection of Merit Scholars from among the semifinalists. However, we also strive to foster the pursuit of excellence among all highly able students. We urge the students honored today to make every effort to attend college, and to develop to the fullest their promise of achievement."

The commended students were among the high school juniors in more than 15,000 schools who took the NMSQT last spring. The test is a three-hour examination which covers five separate areas of educational development. It was the first step in the sixth annual Merit Program.

This year's program will conclude about May 1, 1961 with the naming of students who will receive four-year Merit Scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

DEMOCRAT FAVORED IN SUN-NEWS BALLOTING

Senator John F. Kennedy increased his lead substantially over Republican Richard M. Nixon in the final week of the post card poll conducted by the Virginia Beach Sun-News in the current presidential campaign.

Post cards returned to the Sun-News through Tuesday gave Kennedy 17 votes to 8 for Nixon. This was more than 2 to 1 majority for the Democratic candidate.

This was the final week of the Sun-News poll before the election next Tuesday. The cumulative totals for the four weeks of the poll gave this result: Kennedy 69, Nixon 45.

The fourth week of the poll gave Kennedy his greatest majority of the weekly polls. The first week resulted in a 2 to 1 edge for Kennedy, but the second week found Nixon nosing out his Democratic rival by a single vote, 14 to 13.

The third week of the poll here placed Kennedy with 19 votes to 13 for Nixon.

Only one Nixon supporter offered any remarks this week in the poll. He said: "Kennedy, by his policy of intervening in the internal affairs of Cuba seems to be advocating the desire for war. If he is elected, he will sit in the White House while us million of young boys will be getting shot down and mutilated if a war breaks out. Nixon is more inclined to be a peace seeking man. Does Kennedy?"

One Kennedy booster said: "Nixon could be appointed ambassador to Quemoy and Matsu."

Another Kennedy supporter stated; "Mr. Kennedy, in my opinion, is best suited for the office of President."

Still another prospective Kennedy voter said: "Why Nixon? Now he has to have President Eisenhower to lead him around by the hand to get anyone to listen."

Finally a Kennedy supporter had this to say: "My family 100 per cent for Kennedy."

From the results of the four-week poll conducted by the Sun-News indications are that, barring any last minute switch, Senator Kennedy should capture Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County in next Tuesday's balloting by a comfortable margin.

According to Culverhouse the caravan has met with enthusiastic groups every place they have visited, and they have visited many localities during the past two weeks.

Here is a partial rundown of the places the Democratic Kennedy-Johnson caravan has visited. They have been to Hopewell, Petersburg, Blackstone, Crew, Farmville, Appomatox, Lynchburg, Bedford and Lexington.

Also Covington, Clifton Forge, Roanoke, Staunton, Harrisonburg, Waynesboro, Williamsburg, Orange, Falls Church and Fredericksburg. The caravan is still on the road and expects to remain on the highways and byways until the end of this week.

Culverhouse reports that during the early days of travel the local group helped set up headquarters offices in many of the town and cities.

The latest report from Culverhouse is that the campaign in Virginia is going well and that Senator Kennedy is gaining ground all the time.

On The Campaign Trail

P-TA meeting was held on Wednesday, November 2, 1960, at 8:00 p.m. You are needed in the P-TA because children's needs won't wait. It doesn't take a child long to grow up. And growing up under undesirable conditions means tragedy to the child and lose to the nation. By uniting forces with others who care about what happens to the rising generation of Americans. You can help to overcome these unwholesome influences.

Virginia Beach Youth Leading Chicago Jockey

CHICAGO (Special)—From Virginia Beach, Va., a summer resort with no horse-racing tracks, has come a young man named Guy Smithson who is making a name for himself as a jockey.

Smithson, 22, is the leading rider at Sportman's Park here. He had one of his biggest days last Thursday with four winners.

Since he made his first start in 1956 aboard Mr. Veep, this 5-4, 111-pound Virginian has been accustomed to the winner's circle.

From Ohio to Virginia, Smithson has been up on stakes winners, unlike many jockeys from the smaller tracks. Recently his mount —Sea Jet — captured the Hazel Park Handicap at Arlington Park.

Following such top-ranked riders as Willie Hartack and Bill Shoemaker in the saddle of Sea Jet means that young Smithson has come of age. There is room for Smithson at the top. After all, Eddie Arcaro can't last forever.

Miss Linda Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hale who is a freshman at Elon College was home this past weekend. Miss Peggy Hardesty of Chevy Chase, Md., her roommate came to the beach for the weekend as her guest.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

NAVY INTELLIGENCE SCHOOL VISITS FORT STORY

Fort Story was host recently to 30 students from the Navy Amphibious School, Little Creek, Norfolk, Virginia.

The class, which is from the Navy Intelligence School, toured the post receiving briefings and demonstrations on the BARC, the DUKW, and the LCR. Included in the schedule was a ride in the BARC.

This class, the 4th in a series of intelligence classes, spends most of its class hours touring the various military installations in the Norfolk area. It is a 2-week integrated course serving both active and reserve officers from the various branches of the armed services. Assignments are made by application and the school is run by the Navy.

Following the tour, Capt. Irving W. Wright, Escort Officer, escorted Maj. Fred Preuett, Laison Officer and Instructor at the School and the visiting student officers to the Officers Open Mess for luncheon prior to their departure.

BROWNIE AND GIRL SCOUT TROOP FORMED AT STORY

Both a Brownie and a Girl Scout troop were formed on post recently, as each group held its first weekly meeting in the Post Youth building.

Four weekly meetings must be held before the troops can be chartered by the Girl Scouts of America and receive their numbers. The troops plan their official chartering ceremony for Nov. 15th.

So far 21 girls have signed up for the Girl Scout Troop. Leader of the troop is Mrs. J. E. Kuka.

Mrs. Thomas Baskin and Mrs. Robert Gottschall are the leaders of the Brownies, who now have a membership of 16 girls.

Mrs. Hallie A. Matlock has been in charge of organizing the two new troops.

CAPT. THOMAS TAKES CHARGE OF THE 565TH

In a change of command ceremony held recently, Capt. John B. Thomas took over the 565th Transportation Company from Lt. Marshal E. Strey. Lt. Strey will remain with the Company as Executive Officer.

Prior to coming to Fort Story, Capt. Thomas was stationed at Whittier, Alaska as a Stevedore Officer. His other tours of duty have taken him to Greenland, Newfoundland, and to France during WW II.

Capt. Thomas has 18 years of service with the U.S. Army. He is married and lives with his wife, Dorothy, and their children, Virginia, aged 15, Joan, aged 8, John, aged 6, and Jimmy, aged 3, at Virginia Beach.

JAPANESE GENERAL VISITS FORT STORY

Fort Story was recently honored by a visit from Maj. Gen. Haruo Umezawa, Commandant of OCS of Japan's Ground Self Defense Force, and four other Japanese officers.

The guests arrived by helicopter from Ft. Eustis and were greeted by Col. William P. Pope, Commanding Officer of Ft. Story, who briefed them on the command of Fort Story.

During the day the General and his party visited the 10th and 14th Battalion Headquarters, toured the post, and received an orientation and demonstration of the BARC and the LCR (Landing Craft Retriever).

Lt. Col. Joseph Morgan, ACofS, G-2 (Intelligence), was the Escort Officer for the visiting party.

Lamb Raisers Advised To Keep Correct Records

The Princess Anne ASC Office advises county sheep producers who market unshorn lambs this fall to keep a full record of all sales so proper application for payment may be made under the Wool Incentive Program.

"Failure to keep full records has caused some producers difficulties in the past," N. T. Beal, County Officer Manager for ASC, said, "Sales records must include the name of the buyer, his signature, the number and liveweight of lambs sold with the notation 'unshorn' shown thereon."

He also pointed out that lamb producers, in addition to their regular sales records, are required to show their records of purchases. These records must show the date of purchase and the weight at time of purchase. Payments are based on the net liveweight gained by the lambs while in feeding lots.

Beal said producers should keep these records in a safe place at home or deliver them to the ASC county office for safekeeping. Although the final date for making applications for payment under the 1960 wool program is not until April 30, 1961, the applications may be submitted to the ASC office any time between now and then.

"It's mighty easy for farmers to misplace sales slips over the winter," Mr. Beal said, "and I strongly suggest that farmers let us lock up the sales slips here in the county office for safekeeping until next spring."

Moscow's first city telephone directory in six years was published recently and has already sold out for $1.30 (at the tourist exchange rate).

Confidence in a Greater America
A vote of confidence in our destiny is needed November 8th. Our foreign policy has to begin anticipating and acting as each world crisis occurs . . . not hiding behind slogans while communism festers 90 miles from our shores. The times call for greatness—not slogans. We must act. We must be unified under leadership that keeps us informed on the perils we face and the sacrifices needed. The time for complacency, secrecy and hanging back is past. Vote for leadership.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

We Favor Senator Kennedy

The Sun-News today, after several weeks of political campaigning by Senator John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for President, and Richard M. Nixon, the Republican standard bearer, strongly endorses Senator Kennedy to be the next President of the United States.

The Sun-News feels that the election of Senator John F. Kennedy next Tuesday will be for the best interests of the country and that a national administration in the hands of the Democratic Party will be best for Virginia and our future.

Senator Kennedy has demonstrated that he possesses the vigorous leadership qualities that we believe the nation surely needs at this time. He has spoken out forthrightly and wisely, we feel, in the matter of foreign policy. He made it clear that he would not risk war with Communist China solely for the "principle" of defending two islands immediately adjacent to the China mainland, for to do so would be unsound militarily, unnecessary to our security and unsupported by our allies.

In contrast to his opponent, Senator Kennedy presents a much "stronger personality", has impressed with his quick mind and his apparent knowledge of a wide range of subjects, all pertinent to the office which he seeks. In short, he has been by far the most "forceful personality" of the two candidates and speaks with the confidence and authority of a man who knows what to do and when to do it.

Further, we believe Senator Kennedy is a leader who will get this country moving again. He sees the challenges ahead and is ready to meet them.

To us, Senator Kennedy seems to have a much clearer grasp of the whole situation and particularly the position of this country in the world today. He is genuinely disturbed with the present position of this nation as a world leader and seems equipped in every way to restore confidence in our leadership and to spur the nation on to greater heights.

Another point to be remembered is the fact that Senator Kennedy and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, his running mate on the ticket, are candidates of the Democratic Party. In 1956 the leaders of the Democratic Party of Virginia, at the national convention in Chicago, strongly backed and voted for Senator Kennedy for vice-president. This year the same Democratic Party of Virginia went to the national convention in Los Angeles with its delegation instructed to vote for Senator Lyndon B. Johnson for president. And, now in the election to be held Tuesday Virginia Democrats have both men they backed in 1956 and 1960 running as partners on the same Democratic National ticket.

Senator Kennedy, we believe, represents a new era for America and the United States. We firmly believe that Senator Kennedy and Senator Johnson will be good for this country in the forward looking sixties. The recent start on the huge Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel right here at our doorstep typifies the kind of forward looking, progressive steps that can be expected under a national Democratic administration headed by Senator Kennedy.

There are many other points that could be cited to back up our support of Senator Kennedy and the Democratic Party, but most of all we believe that this country is in need of the type of leadership we believe Jack Kennedy can bring to the office of president.

And, it is for this reason and the many others that we hope for the election of Senator Kennedy next Tuesday. His election will herald the beginning of a reawakening of the vigor and vitality of this nation.

Re-Elect Downing And Robertson

Two Democratic incumbents seeking reelection in next Tuesday's general election deserve the full and wholehearted support of all Democratic voters in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. We refer to U.S. Senator A. Willis Robertson and First District Representative Thomas N. Downing.

Both of these men have served well and faithfully and should be returned to Washington. Senator Robertson has been a fine public servant for a number of years and is highly respected by his fellow congressmen.

Congressman Downing is completing his first term and he has been an outstanding freshman congressman by all standards. He is ever alert to the problems of his district and is always at hand whenever he is called on.

The Sun-News urges the re-election of these two fine Virginians and trust that they will be given an overwhelming vote of confidence at the polls on Tuesday.

Forty years ago, the Theodore N. Vail Memorial Fund was established to honor telephone workers for noteworthy public service.

Friends School Book Sale Set For Nov. 8th

Parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles of the Virginia Beach area should put a circle around November 8th on their calendars —both because this is the day they are to put an X on their ballots and because it is the opening day of the Annual Friends School Book Fair.

On display at The Friends School Meeting House on Laskin Road will be 400 beautiful new books, arranged according to suitable reading for ages 4 through 14 years old. Christmas gifts ordered here will insure pleasurable and wholesome reading for boys and girls during the coming holidays.

Believing that family reading makes for fun and strengthens unity, the Parent Teacher Group is featuring a table of books especially appropriate for this use—the Read Aloud section.

The 5th Annual Book Fair will open with coffee being served at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, November 8th. The Fair will continue through Nov. 11th 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will include 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9th.

Letter To Editor
Editor, Sun-News:

It is so disappointing to hear supposedly good citizens of our country say they have always voted Democratic until this year. These so-called good citizens say they stand for constitutional rights and freedom. How can they make such statements? When they are voting against John F. Kennedy simply because he is a Catholic.

Let us hope these people will wake up and realize how wrong they are to go against one of the freedoms on which our country was founded. Vote the way you want but not against a religion.

Beach Cadets Listed In "Who's Who" Among American Colleges

Two cadets from the Virginia Beach area are among 20 Virginia Military Institute first classmen who have been named to the 1960-61 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Taylor

Braithwaite

They are Cadet Captain Ashby Brooke Taylor, III, of Great Neck Point, London Bridge, and Cadet William Thomas Braithwaite, of Lake Shore Drive, Virginia Beach.

Taylor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brooke Taylor Jr., is a premedical student scheduled to be graduated next June with a bachelor of arts degree in biology. Academically distinguished throughout his cadetship, Taylor has won several awards for significant accomplishments in pre-medical and commander of Company "D" in the Corps and this year is president of the Cadet Honor Court, perhaps the highest honor that a cadet at VMI can attain.

Braithwaite, an honor student and English major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Braithwaite. He is vice-president of the Cadet Honor Court, has held editorial positions on the cadet newspaper and annual staff, and is one of the most outstanding members of VMI's varsity track team. In 1959 he won the Southern Conference two-mile event in 10:04.5, and in 1960 took the Southern Conference mile event in 4:28.6. In the last week Braithwaite set a new school record when he ran the 4.2-mile cross country course in 22:29.7, breaking a record he'd set himself last year.

Selection of cadets for "Who's Who" is made by a committee of the VMI faculty and staff.

Guesswork Out With New Dryer

All guesswork and all risk of overdrying is eliminated with the Maytag electronic control clothes dryer now being introduced, according to J. B. Wood of Price's Inc., Hilltop, Va. Beach Maytag dealer here.

This unique dryer, developed by the Maytag company, features a supersensory electronic control system which constantly measures the moisture content of each piece of laundry as it tumbles through the drying cycle. When the entire clothes load has reached the optimum degree of dryness, the dryer automatically shuts off.

The unit maintains exactly the correct moisture content in clothes and eliminates the harshness of overdrying. The settings on the electronic control dryer eliminate all guesswork. Three automatic drying cycles provide the homemaker with her choice of "Regular" "Wash 'n Wear," or "Damp Dry."

To provide the ultimate in convenience and flexibility, the new dryer offers two timed settings—"Air Fluff," which provides for a timed drying period of up to 50 minutes.

Most settings on ordinary automatic dryers are based on theoretical average loads. In actual fact, no two loads are ever the same. They differ in size, fabric content and capacity for moisture absorption; thus estimated time settings often result in overdrying.

GALILEE CHURCH TO HOLD BAZAAR NOV. 16

Mrs. Clarence Thompson, general chairman of the Galilee Episcopal Church Bazaar, to be sponsored on November 16th at the church from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., by the Women of the Church, reports that preparations are nearing completion. Items still desired for donation are as follows.

Needed for the White Elephant Booth are canes, crutches, pictures and picture frames. Donors may call the chairman of this booth, Mrs. Harry L. Watts, GA 8-6860.

Christmas decorations, plants, material for dired arrangements, comic books, hardback books, and jewelry can be used. Salads (not congealed) mayonnaise, cookies, cheese biscuits, cakes, candy, pies are needed for the Pantry Shelf Booth. Persons wishing to donate any of these items may call Mrs. James Jordan, Jr., GA 8-6082, or Mrs. John A. Tucker, GA 8-3776.

In addition to the booths usually featured, the Bazaar will add this year a Swiss Puppet Show to be presented by Mrs. Emmanuel Bach, wife of the assistant rector of the church. Mrs. Bach will use puppets and script from her native country, Switzerland.

Mr. John A. Tucker, in charge of Pilot Life's local office, left Wednesday for the Company's Home Office in Greensboro and will return to Virginia Beach Sunday.

Radio Man Writes Of His Decision To Settle Here

(The following article was written by Ted Work, a new staff member of Radio Station WNOR, and it deals with his personal feeling about coming into the striving Tidewater area. It, therefore, it written in the first person.)

I have been asked many times since I arrived in the Tidewater area, two weeks ago, why I left the Washington, D.C. market to come to the Norfolk-Portsmouth-Hampton-Newport News-Virginia Beach area of the Commonwealth State.

The two markets are more similar than one might at first imagine. For instance the Washington, D.C., market shows 98 percent of its homes equipped with radio and and 92 percent with television, while here in Tidewater, 99 per cent of the homes have radio and 91 per cent have TV. Last year the Tidewater area showed 201,600 homes either owned or being bought by its citizens, while in the nation's capital there were only a relative handful more, 243,500 homes being bought or already owned and yet the population of the two are much closer than that. In the latest census it was shown that Norfolk is one of the fastest growing markets in the entire country and has jumped from the 32nd largest market to the 17th largest market in the short span of 10 years. Meanwhile the nations capital has stood markedly steady at the eleventh largest market throughout that time.

While people are continually moving out of the Washington, D.C., area, they are just as regularly moving into Tidewater.

These figures tend to bear out the reasons for my having left the number one radio station in Washington, D.C. to join one of the swingingest stations on the East Coast, WNOR. Should the Norfolk area continue to move forward at the fast pace it has shown over the last ten years, there is no question that Tidewater will soon be the number one market in the South for radio and television.

Radio today is a fast paced medium of entertainment, and in this one D.J.'s opinion is the number one medium of entertainment today which can and does appeal to the likes of all ages. Radio in Tidewater, I feel is a fine as you will find in this country. With 14 radio outlets, (AM and FM) one can tune to any type entertainment they desire at any time of the day or night. But I must admit 'NOR sound around the clock is I am prejudiced, for I feel that the the sound that most of Tidewater is listening to.

It is my pleasure to be able to join you on WNOR, 1230 on your dial, each morning from 5:30 til 9 a.m. on the Ted Work show and invite you to "Wake Up For Work". I am very happy to say that I am awaking the most wide awake market in the East today and this makes my job the easiest in the world, it seems. Really, its not "Work". but play.

CHARITY MEN WILL SERVE AS HOSTS

CIVIC CHORUS BEGINS FALL REHEARSALS

The Virginia Beach Civic Chorus has begun its fall season of rehearsals again under the able direction of Charles Daws. The Chorus is planning several musical events during the forthcoming months beginning with a Christmas program in the early part of December.

The Chorus is progressing very well but there is always room for more singers and anyone with musical abilities. The Chorus meets for practice every Monday and Tuesday evenings in the rehearsal hall of the Baptist Church on 35th Street and Mr. Daws extends an invitation for new members.

Watch for the exact date of the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus' Christmas program.

LETTERS FROM ALASKA READ AT MEETING

Thank you letters from missionaries in Alaska were read at a recent meeting of the Tidewater Association of Home Builders Auxiliary at the Pine Tree Inn.

Members of the auxiliary have been sending packages of needles, thread and bandages to the missionaries who have distributed them among the natives.

A film on modern trends in interior decoration was a highlight of the program and plans were made for a Christmas party to be held in mid-December.

Women Learn About Hospital

The Woman's Clubs of Princess Anne County met with representatives of the Princess Anne County Memorial Hospital Campaign Committee on Tuesday, November 1st, at Convention Center, Virginia Beach. All Woman's clubs of the area were represented. Brief speeches were made by Mr. Charles Burlage, Dr. Ira Hancock and Mr. Frank Kellam to explain the background and accomplishments to date on the proposed Princess Anne County Memorial Hospital which is to be built in Princess Anne Plaza.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a $2500 check by Mrs. W. J. Dickens, Jr., President of the Princess Anne County Woman's Clubs, to Dr. Ira Hancock. Mrs. Dickens explained that the $2500 was the proceeds from last year's Antique Show and that there will probably be another check for $2000 from this year's show when the final audit has been completed. The Antique Shows have been very successful, and there is every indication that they will continue to be a source of income for the hospital.

The meeting was open for questions of the various phases of the hospital plans and the present campaign to raise a minimum of $750,000 from business and residents of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach.

The meeting went on record to support the Campaign further by assisting in the solicitation of the homes in the area. The Garden Clubs have been approached to work in this Division also. Mrs. Alta Griffin, one of the Hospital Commissioners and Chairman of the Garden Clubs Division, and Mrs. Mabel Owen, Chairman of the Woman's Clubs Division of the fund campaign will be in charge of the House-to-House phase of the drive.

A joint meeting of Representatives of the Garden Clubs and Woman's Clubs was scheduled for Monday, November 7th at 10:30 a.m. to be held at Convention Center V.B. to work out details of the House-to-House solicitation.

Cavalier Garden Club Meets

The Cavalier Garden Club met recently at the Princess Anne County Club with Mrs. Carl Rau presiding.

Mrs. James H. Van Loon gave an interesting talk on gardens, showing slides from the gardens in Virginia Beach and Williamsburg, Va. and Longwood, Pa.

Mrs. Gilmore Tilbrook told about the progress of the beautification program along Atlantic ave., and future plans that will be made as to the planting of oleander and other shrubs for experimental purposes.

How Use Of Water May

END YOUR CONSTIPATION WORRIES

As you grow older, your system begins to dry out. This is true of your digestive system, and it may lead to constipation. SERUTAN, taken daily with plenty of water, produces a smooth gel that provides the proper moisture, bulk and peristaltic stimulation to help end your constipation worries.

SERUTAN is the all-vegetable laxative aid that moistens hard, dry food wastes and forms it for easy, regular elimination. SERUTAN is entirely different from harsh chemical pills, salts, bran or oils. Take SERUTAN daily with water and enjoy regular elimination or your money back.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Isaiah	7	13-16
Monday	Proverbs	6	20-22
Tuesday	Galatians	4	1-7
Wednesday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Thursday	II Timothy	3	14-17
Friday	Hebrews	13	7-8
Saturday	Psalms	77	13-14

I call Bruce my combination angel-terror. Soon he will be four, and he is a fascinating mixture of mischief and goodness.

At bedtime, I always tiptoe into his room to be sure he's covered. Then it is that I am struck by the innocence of his face in sleep. Then it is that I realize how helpless is this small dynamo, who plunges with such boundless energy about our house and yard all day. Then it is that I am struck by the awesomeness of my responsibility.

I realize it is entirely up to me to see that Bruce learns right from wrong, to see that he grows into the sort of man who will be a credit to his family, his community, and his country. I must teach him to keep a steady heart and a level head, to resist the many temptations that will be strewn in his path, to hold honor and truth and integrity high.

When I think of my task, I send a small and special prayer to God to aid me. And I thank God for his Church on earth which, for years to come, will be helping me, again and again, in making my small mischief into a man.

TEEN SCENE

By Charley Oop

This is old Charley Oop with another edition of Teen Scene and all the other teenager news.

Charley would like to stress one important thing this week. If there is anybody interested in joining a bowling league, do so immediately.

Also, the Virginia Beach High School football team should be honored for they held favored Smithfield to a scoreless stalemate.

If there is anyone who knows a friend who they think should be teenager of the week and why, write to Old Charlie Oop.

With all the rain and bad weather there hasn't been very much outdoor activities to report.

The Knight's dances on Saturday nights are proving very popular. Remember, fellows, if you go you must wear a coat and tie.

TEENAGER OF THE WEEK

This week's Teenager of the Week is Eric Reese.

Eric is the second sophomore to be selected and his brother was the first junior.

This is Eric's second semester at Virginia Beach High School and Eric is doing very well. He is the president of his class and is also one of the halfbacks on the varsity football team.

Eric has attended many schools in the State, such as, Granby High, Oscar Smith and now Virginia Beach.

Last year while at Virginia Beach, he played third man on the tennis team. This year he hopes to be the number one man on the team. We salute Eric Reese and hope he has great success in the future.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The Knight's Boys Club of Virginia Beach will hold their weekly dance at the Community House on Saturday night from 8 p.m. until 12 p.m. The Rhythm Rockers will play. Admission will be 75 cents.

The Thunderbird Bowling Lanes announce that Junior Leagues are being formed for the winter months. Those interested should contact Joe Phelps at the popular recreation center to sign up for the leagues. It's lots of fun and good exercise, too.

LINKHORN PARK OPEN HOUSE SET

Linkhorn Park School will hold open house Wednesday in observance of American Education Week.

Grades one through three will be open from 1 to 3 p.m. and grades four through 7 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Teachers will remain after school closes to discuss individual problems with the parents.

All parents are invited to sit in the classrooms and observe the teacher and students in action.

The library and cafeteria will also be open to visitors.

A receiving line in the front hall will consist of Gordon Baskin, principal, Mrs. L. C. Brennan, P-TA president, and Mrs. Paul Dolgins, general chairman of American Education Week.

The teachers will also be honored Wednesday with gifts to be presented by Mrs. Brennan and Mrs. Dolgins.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1960

King's Grant Subdivision Is Taking Shape In P.A. County

The King's Grant Subdivision work is progressing rapidly, with over a mile of streets in and stoned. Mr. W. E. Mattox, Vice President of Viking Construction Corporation, stated that the pumping station and forced main for handling of sewerage has been completed and currently is in operation serving the newly opened Kings Grant School. One and one-half miles of water mains have been installed and construction of new homes is proposed to begin the last week in November.

Architectural control, large wooded sites with curved streets, curb and gutter and plenty of lake and river frontage will be used to blend individual sites and custom builder construction into a pleasant area of desirable homes.

Trees, with which Kings Grant is liberally supplied, are being kept through special site handling. In many cases a wench tractor will be used in lieu of a bulldozer so the adjacent foliage can be preserved.

Several church groups are currently negotiating for church sites and this, plus private and public schools all ready on site, will further the area's desirability for home ownership. The fall colors currently blanketing Kings Grant are an indication of the beauty of the community to come.

The property in the Little Neck section which has recently been acquired by the Viking Construction Corporation is rich in historical background. It lies adjacent to and includes some of the land that was set aside as the glebe, of the first Parish Church built across the Lynnhaven River, on Adam Thoroughgood's land. In 1635, Adam Thoroughgood was granted a "Crown Grant" for 5,300 acres of land which included a large part of what is now Princess Anne County. He had persuaded 105 persons to come and settle in Virginia. Names of prominence in this company included Keeling, Woodhouse, Stratton and many others still known in the county today.

The glebe was of such importance to a church in that day that no church was established in the colony of Virginia by the Church of England without the acquisition of a glebe.

The term "glebe" is derived from a Latin word meaning earth or land . . . "in ecclesiastical law, the land devoted to the maintenance of the incumbent (minister) of a church . . . the assigning of glebes was of such absolute necessity that without them no church could be regularly consecrated." The Glebe House was the home of the minister and a community center as well.

We know that prior to 1640, Court was held at the glebe on Little Neck. The earliest minister of the Church of England in what is now Princess Anne County, The Reverend William Wilkinson and his wife, Naomi, received 700 acres of property on Little Neck (later called Glebe Land) in 1635. He was an Oxford graduate and whether or not he came as a settler or as a minister to the colony is not certain. The location of this Glebe House is at the present the home of Miss Evelyn Hill, Sea Breeze Farm. It existed from about 1640 until after the Revolution, when it belonged to the Lynnhaven Parish in 1785. There were thirteen ministers to this parish during these early years prior to the Revolution, but how many of them made their home at the old glebe is now known.

The road that connected the lower end of the county with the glebe was one of the early roads of the county. The present Little Neck Road that twists and turns follows this path. In the time of Adam Thoroughgood, a wooden foot bridge connected his property and the parish church located on the western shore of the Lynnhaven River with the glebe.

When Captain John Smith and the Jamestown settlers arrived in Virginia, their diaries gave accounts of the exploration of the Lynnhaven River, then called by the Indian name Chesopean. They reported finding signs natives were roasting. So beautiful did they find the country on the banks of the river in 1607 that they wrote home to England . . . "that God never fashioned a better place for man's habitat." The Indians certainly roamed over the Little Neck area for arrowheads and other Indian relics often are turned up all along the shore.

As time went on following Adam Thoroughgood's settling in Princess Anne County, his original grant was divided many times, other grants were also made and people who were prominent in England began to settle in this part of Virginia. These great plantations were owned for the most part by mariners or by people who owned ships that plied the seas between the West Indies and England. Ships could and did enter the Lynnhaven River and dock at plantations to load tobacco and turpentine and unloading things ordered by the settlers. There was quite an aristocracy on the shores of the Lynnhaven and there were ferries that ran back and forth across the river near the glebe acres.

On the property just purchased by the Viking Construction Corporation is one fine old house of the pre-Revolutionary period. It was built by Robert Williamson prior to 1773.

I think that in the development of this tract of land there lies an opportunity to use a great deal of Princess Anne County history. There is the fascinating story of Grace Sherwood who was tried for witchcraft and subsequently ducked at a point not far from the glebe. There are many old houses still standing in the county that could be used as models for the houses erected on the tract, using the names of places such as Keeling House, Rolleston, Fairfield, etc. The streets could bear the names of colonial ministers who had resided at the Glebe as well as Justices of the early court. There are endless possibilities to follow as the area takes shape.

There might perhaps be a center, with a village green and a reconstructed village named perhaps "New Towne" for one of the early towns of the county, settled in 1697 and long since deserted. Other points of interest might be a Globe House (there are buildings of this type still in existence in Virginia), small shops, a one-room school house or a colonial chapel. Great charm and an awakening of interests in Princess Anne's history can surround the homes built on Little Neck.

CHILDREN'S MOVIES SET FOR SATURDAY

The Children's Movie Program, sponsored by the Virginia Beach Art Assn., will take place Saturday morning at 10:30 in the auditorium of the Virginia Beach High School. Children will see a Disney film about seaside and marshland birds called "Water Birds", a Disney science film entitled "Man In Flight", and three cartoons. All films are in technicolor.

The program will last until 12:00 noon. Season tickets for the eleven remaining movie programs may be purchased for $2.50. Individual tickets are 25 cents.

A.R.E. MEETING SCHEDULED SUNDAY

"The Case for the Continuity of Life" will be the subject for discussion which Mrs. Lydia J. Schrader Gray will lecture on before the Forum on Sunday, November 6th, at the Association for Research and Enlightenment headquarters building at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gray is a trustee of the Association and a resident member of the staff. She travels widely for the Association and has lectured at the Association conferences all over the United States. She has been a student of the Edgar Cayce Readings for many years and is the author of the booklet, "Children of the New Age", based on the Readings and published by the Association.

The coming Forum program will be the third in a series being held twice a month, on alternate Sunday afternoons. These are open to the public, who are cordially invited to attend. A question-and-answer period follows the lecture, a discussion in which all may participate.

Mrs. Richard J. McGrath recently returned to her Bay Colony home after visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Seawell in Greensboro, N.C.

CAPE HENRY JUNIOR WOMEN MEET

Mrs. Donald Cox introduced Mr. Irvin D. Mapp, Civil Defense Director of Princess Anne County, to members of The Cape Henry Jr. Woman's Club at a meeting last Wednesday evening.

Mr. Mapp stressed the importance of civil defense in times of emergencies caused by nature's forces as well as an enemy attack. He said in case of attack, we in Tidewater are living in a super critical area and there is a great need for volunteers for Civile Defense work.

Mrs. Garland Barlow introduced prospective new club members.

Mrs. Phillip Foxwell was elected to the board.

The Cape Henry Jrs. are supporting the "Get Out The Vote" campaign by offering transportation to and from the polls on Nov. 8th. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Anyone living in the Thalia-Birchwood area may call GY 7-2933; Lynnhaven-London Bridge residents call GY 7-3254.

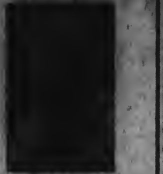
NOTES FROM YOUR COUNTY AGENT

By E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.



A STORY OF THANKSGIVING

A little boy of six was invited to lunch at a neighbor's home. As all were seated, the food was served, and they started to eat. The little boy was puzzled. He had been trained to say grace at the table. With his boyish frankness he asked, "Don't you say a prayer before you eat?"

The host was uncomfortable, and mumbled, "No, we don't take time for that."

The boy was quiet for a moment, then said, "You're just like my dog—start right in eatin'."

BULK MILK TANKS PAY FOR THEMSELVES

The dairyman who invests in a bulk milk tank can expect the tank to pay for itself in five years.

This fact was shown in a study at the Oaklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station. In a study of 50 Grade A producers economists concluded that added returns were greater than added costs for most dairymen who bought bulk tanks.

The farms studied shipped from a low of 78,816 to a high of 840,916 pounds of milk annually. Cost of the tank averaged $1,963 for smaller producers, and $3,248 for large volume producers. Total cost of cooling milk was about 26c per 100 pounds for the 100-gallon tank, and only 9c per 100 pounds in the 1,000 gallon tank. Based on the size of tanks found in this survey, the cost of cooling per 100 pounds declined about 6 per cent for each 10 per cent increase in tank size.

Added returns from the tank averaged 27.7 cents per 100 pounds of milk. This was composed of a 10 cents premium for bulk milk, 16c decrease in hauling charges, and a 1.7 cents increase in returns from avoiding milk losses.

It is evident that the economies of installing bulk milk tanks will be determined by premium paid for the milk, decreases in hauling charges, and reduced milk loss.

New Regulations Govern Injectable Antibiotics For Milk Producers

Antibiotics and other drugs cannot be sold for treating milk-producing animals if residues can be found in the milk more than 96 hours after treatment, or if the time needed for the drug to disappear from the milk has not been determined.

This constitutes the heart of the new regulations just published by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. These regulations, which aim to prevent antibiotic and other drug residues in milk, become effective on November 29, 1960.

The regulations apply whether you treat for foot-rot or mastitis, or administer as an injection or udder infusion. In fact, they apply to all drugs no matter how they are used or for what.

The new regulations also call for label statements on drugs telling farmers that they are required to discard milk for 96 hours after dosage, or whatever shorter period is enough to free the milk from the drug. A previous regulation requires similar labeling for udder infusion antibiotics and drugs. The new rulings were made necessary by recent research findings indicating the use of injectable antibiotics and certain other drugs and dosage forms, as well as the udder infusion products, contaminated the milk of treated animals.

WHAT ABOUT HIGH MOISTURE CORN SILAGE?

Been hearing a lot of pros and cons about high moisture corn silage?

Before going overboard on any new practice, it is a good idea to review experiment station findings.

For instance, researchers at the University of Wisconsin say that high moisture ear or shelled corn has some drawbacks. First, ears should contain less than 35 to 40 per cent moisture. Also, they should be chopped or ground fine. If shelled corn is used, the moisture level must be 30 percent or less to permit shelling.

Whichever method is used, it is necessary to store the corn in a silo that is absolutely clean and airtight. Wisconsin tests indicate it is probably a mistake to plant late maturity corn with a goal of higher yields and then make ear or grain silage. Not only may the total yield be reduced, but too much moisture means poor silage and may cause silo damage because of heavy drainage.

The scientists say the best way to solve the soft corn problem is to plant varieties slated to mature before frost.

Dairymen who insist on operating their own experiment stations must be prepared to pay the cost of unsuccessful work. Limited observation of so-called high moisture ear corn in Virginia indicates that moisture has been too high to produce a good feed. On the basis of available data, we cannot recommend making high moisture ear corn silage in conventional silo.

LATE FALL CUTTING OF ALFALFA QUESTION RAISED BY FARMERS

Whether or not to cut alfalfa late in the growing season is a perennial question among Princess Anne County farmers.

The greatest injury to the alfalfa results when it is cut at about the time of the average date for the first killing frost.

The decision as to whether or not to cut should be based on the present need for hay versus the future benefit of a high-yielding, stronger, and longer-lived stand. Permitting alfalfa to store food reserves in the fall is especially important when the alfalfa is to be left in the field for three years or more.

Cutting alfalfa later than three to four weeks before the average date of the first killing frost does not allow time for maximum food storage before growth is stopped by cold weather. Cutting at this time will result in weaker stands, reduced yields the following year, and less resistance to winter injury.

Since alfalfa will withstand a fairly severe frost, some growth will usually be made up to two weeks to a month after the average date of the first killing frost in the fall.

Grazing a part of the last growth stops in the fall will not hurt the alfalfa. It is best to let the dead alfalfa dry out slighty before grazing. And it is desirabe to leave some growth as a mulch to protect the crowns.

PHENOTHIAZINE STILL BEST FOR TREATING SHEEP PARASITES

Phenothiazine is still the most effective control for internal parasites of sheep. Research is being done with organic phosphate worming agents, but they are still in the experimental stage.

Phenothiazine, when used properly, will do an extremely good job in controlling internal parasites of sheep. Where complaints have been received, the trouble, in most cases, has been due to improper use of the drug.

Sheepmen should feed phenothiazine both as a drench and in the salt put before the sheep. Sheep should be drenched a minimum of four times a year, and even more often if needed. At VPI in the summer months sheep are drenched at least once a month.

Using a standard mixture, drench in the late fall, early spring, late spring, and in the summer as needed. Some common errors to avoid are listed by the veterinarian.

Insufficient dosage due to improper mixing, or because the dosing gun is not delivering a proper charge. It is helpful to check the gun by using water and a household measuring cup.

Incorrect storage of phenothiazine will cause quality to vary. If it is not kept in an air-tight container, it will oxidize. When this happens, the material becomes dark green in color and the condition is easy to spot. This is true of the liquid drench preparation and also of the dry material mixed with salt.

Oxidized phenothiazine should not be used; it should be discarded. Mark a line on the bottle after dosing. When you come to use it again and find the level is lowered, it means loss of water and damage to the material, so discard it.

Not dosing often enough is another common error. Animals just dosed should be put on "clean" pasture, that is, one left vacant for three or four months.

When using phenothiazine in salt for sheep, it is recommended that only enough for three or four days be mixed at one time. It should be fed in covered boxes, and should be changed if rained on.

Proper dosing of sheep with phenothiazine has not harmful effect on the animals. From the economic point of view, sheep will be lost in internal parasites are not controlled. Not only do some sheep die, but quality is lowered and lambs fail to gain properly.

Drainage Program Of District First Organized In 1946

By: Aubrey N. Holmes, Technician
Soil Conservation Service

The drainage problem under the supervision of the Virginia Dare Soil Conservation District was started in September 1946 when the first Group Drainage Project was organized by Aubrey N. Holmes. Five farmers, V. Alfred Etheridge, Willard L. White, G. C. Clark, L. R. Widgeon and Jack W. McClanan participated in this project. Two and one-half miles of open canals were constructed by this first group organised to solve their drainage problem. This was among the first, if not the first group drainage project constructed in Virginia under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service. This initial project was just an eye opener for the one thing needed most by Princess Anne farmers to make their farms more productive.

There have been 160 Group Drainage Projects completed under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service Technician since the initial 1946 project. These projects called for the construction of 181 miles of open ditch drainage canals and the excavation of 492,378 cubic yards. These canals, which lead the surplus water to the lower areas, have benefited 117,972 acres.

Smaller lateral ditches carry the surplus waters to these main canals. Such ditches are spaced within the farm at a distance of approximately 160 to 210 feet apart. This has called for the improvement of old ditches or the construction of 1503 miles of laterals or feeder ditches requiring the removal of 9,178,502 cubic yds. of material.

One would think this volume of completed work would have the drainage problems conquered for our county farmers, but this is not the case as there remain many acres of farm land on which the drainage is not adequate.

The Soil Conservation Service is assigned the responsibility to administer the construction of all permanent practices authorized by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. This includes open ditch drainage. The year 1960 has been a busy one as 143 of our farmers requested A.C.P. assistance with their drainage. Work has been completed on 106 of these farms. The remainder will be completed after the harvest of the corn and soy bean crops.

Assistance was also requested this year from the A.S.C. for five group drainage canals. Mr. Guy M. Salmons was agent for 18 farmers on one of these group jobs in the Creeds area. Clyde Freeman headed up another of these projects involving 13 farmers in the vicinity of Creeds. Albert S. Twiford represented six farmers on a project near Creeds. James Bright was agent for eight farmers on a project near Munden. Isaac Gould was agent for a project recently completed for 18 farmers along the Holland Swamp Road.

The Soil Conservation Service Technician is now assisting 102 landowners and the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors with the Salem Community Drainage Project. This work calls for the construction of 7½ miles of main canals that vary from 15 to 25 feet in width. These canals will outlet into County Creek near North Landing Bridge. When completed (around 15th December) these canals will take care of the drainage of approximately 250 acres of Bellamy Manor and the areas South between the five-mile stretch (Hwy. 165) and the Indian River Road extended below Stumpy Lake. The Highway Department will replace culverts with bridges where these canals cross Highway 605 (this bridge already completed) and Highway 603. This drainage area extends as far as Everett Sawyer's farm. Approximately 6491 acres will benefit from these canals.

A bridge is now under construction on Highway 629 (Sandbridge Road) where the canal constructed last year by the County Board of Supervisors and landowners within that area crosses the highway. This canal which starts at the head of North Bay extends to the north a distance of two miles where it intersects a small partially blocked ditch that outlets from the south of Salt Pond (Lake Tecumseh).

The sign up period for ditching for the 1961 A.S.C. program will be for two weeks starting on Oct. 17. Hurricane Donna made many of our farmers realize that their present drainage system is not adequate to give the desired drainage. So it appears that a large number will sign up for the 1961 drainage program.

In 1950, sericea lespedeza was seeded on the bank slopes of one of the large drainage canals to determine its value in the prevention of bank washing. The result the first year was not too good, but the sericeare seeded itself the second year to give a very dense growth. Since this time the Soil Conservation Service seeded all of the banks on the large canals constructed. The Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries has been most coopertive in making these seed available.

ACP Program Beneficial To County Farmers

The Agricultural Conservation Program has been of tremendous benefit to farmers in Princess Anne County the last several years. For instance, this year there are 225 farms enrolled in the program. The farmers involved are receiving federal cost-shares for planting crimson clover, rye, oats, barley and ryegrass for cover crops; for seeding land to permanent vegetative cover; for constructing irrigation and grassland protection farms; for planting pine seedlings; and for doing open ditch drainage projects.

So far this year, the government has paid $22,836,000 to county farmers for conservation practices completed. More projects will be done through December of this year, for approximately $7,000.00 more in cost-shares. The government pays approximately 50% of the cost of conservation practices carried out in cooperation with the ASC office. All practices must be approved and money appropriated before they are performed.

By DAN HALLIGAN

(Ed. note: Dan Halligan will be glad to answer questions submitted by teen agers and children. Send them to him at Box 120, Williston, N. D. For personal replies, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Dear Dan: I baby-sit at least twice and sometimes as much as four evenings a week. Besides that, I help Mom with the housework every Saturday and do the dishes every night. I also keep my own room picked up, do my own laundry and iron my own clothes.

Now, Daddy tells me he's gotten me a job as a waitress for six nights a week. I would work from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

How can he expect me to do that and still keep up with my studies? I'm not the smartest girl in the world and have to study even harder than most kids. If I don't keep studying, I won't graduate in June. I've tried to tell my father I can't hold down that job and still continue my schooling but he says I'm just lazy. He should know about lazy people because he only works when he feels like it and that's not very often.

My mother agrees with me but can't say anything to Dad because he's the boss at home. Is there anything you can tell me to do? I know if I don't graduate, I'll be made to quit school and go to work full time. Please help me if you can.—Not Lazy.

Dear Not Lazy: Your father must be a real gem if you do as much as you say and he still considers you lazy. I agree that you can't keep your studies up and work six nights a week. This may not be completely honest but after working a few days in this restaurant, you could explain your situation to the owner and ask him to fire you. He can tell your father you just weren't cut out to be a waitress if he wants to. Besides, some woman with a family to help support would probably appreciate the job more than you and it would do her a lot more good. Earning extra money is fine but there should be a limit.

Dear Dan: I'm considered the odd ball in the group of guys I run around with because I don't go steady. I know I could go steady with three or four girls if I wanted to but I don't. I have more fun the way I am.

My friends say I'm missing a lot but I don't agree. What do you think about this?—Charley.

Dear Charley: There are good and bad features to going steady as well as to playing the field. No teen-ager, of course, should go steady just to say he has a girl or she has a boy friend. Neither should you go steady because your friends are. Going steady is a serious business, sometimes a lot more serious than many teenagers realize, and I never advise that type of dating for a student unless he's a senior, really likes the girl and she likes him just as much. The girl should also be a senior and not less than a junior.

Dear Dan: A boy I've been writing to for the past three months is coming home on leave from the Army at Christmas. He's a nice guy but is strictly a friend. However, I'm afraid he may get the idea I should keep every evening free for him while he's here and I don't want to do that. I'm not going steady with anyone but I do have my friends and activities to keep up with and don't want to be tied down for two weeks.

Is there any nice way I can tell this boy how I feel without making him feel like I'm stabbing him in the back?—W.D.T.

Dear W.D.T.: You may be worrying needlessly and this soldier friend may be just that—a friend who enjoys your letters. However, to save yourselves embarrassment you might mention in your next letter that even though you will be very busy over the holidays, you hope he drops by to see you once or twice while he's home.

This little hint should set him straight and at the same time not hurt his feelings too much. I know you're worrying about 14 dates in as many evenings with this boy but you may be taking too much for granted.

Bayshore Garden Club Hears Talk on "Della Robbia Wreaths"

"Della Robbia Wreaths", how they originated and how they are made by Americans, were discussed by Mrs. H. O. Freeman of Thalia at the monthly meeting of the Bay Shore Garden Club of Virginia Beach. The group met at the home of Mrs. Sam Hakim Wednesday morning, October 26th, with Mrs. William Blake assisting.

According to Mrs. Freeman, Luca Della Robbia, a sculptor, lived in Florence, Italy from 1400 to 1482 and made the first arrangements of fruits called the Della Robbia wreaths that are now used for Christmas decorations.

Following the program, Mrs. Dennis Boykin, the president, presided at the business meeting, at which Mrs. George Hawes was introduced as a new member. Ribbons for arrangements were won by Mrs. [illegible] Burton, blue, and Mrs. [illegible] [illegible]. Mrs. Hakim also received a [illegible] ribbon for a rose specimen.

Mrs. Andrew Hodson, ways and means [illegible], announced that the benefit [illegible] party held at the Cape Colony Club on October 18th was a success. Homemade pies and cakes were served by the members, and table and door prizes were awarded. Virginia Beach merchants donated the door prizes. The club was decorated with a huge array of fall flowers, arranged by Mrs. John Matthews and Mrs. Joy Regal.

This year the club will award five prizes of five dollars each. One will be given for the prettiest mailbox in Bay Colony, one for the most beautiful spot created this year, and the other three will be given to the three winners of the Christmas door decoration contest. Traditional, original and beautiful will be the three categories. All homes to be judged must be ready by Sunday, Dec. 18.

The next meeting of the club will be the annual Christmas House party to be held at the home of Mrs. F. C. Stewner, December 20.

In shore, while automobile registrations in general are down, Renault continues to sell more and more cars.

PRINCESS ANNE HI SCHOOL NEWS

By CAROLYN JENNINGS

Will it be Nixon or Kennedy? As election day nears, the future voters and possibly political leaders of Princess Anne High School make ready for their own big election day. This year two new organizations have begun to evolve from the "Mock Elections", they are The Teenage Republicans and Teenage Democrats of Princess Anne High School. These clubs are in the assembling stage, however, the support for both political associations has been great.

In the senior government classes, debates and campaigning has swung into full force. The issues have been discussed and argued to great length, finally resulting in strengthening and confirming the beliefs of each member of the respective high school political parties.

The school has been divided into "precincts" which will be the voting districts for the entire student body. Each student's precinct will be determined by the location of his homeroom. The voting stations will be handeled by selected students.

As the casting of the play "The Curious Savage" continues, apprehension mounts as students anxiously await the final results of next week. There were approximately fourty people applying for positions in the play or on the various staffs assisting the production. Several teachers are judging the pupils.

The annual Powder Puff game scheduled for last Friday was postponed due to the adversity of the weather. It has been rescheduled for tomorrow, when the mighty seniors will meet the hopeful junior team. The P.A. High School girls have grown just a little wiser in the ways of football due to their practice and study of a prolonged length.

If ten boys have appeared a little "unusual" in their gestures while standing in front of the school after classes, there is no real need for concern, they are merely practicing for their positions as "cheerleaders", in this turn-about game.

Suffolk fell to the mighty blows of the Cavaliers in a defeated score of 13-0. This is the fourth consecutive win of the Princess Anne team. As the season nears its end, the Cavaliers can see nothing but victories for the remainder of the season.

Each week the team has been cheered on vigorously by the spirited Cavaliers and the never tiring P.A. cheerleaders. The cheerleaders, Laura Lee Meyerhoffer, Mary Bair, Lee Mansfield, Sandy Valentine, Grace Marie Bamforth, Mary Lou Sachs, Lou Spangler, Raquel Wise, and Sherry Breon, have been faithful spirit boosters during the entire season. Cheering the team and crowd through the lowpoints and forcing high spirits to soar during the gay streak of wins.

Tomorrow night Cradock will be host to the Cavaliers, who will be "playing hard" for their fifth consecutive win of the 1960 season.

In the area of classroom activity, the Biology classes have been assigned essays, from which will be chosen the best of the school's papers to be entered in the state competition sponsored by the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries and The Izaak Walton League of America. This means that the large majority of the sophomore class, scattered with a few freshmen and upperclassmen, will be searching for information on the subject, "How Wildlife Conservation Needs Can Be Met In My Community."

Those finalists from the school have an opportunity to win one of the total $2,400 in prizes that is being offered for the outstanding essays. They will be judged on the basis of originality, effort, grammar, expression and grasp of the subject and over-all quality of the paper. One high school senior will be awarded a $400 scholarship.

After a few weeks of preparation, campaigning and voting, the Junior Class has elected its officers for the year. The elections took place after an assembly in which the candidates of office voiced their various opinions and intentions if elected. The final results being: President for the new school term, Grace Marie Bamforth. Grace is also a varsity cheerleader and Junior Co-editor of the Peerage staff. In addition, she is representative to the Student Cooperative Association from her homeroom. Vice President is Marlene Armour. The secretary is Judy Brim, and Treasurere is Pat Plevyak.

This group of officers are teamed with ability, and a sense of responsibility, a combination which should prove to be quite helpful to the Junior Class this year. The officers have been looking into the possibility of getting Senior rings at the end of their Junior year rather than having to wait until the beginning of the senior year to get class rings. This plan is only in the first stage of possible acceptance and has not been decided upon as yet.

The Princess Anne "Page", PA's newspaper, has reached with the last issue, a new high for both circulation and advertisement that has not been attained in quite a few years. The paper that was once a failure has come out of its recession and is now growing in a large proportion. The staff of the "Page", under the direction of Mr. Boyd Harrier, is quite worthy of praise and the support which the student body has offered it. The various editors, Melody Hubbard, Linda Taylor, Carolyn Jennings, and Joe Ben Overfelt, attribute the success of the paper to the new series of feature articles, sports reviews and inclusiveness of the paper.

The girl's Athletic Association has slated for this year a series of activities which will travel well into the spring. Members of the club have been selling red and white miniature megaphones at the Friday night games and during school in order to make money for club activities. Discussion concerning the purchase of a trophy to be awarded to the outstanding class annually, in girl's athletics, has taken place. A system of competitive activities will be devised should the plans be approved by the administration. Pat Marr, club reporter stated: "Our plan is to interest girls in sports and promote the inter-class competition sponsored by the G.A.A."

The girl athletes are also planning a field trip to one of the William and Mary events, a date has not as yet been decided.

The Seniors have been posing and "smiling pretty" for about a week and a half now. The annual staff has set up the picture appointments, which have been continuous for the last week. McIntosh Studios is taking the pictures this year. They are being taken in a designated place at Princess Anne. The underclassmen pictures have been taken previously.

In all, as the year moves along, the Peerage staff under the direction of co-editors Laura Lee Meyerhoffer and Eddie Taylor, has been working busily and continuously in order to present to the Princess Anne High School student body, ". . . The best Peerage ever!", according to one staff member.

Coronet Tri-Hi-Y held an "Application Tea" last Sunday for all girl's interested in applying for membership in the organization. Carole Lindsay, president of Coronet, explained: "There are so many girl's applying that would possibly be good workers, and since we do not know many of the applicants and have a limited number of possible acceptances, I feel that in this way we could get to know the girl's just a little better and make a better decision." This is a plan which more and more Princess Anne clubs seem to be adopting.

News for Veterans

Some of the questions veterans are asking on the new pension law, and the answers:

Q. What are the disability requirements?

A. There is no change from the old law. The veteran must be so permanently disabled that he is unable to follow substantially gainful employment. The percentage of disability required varies with the age of the veteran.

Q. Does a veteran have to report his wife's income as his own for pension purposes?

A. Yes, all above $1200 if available to the veteran, which usually means if the veteran and his wife are not separated. Exceptions are allowed in cases of extreme hardship.

Q. What are the service requirements?

A. A minimum of 90 days part of which was in wartime, unless sooner discharged for a disability incurred in line of duty. The discharge must also have been under other than dishonorable conditions.

Q. What is the definition of a widow for pension purposes?

A. Her legal marriage to the veteran must have lasted 5 years, or for any length of time if a child was born of the marriage. Marriage to a World War II veteran before January 1, 1957 and to a Korean veteran prior to February 1, 1965 are satisfactory. In certain cases, a woman who married a veteran without knowing that a legal impediment existed to the marriage may be eligible for a pension.

Q. Is the pension reduced when in a VA hospital?

A. The new pension law provides that any veteran hospitalized by the VA or in a VA home will have his pension reduced to $30 after 2 full calendar months of such hospitalization or maintenance. The amount over $30 will not ever be paid to him, but the amount over the $30 may be paid to his wife or children.

Sweet Potato Biscuits

Piping hot Sweet Potato Biscuits make dinner a special occasion. The menu includes broiled ham slice, spiced crab apples and lima beans.

Sweet Potato Biscuits promise a new flavor treat. With appealing taste and golden color, mashed sweet potatoes spiced with nutmeg are an exciting addition to biscuits.

Try Sweet Potato Biscuits for dinner soon. Spread with butter or margarine, they're good flavor companions for meat. Use enriched self-rising flour to make these biscuits—and for all your baking. You'll save time because baking powder and salt have been added to the flour at the mill.

In addition to saving you time, enriched self-rising flour plays an important nutritional role by providing three B-vitamins and food iron. These nutrients are so important in your family's diet that nutritionists recommend at least three servings of enriched or whole grain bread or cereals every day.

SWEET POTATO BISCUITS

- 2 cups sifted enriched self-rising flour
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- ¾ cup mashed cooked sweet potatoes
- ⅓ cup sugar
- ½ cup buttermilk or sour milk

Sift together flour and nutmeg. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Mix sweet potatoes, sugar and buttermilk or sour milk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring until flour is moistened. (This will make a sticky dough.) Turn out on well floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently about 30 seconds. Roll out ½ inch thick. Cut with floured biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450°F.) about 13 minutes. Makes about 12 2½ inch biscuits.

In the Fall of the year you will out-do your neighbors in the dessert line by using Sweet Potatoes, or Yams as they are often called, as well as making those Sweet Potato Biscuits.

Yams not only add excellent flavor to cake and pie mixes, they increase the Vitamin A content and nutrients value of these desserts.

VIRGINIA BEACH HI SCHOOL NEWS

SCA Assembly

The recent S.C.A. Assembly was directed towards a major issue in American life, the presidential campaign. A panel of four students discussed various planks of the platforms of the two primary parties. The Republicans were represented by John Claudy and Bill Rapp. David Jones and Bruce Fitzgerald spoke for the Democrats. The chairman, Mike Breathewait, directed questions on main issues to both sides and kept the debate in order.

After the program, the school held a mock election. After the final count Kennedy held a slight edge over Nixon.

BITS AND TID BITS

The first project of the Junior Class, the Halloween Carnival, was held Monday, October 31. It was very successful. They had worked hard decorating the gym. The spookhouse and cake walk were main attractions of the carnival.

Even though it rained Friday, there were many happy faces in the grandstand. Both teams played well defensively. The final score was 0-0.

The Y Teen Club recently held a new member's tea.

Beta Club tappings will be held November 4.

The mixed chorus has been chosen from the members of the boys' and girl's choruses.

The Knight's Club is holding jam sessions on Sunday afternoons.

Unfortunately Friday night's rain canceled an elaborate halftime show planned by the band based on various fairy tales.

Moscow's first city telephone directory in six years was published recently and has already sold out for $1.30 (at the tourist exchange rate).

Stock purchases of 1,700,000 A&T share owners have helped provide the financial means for Bell System telephone companies to build and improve their facilities.

Forty years ago, the Theodore N. Vail Memorial Fund was established to honor telephone workers for noteworthy public service.

London Bridge Club Has 11th Birthday Party

The London Bridge Home Demonstration Club held its eleventh birthday meeting on October 27, at the London Bridge Baptist Church Recreation Hall. Mrs. Curtis Reid, president, presided at the meeting.

During the meeting, Mrs. John Claudy, gave a brief report on the history of the club. Throughout the past eleven years, the club has studied many homemaking areas. These areas often included special meetings for additional instruction. Some of those special instruction areas were tailoring and textile painting, and these were meetings held outside the regular club meetings.

In September, 1949, when the London Bridge Home Demonstration Club first organized, seven persons were present with the Home Demonstration Agent. By October of that year, membership had swelled to seventeen women. Now the London Bridge Home Demonstration Club is one of the largest Home Demonstration clubs in this area.

Two of the years that brought chuckles to the attentive audience were 1954 and 1956. In 1954 some of the club members went on diets, and with a true test of will power, became slim and trim. The year 1956 was remembered for the "Soup Meetings." At these meetings each member brought one ingredient for the soup. One never knew how many would be at a meeting or what the other person would bring, said Mrs. Claudy. One meeting, no one brought salt. Consequently, the members, much to their amusement, sipped saltless soup.

Other activities in past years included an appearance on TV during which some of the London Bridge Club members modeled the suits which they had constructed during tailoring classes.

Concluding her report, Mrs. Claudy felt that the fun which the club members had shared in their past years along with the instruction which they had received had been beneficial to all the club members.

A luncheon followed the club meeting. At that time the Club's birthday cake was presented.

Girl Scouts To Observe Birth Date Of Founder

All Princess Anne District Girl Scouts join with girls all over the United States in celebrating the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Juliette Gordon Low, Founder of the Girl Scout movement in this country. October 31, 1960 "Girl Scout Founder's Day" marks the beginning of a two-year celebration ending with the fiftieth anniversary of Girl Scouting on March 12, 1962.

The theme for this purpose is; "Honor the Past—Serve the Future". The colors for these golden years are gold and green.

All Brownie, Intermediate, Senior and adult Scouts will wear the new centennial patch on all uniforms for the next two years. The patch has a Daisy on it, for Daisy was Juliette Gordon Low's nickname for herself.

Dr. James Russell, Dean of Teachers College, Columbia University wrote this in a Tribute to Juliette Low: Mrs. Low was a patriot whose interest lay in development of growing womanhood. An idealist who dreamed dreams that were realized. An executive who knew how to engage others in a service that commanded her whole heart. An American whose sympathies entranced the whole world and whose faith was inspired by peace on earth and good will among men.

Mrs. Paul Doigins is Princess Anne District Chairman serving with her are the following neighborhood chairmen: Mrs. Ruth Holland, Bayside; Mrs. H. H. Borden, Diamond Springs; Mrs. Dot Craig, Kempsville; Mrs. Jean Kaplan, Linkhorn; Mrs. Christian Whitaker, Oceana; Mrs. M. F. Duckworth, Virginia Beach; Mrs. William Spence, Aragona; Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds, Back Bay. Mrs. George Sharp is secretary for the district and Mrs. Marie Lanspery, treasurere. Mrs. Glenn Dill of Viginia Beach is scrap book chairman. Princess Anne District has 99 Girl Scout Troops with 1516 girls and 343 adult scouts.

In a birthday letter written in October 1923 by Juliette Low she said: "To put yourself in another's place requires real imagination, but by so doing each Girl Scout will be able to live among others happily."

Soil Specialists Supplying Data To P.A. Farmers

B. R. Tuthill
Soil Conservation Scientists

Soil information is basic in any Conservation Plan. In Virginia there are hundreds of different soil types, most of them weathered from rocks and still in the place they were formed. In the Tidewater area, the soils are all transported and deposited by the ocean.

The soils in Tidewater vary from loose sands near the beaches that won't hold enough water to support plant growth to heavy waterlogged clays. There are also large areas of black soils extremely high in organic matter. In the Dismal swamp there are large deposits of peat which is pure undecomposed organic matter consisting of brown portions of stems and leaves from vegetation that has grown and fallen through the ages.

The Extension Service sponsored 4-H Clubs, in an attempt to teach these soil differences and their signifigance to young people, have conducted Land Appreciation Contests with the assistance of the local Soil Conservation Service Technicians. The boys are shown soils to a depth of 4 feet in road cuts, dug pits, or new ditch banks. They feel the soil and observe the different characteristics and then make recommendations to conserve the soil and water and to maintain and improve its productivity. They are graded according to the following score card. The winners then participate in regional and eventually Statewide contests and these soil characteristics have the same signifigance whereever found.

C&P DIRECTORS APPROVE EXPENDITURE

The Board of Directors of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at its regular monthly meeting on October 28, authorized an expenditure of $1,327,000 for the improvement and expansion of telephone service in its operation area.

Included in this months' appropriation is $44,700 for an outside plant project in the Virginia Beach exchange. Cable will be placed north of the central office along Pacific Avenue and Atlantic Avenue to care for future telephone growth in the area.

Specific allocations by the C&P Board for the various districts are as follows: Culpeper — $169,400; Lynchburg — $139.00; Newport News—$99,300; Norfolk — $69,200; Richmond — $48,700; Roanoke — $280,000 and the Virginia area suburban to Washington—$409,100.

Both Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County gave Downing a substantial majority of his Republican foe. The two city precints had an unofficial vote total of 1,696 for Downing and 334 for May.

The combined totals for the city and county showed Downing with 6,749 votes to 1,219 for May.

The winning candidate Downing also ran well on the Peninsula where he piled up big majorities in Newport News and Hampton.

Senator Robertson won handily throughout the State and will return to the United States Senate in January to begin a new six-year term.

LOCAL RESULTS FOLLOW NATIONAL OUTCOME

Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County joined other parts of the nation Tuesday in electing Democrat Senator John F. Kennedy the next President of the United States in one of the closest presidential election in terms of the popular vote in history.

The election was so close that it was not until 7:19 a.m. Wednesday that a major television network announced that Senator Kennedy had enough electoral votes to assure his victory over Vice-president Richard M. Nixon.

Of 21 precincts in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County Kennedy captured 18 with Nixon taking the lead in only three. Nixon led in Precinct Two in Virginia Beach and at the Cape Henry and Linkhorn Park precincts in the county.

In Virginia Beach President-elect Kennedy won over his Republican rival, 940 votes to 516 at precinct one and Nixon led by 470 votes to 361 in precinct two.

The unofficial totals for the Princess Anne County precincts gave Kennedy 5,954 votes to 4,845 for Nixon. In the precincts that Nixon won in the city and county he had a wide margin over the man the rest of the nation and the rest of the city and county favored to be the next president.

While Kennedy and other Democratic candidates were winning in the first and second districts of Virginia, the state, as a whole, once again went into the Republican column in the national picture.

The Virginia Beach vote read like this:

Precinct One — Kennedy 940, Nixon, 516; Precinct Two — Kennedy 361; Nixon, 470.

Princess Anne Garden Club

The Princess Anne Garden Club will meet Monday, November 14th at 2:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. Davis Reed, Jr., London Bridge. Slides of Historic Garden Week In Virginia, will be shown.

Beach Hi Accredited by Two Educational Groups

Virginia Beach High School is accredited by the Virginia State Department of Education and also by the Southern Assn. of Secondary Schools and Colleges, which is the highest accreditation a high school may receive. The graduates of the school who have taken their work seriously have been admitted to the colleges of their choice because they have scored well on College Board and National Merit Scholarship test. It is not accidental that the students who make A's and B's are the ones who score the highest on these tests, as there is exceedingly high correlation between the two.

Reports coming back from college freshmen, who have studied at Virginia Beach High School are most gratifying to the school administrators and teachers. Among those who were exempted from Freshman English on the basis of preliminary tests are Ruth Johnson, at East Carolina College, Douglas Pugh at the University of Arizona, Herbert Blum at Cornell and Beverly Kennett at Lake Erie, Ohio. Herbert Blum and Beverly Kennett were exempted on Freshman Mathematics. Claudia Tucker at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg was exempted on Freshman French.

Martha Bell at Adams State College, Colorado was offered exemption in Freshman Mech. Drawing, while Andrew Hobson (at Coast Guard Academy) is doing special advanced assignments in Mech. Drawing.

Graduation from a high school approved by the State Department of Education and accredited by the Southern Assn. is no longer an open sesame to any college. As long as high schools were selective and culled their rolls of reluctant and stupid students, colleges could expect a relative uniformity of products from them. Obviously when the patrons required by law that the public schools become non-selective in admission and compulsory in attendance, membership in accrediting agencies for them, was no longer a selective factor in screening for college admission. Local school officials as well as patrons who once wished for Southern Association approval so that graduates would be accepted unconditional by the college, have sometimes found it difficult to adjust to the present situation. Practically all colleges now have selective admission policies and are now screening al applicants by tests, regardless of whether they come from a regional accredited high school.

It is true that public colleges will admit all graduates of public high schools into some sort of college program as long as there is room in the colleges. However, unless support for public colleges keep pace with entrance demands, many who will apply will be denied entrance regardless of the rating of their preparatory school. Competion in the academic market place will become rife, and the opportunities of higher education will be available to those freshmen who seem to be able and willing to profit from it.

Over 60% of the graduates of Virginia Beach High School entered college this fall, and first reports on their work are most favorable. The local school authorities will keep a close watch on their progress because they have learned that one of the best ways to judge a good high school is by the calibre of work its graduates do in college.

Restaurant Opening at P.A. Plaza to Feature Pizza

Since 1958 the people in and around Norfolk have eaten hundreds of thousands of pizzas. In that year Mr. Fred Chinchello, pictured above, helped introduce this Italian delight to the people of Norfolk. This pizza pioneer started the restaurant that bears his name, Freddy's, on the corner of Little Creed Road and Chesapeake St. Since that time the local citizens have made this one of the most popular eating establishments in the area.

Chinchello started with an old building, and the ingredients for this now famous Italian work of art, the pizza. The popularity of the pizza increased and so did Freddy's. The restaurant has been remodeled three times since opening and now contains a lounge, large dining room, oyster and clam bar and abundant parking area. The latest addition consists of a drive-in service to accomodate forty vehicles. To keep pace with the demand, Freddy's now boasts an electronic oven capable of turning out 240 pizzas an hour. This piece of kitchen equipment, called the "Pizzarena" measures 18 feet in length and the time required for the finished product is only 5½ minutes. The assembly line conveyor handles up to 18 at a time.

With years of experience back of him, Chinchello and his two partners, Thomas Lipoli and Gus Riganto are now extending their operations to Princess Anne County. Located at Princess Anne Plaza, the new Freddy's Pizzeria will offer the same high quality food and service as that of the Little Creek Road establishment. This new restaurant will specialize in all types of Italian foods. Pizzas in three sizes and twenty-one varieties will be offered. In addition, charcoal broiled steaks and stuffed shrimp will be featured.

The restaurant contains the latest in equipment and will seat well over 100 persons. Booths are provided for dining enjoyment along with a curved bar that extends half the distance of the room. The decor is modern with special lighting arrangements to create an atmosphere of pleasant dining for the patrons.

Freddy's will be managed by a long time resident of the area, Mr. Gus Riganto. The establishment will be located to the new 40-lane Plaza Bowl, which will open in the first part of December. Riganto states that he will have a specialty for the teenagers in the form of a five-inch pizza to be served only in the bowling alley.

The man who made Pizza popular in Norfolk will now offer the same specialties to the residents of Princess Anne County. Chinchello, along with other merchants, realize the need for locations in the county due to the trend in suburban living. Princess Anne Plaza, Virginia's largest community development, will house many such enterprises and construction will start in the very near future on the ultra modern shopping center. This center will have both national and local tenants and the completed project will contain approximately 250,000 sq. ft. of space to be occupied by the various concerns. Part of the center has been completed and is now occupied by various trades and professions. With the opening of Freddy's and the Bowling Alley this section will be complete. Good food served in pleasant surroundings is essential in the restaurant business. The new Freddy's located in Princess Anne Plaza will offer this to its patrons. Formal opening is scheduled on or about November 10th.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Post Campaign Reflections

The great campaign and the 1960 presidential election is now history and is a time for reflection on some of the utterances and happenings of this historic and close election.

There was vigorous campaigning throughout the country and certainly this was true in the Commonwealth of Virginia. Both Democrats and Republicans worked hard for their respective parties.

A charge that came out in the campaign critical of Virginia's Governor Almond from the Republican camp that he should not campaign when he should be devoting his time to the office of Governor was foolish.

The absurdity of such charges are obvious. In almost all such campaigns the political leaders are active. It is only right and natural that they should be active since they represent the people and were elected as representatives of one or the other of the major political parties.

President Eisenhower took an active part in the presidential election and made campaign speeches in several key cities. No criticism was voiced from any official quarter and we believe rightly so.

Right here in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County two active and popular members of the State's Young Democratic Clubs organization took part in the campaign. We refer to Joe T. Crosswhite, Jr., a county official, and E. A. "Sonny" Culverhouse, a member of the city commissioner of revenue staff. Both of these young men worked hard and traveled the state for the Democratic candidates.

In the case of Crosswhite and Culverhouse, both used their vacation time to work in the campaign. This fact speaks well for two young men, both of whom have been recognized by being elected to state offices in the Young Democratic Clubs. Crosswhite is president of the group and Culverhouse is secretary. They demonstrated a real interest in the political future of this state and nation, particularly to give of their time and to forgo a regular vacation in order to help.

So, the real meaning of all of this is not who campaigned and when, but the fact that so many public officials and others were so interested in the future that they gave of their time and energy in the cause thy believe to be right. We think it was a fine campaign and election.

TEEN SCENE

By Charley Oop

This is old Charley Oop with all the local teenage news.

We have a real fine teenager of the week who is our second freshman to receive this honor.

Some of the bowling leagues at the Thunderbird Bowling Lanes are short of players so if there is anyone interested in bowling call Joe Phelps and sign up.

The Military Junior Assembly will hold its first dance on November 18 from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

TEENAGER OF THE WEEK

This week's Teenager of the Week is Miss Pat Parnell.

Pat was born in North Carolina but has lived in Virginia Beach for four years.

Pat has many honors to her credit. She was eighth grade attendant for the Beach Bowl last year and this year was selected as one of the junior varsity cheerleaders. Pat was also a member of the Pet Club last year.

She is also very intelligent. She was one of the eighth graders to take accelerated subjects.

Pat is 14 years old and lives at Cavalier Park and Lake Shore Dr.

We salute Pat and hope great success comes to her in the future.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The Knight's Boys Club of Virginia Beach will hold their weekly dance at the Community House on Saturday night from 8 p.m. until 12 p.m. The Rhythm Rockers will play. Admission will be 75 cents.

The Thunderbird Bowling Lanes announce that Junior Leagues are being formed for the winter months. Those interested should contact Joe Phelps at the popular recreation center to sign up for the leagues. It's lots of fun and good exercise, too.

Band Members Play at Kennedy Norfolk Rally

Members of the Virginia Beach High School band can tell their grandchildren someday that they played for the 35th president of the United States.

It was on Friday, November 4, 1960, that the local band played at a rally for Senator John F. Kennedy, the president-elect, when he came to Norfolk during the closing days of the campaign.

Sixty-five members of the band under the direction of Dale Browder journeyed to Norfolk's Granby High School athletic field in the early morning on that memorable day.

The bandsmen were sleep-eyed but full of enthusiasm as they left Virginia Beach at 6:45 a.m. The band members were resplendent in their green and gold uniforms, white shirts, black ties and black shoes.

The band played several numbers while the huge crowd waited for Senator Kennedy in the chilly morning air. They played the Star Spangled Banner to open the program.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Sun-News:

I should like to take this opportunity to thank you for the recent help you gave us in publicizing and promoting of the first Annual Ruritan Bowl Game.

The quality of the stories and the frequency and degree of coverage you gave our project were of high order.

We should like to ask you if you would also give a word of thanks to Mr. Bill McKnight for the attention he gave to details involved in getting fullest coverage in time to get the information by deadline.

On behalf of the Ruritan Club—"Many Thanks."

Very truly yours,
Maury Riganto, President

Editor: Sun-News,

In a recent issue I read the "frightful news" that the "Liquor Sale Drop" was causing much concern among our State ABC officials. I hope this concern is not widespread throughout the Old Dominion, for it would be a sad situation to have too many worry about this dilemma.

To make matters worse, our Temperance Committees have limited greatly the size, phraseology, and color of the whiskey ads, which of course adds insult to injury.

My heart bleeds for those who pine and those who shed crocodile tears, for they must be very disturbed, but I really do rejoice with those who are elated over the situation.

I show indications of being very flexible in my philosophy, but I do want to make one parting suggestion: to wit—if we get behind our next assembly in 1962 and advocate a "Whiskey By The Drink" stature, all who rejoice now will really have cause to, for our consumption will drop an extra 20% as it did in Idaho when well regulated lounges were permitted in 1954. What happened in this state is a matter of record, and the very same thing has happened wherever these silly laws were changed.

'Tis easy to understand, for two "weak highballs" at 90 cents each (alcoholic content nearly 2 ounces) is about the price of a pint (16 ounces). Who among us will discard the remaining 14 ounces?

Respectfully submitted,
Henry I. Jaffe.

"MIDNIGHT LACE" AT BEACH THEATRE

Doris Day's performance in "Midnight Lace," the suspense drama in which she stars with Rex Harrison and John Gavin, is a complete change of pace for the famous blonde actress who received her first Academy Award nomination for best actress in the comedy hit, "Pillow Talk." Doris plays a straight dramatic role in "Midnight Lace," which opens Wednesday at the Beach Theatre.

Enacting a highly emotional dramatic role in "Midnight Lace," Doris Day, as the American wife of British financier Rex Harrison, is the target for terror in the most shocking game ever played with a woman's sanity.

A President-Elect Pauses

PRINCESS ANNE HI SCHOOL NEWS

By CAROLYN JENNINGS

The Key Club has been busily working on their various projects for the year. The club plans to make money in order to give a scholarship to some deserving senior. In order to earn this money, the members are going to sell subscriptions to the Virginia Beach Sun-News for a certain percentage of the sales.

When president David Costas stated in an interview concerning the Key Club activities, "We have planned as a money making project, a 'slave sale' . . ," he was entirely serious. David quickly went on to explain that on one Saturday afternoon, designated by the Kiwanis Club, the members will assemble and an auctioneer will auction off Key Club members. They will then become the property of the Kiwanis Club members who buy them for the period of one day, during which time the Key Clubers will work for them. The money from the auction will go to the Key Club scholarship fund.

The honor court of Princess Anne High School, is one of the most respected student divisions of the entire school. It was devised to guide and correct students who violate the honor code. As David Costas explained, "The honor court was founded by the Key Club and we give our full support to it." Not only is David president of the Key Club, he is captain of the band, an honor court judge, and vice president of his homeroom. A very busy student!

The other new officers for this year are Kenny Spitzer, vice-president; Conrad Shumadine, Secretary; Jim Dodson, treasurer.

Each year the Junior classes take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) given in the spring. Five of P.A.'s seniors have qualified for letters of recommendation by the NMSQT to the college of their choice. These students, who took the test last spring are: Evans Cayce, Warren Powell, Conrad Shumadine, Carolyn Stanley, and William Wheeler. These letters often prove instrumental in helping a student gain acceptance in the college which they hope to attend, and the college recognizes the letter as an insurance of outstanding ability on the part of the student.

On November 14 college night will be held at Princess Anne. Some forty or fifty colleges will be represented at the annual function. All students interested in attending college should attend as they will be instructed about the various requirements of college entrance. Literature on the colleges will be present.. College Night will begin at 7:30 and end at 9:30.

Gail Lee Thomson, a junior at Princess Anne High School, was elected both, Miss Flame and Miss Blaze by the U.S. Navy in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week. On October 14, Gail took place in two parades, one on the Naval Air Station, the other in Hampton. In this duel ceremony she received two ribbons and two bouquets of flowers, one of pink orchids and one of red roses.

Representatives to the Student Cooperative Society were chosen recently. Those chosen from the senior class are, Conrad Shumadine, Joe Bornstein, Susan Greenwood, Bob Lusk, Harvey Bennet, Ted Smith, Franny Cox, Robert Walts, Mimi Weaver, Sarah Cummins, Wingfield Hughes, Jim Dodson and Robert Blum.

Those students representing the sophomores are: Johnnie Scarper, James Vaughan, Willard White, Brenda Koon, Opal Taylor, Billie Jean Morris, Sharon Vines, Betsy Sommonds, Mary Ellen Etheridge, Winifred Bell, Steve Comboy, Dickie Hines, Jane Calfree, Carolyn Fithfield, Bill Meador, Judy Roughton, Earl Croft Jr., Claudie Treas, Sandra Hamrick and Vernell Heusel.

Finally, Freshmen representatives: Jeanne Marshall, Charles Carr, Jack Burhart, Don Smith, Betty Jane Martin, Jay Ferguson, Alan Lunin, and Florence McCulley.

Each homeroom has an alternate representative who will attend the meetings in the event of the absence of the regular.

The Princess Anne drill team is one to boast of. Its practices are endless, and the girls faithfully attend the games through rain and cold weather to add their own touch of brightness to the Friday night encounters.

This year, Susan Greenwood is captain of the drill team and co-captain is Pam Cole. Wendy Hopson has the job of combination secretary-treasurer. Many of the Princess Anne students have complimented the work of the drill team and quite a few outside favorable criticisms have been made also.

Patsy Smith and Chuck Ludford were the winning couple of the costume party held on October 22, by the D.E. Club of Princess Anne. The Distributive Education Club held its annual Halloween party in the foyer of the auditorium at Princess Anne. Hi-Fi and refreshments highlighted the night.

The circulation staff of the "Page", boast a sales record of the school newspaper in the last two years. There have been some three thousand copies sold since the paper issued its first two copies, not a bad record. Those on the circulation staff are: Barbara Moore, Clarice Bartel, Darlean Medley, Marie Lansperry, Sue Woltrip, Terry Ballenos, Rae Frasier, Pat Jackson, Jean Marcia, Loretta McIntyre, Judy Martin, Carol Cason, Hope Morris, Linda Gwaltney, Brenda Koon, Florence Reese, Bruce Bright, Carolyn Jennings, and Bonnie Paul. Also, Dawn Rosenblum, Pat Marr, Mary Ellen Rosendahl, LaVerne Casper, Phylis Nelson, Lee Biehm, Diane Lumpkin, and Sharen Noel. The managers are Roger Provo and Opal Taylor.

Midget Grid Games Proving Successful

Coach Harold Copeland's Hornets defeated the Bulldogs of Coach Bill Ortner 8-6 to highlight the midget games played at Virginia Beach High Stadium Saturday morning. Terry Whesdos scooted around right end 45 yds. untouched for the touchdown that looked for a time might be enough for the Bulldogs to win. Jimmy Maher missed the point after touchdown. The Hornets were not to be denied however as they came back in the 4th quarter to tie the score on Tommy Rice's touchdown run of 35 yards off right tackle. Stephen Michaels missed the point after touchdown. The defense of the Hornets proved to be the difference in winning and losing as Will Pugh and Tommy Blouin trapped Whesdos in the end zone for a safety and a two-point margin. Defensive standouts for the Hornets were Ray Ramey, Jeff Edwards, and Cash Dobbs. Coach Ortner singled out Kenny Stephenson, Jimmy Batchular and Buddy Mathews as his defensive stalwarts.

In the second game, the Blue Devils of Coach Al Gregg defeated the Wolfpack 34-0. Charles DePinto led the touchdown parade with runs of 25, 40, 15 yards. Mike Hallock accounted for for 3 p.a.t.'s with Steve Mundy and Charlie Di Pinto scoring one each. Defensively for the Blue Devils Bobby Nixon., Max Wylie and Jan Donahue stood out. Coach John Dennis was high in praise of Moe Wolcott, Zack Clement, and Jimmy Parnell for their defensive play.

In next week's play the Blue Devils will meet the Hornets and the Wolfpack will play the Bulldogs. The games will be played Saturday night and donations will be taken to help defray the expense of the uniforms. Please come out and support the boys.

Book Fair Sale On This Week

During the winter months ahead many boys and girls are not going to complain because they can't go outdoors. While the rain comes down and the chilling winds blow, these happy children will be absorbed in their new books. Curled up in the corner of the sofa, Mary will be climbing in the Swiss Alps with "Heidi;" brother, Paul, lying on the carpet beside her, will be walking beside "Dr. Albert Schweitzer" in the jungles of Africa.

These stay-in hours will be so pleasurably filled because mothers and fathers, and many who love children, are choosing books this week at the fifth Annual Friends School Book Fair.

Today and tomorrow are the last days of the 1960 Book Fair at the Friends' School on Laskin Road. On display, and for order, are 400 carefully chosen new books for the pre-school through early teen-age. The books, including some for every interest, are arranged to the appropriate reading level. One table features the recommended Read Aloud group.

Proceeds from the Book Fair go into the enlargement of the Friends School Library.

CRADOCK TOPS PA, 21-6

Sparked by the running of Eddie House and passing of Larry Weldon, Cradock [illegible] Princess Anne 21-6 last Friday night.

House carried the ball 25 times for the Admirals, gaining 165 yards, 3 touchdowns, and 1 extra point. He now leads in the Eastern District scoring race with 70 points to date.

Weldon, who has thrown 102 completed passes for 1,015 yards, threw only ten last night. The five which he completed gained 117 yards for Cradock.

In the first few minutes of the game Allen Baker intercepted a pass by Richard Miller and carried to Princess Anne's 21. Eddie House carried the ball six times and scored on the final one. Wayne Waff added the extra point. House had a 61-yard touchdown run called back soon after on account of a clipping penalty. The Admirals were able to advance to PA's 13 but couldn't get past the Cavaliers this time.

In the second quarter Cradock scored again to move out in front 14-0. Princess Anne was threatening when time ran out in the half.

The Cavaliers scored six points in the third quarter and moved to the 15 and 21-yard lines of the Admirals before the end of the game, but were unable to score again.

House made his third touchdown of the game for Cradock in the fourth quarter and topped it off by running for the extra point.

PA HARRIERS 2nd IN DISTRICT

Norview and Princess Anne placed 1-2 in the Eastern District Cross Country Meet here last Friday morning, marking the first time since the event was initiated that a Peninsula school did not win the team title. The Pilots just did nip Princess Anne in the team score 43-46. Both teams were well ahead of Newport News which was third with 65.

Jimmy Johnson of Norview, far in front of the rest of the field, set a new meet record of 10:12.6, shattering the old record of 10:26 set by Virgil Meares of Newport News in 1958. George Green fought his way to third place for PA in the time of 10:30. The Cavaliers' first five men placed in the top fifteen to win more individual medals than any other school. The group included George Green, Bill Castle, Ronnie Copeland, Mike Persinger, and Mills Rowe. Doug Hall and Reid Ervin placed 24 and 35 respectively for Princess Anne.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It's hard for grownups to grasp what it means to be a child today!

We grew up yesterday. The planes and radios which had startled our parents were commonplace to us. Television and jets we could take in stride. But Space! Who among us expected to live in a Buck Rogers era?

Yet to our youngsters nothing seems more natural than man's invasion of the universe. Everything that went before was preparation. We are ready to blast off. And the man who will establish our first colony on Mars is probably training for his mission in a sixth grade classroom . . .

Was there ever a time when religious, moral and spiritual development were more essential to our youth? The Truth man will cherish on Earth, and carry with him among the stars, is being taught every Sunday in our churches. Is your child . . . and the home in which he is growing up . . . FIT FOR THE AGE?

Surveying The Land That Is Princess Anne Plaza

John Aragona, nationally known land developer, is shown in a familar pose as he surveys the property still to be developed in the sprawling Princess Anne Plaza residential subdivision on Virginia Beach Boulevard.

In County

John Aragona, Land Developer Deluxe, Termed "Man Of Year"; P.A. Plaza Is Biggest Job

John Aragona, President of John Aragona Enterprises, Inc., is without a doubt the "Man of The Year" in the building industry. This community developer has undertaken the biggest job in his long and varied career. Princess Anne Plaza, located halfway between Norfolk and Virginia Beach, is the realization of a dream by this fabulous man. Into this 96 million dollar endeavor goes years of experience and planning gained through courage and adherance to ideals to create better living conditions. John Aragona is a man of dynamic force and creative ability. He has the unique ability to determine the future needs of a growing population and the persistence to carry forth the plans to satisfy these needs.

A native of Cerenzia, Italy, he was born on January 6, 1906. He is one of seven children—four sons and three daughters—born to his parents. John Aragona was educated in the schools of his native province and in addition learned the cabinet maker's and carpenter's trades. He was seventeen years old when in 1923, he came to the United States. He located first at Long Island, New York and later became a contractor and builder of homes. Not content to confine his efforts to building homes, he turned his talents to the development of subdivisions, carrying on this work in various localities.

During the early part of World War II Mr. Aragona started building homes in defense areas. In 1942 he built Cottage Toll Homes in Norfolk and later moved to Baltimore, Maryland where he erected the Edgewater Apartments and from there he went to Lorain, Ohio building several hundred homes in that area. When the war ended he returned to New York and there he built Argo Village, at Elmont, New York, a propect of some 1600 homes and a shopping center.

In 1952 Mr. Aragona sold his New York interests and returned to Norfolk. His next endeavor in this area consisted of 550 homes in Diamond Springs and later he built Crestwood in Norfolk County. In 1955 he started work on Aragona Village which is located approximately seven miles from the Norfolk business area on Virginia Beach Boulevard. This area consists of 3,000 homes, a shopping center and sewage treatment plant.

In 1960 John Aragona was again on the move. His new venture, Princess Anne Plaza, will surpass anything that he has accomplished so far. Again, this man of vision is transforming the rich farming area of Princess Anne County into a community of better living. When completed, Princess Anne Plaza will become the hub of Princess Anne County. Some 30,000 people will fill the 6,000 homes and 2,000 apartments to be erected. In addition, he plans call for several ultra modern shopping centers, 40 lane bowling alley, several lakes for boating and fishing, riding stable with bridal path and a championship 18-hole golf course. The area will have playgrounds for the children, school sites have been set aside and a 15-acre parcel of land has been dedicated for the new Princess Anne Memorial Hospital. Every type and style of home is offered the prospective buyer and over 30 families have already moved into Mr. Aragona's new community.

In addition to his work, John Aragona is a sportsman and family man. In 1929 he married Virginia Farino, a native of New York City and they are the parents of five children, Mrs. Emil Mohot, whose husband is a builder at the Plaza, Mrs. Larry Sancillo, whose husband's agency, Larasan Realty Corp., is rental agents for Princess Anne Plaza, Joan who attends college at William and Mary and John Jr., and Eugene, both of whom are at Augusta Military Academy.

Mr. Aragona is a civic leader and a liberal contributor to many worthwhile projects in Princess Anne County and the greater Norfolk area. He and his family are members of the Star of the Sea Roman Catholic Church at Virginia Beach. His sports activities include hunting, fishing, boating and golf. He has received national recognition for his work in the building field and has been the subject matter for articles in leading magazines.

This genius of the building industry has meant a great deal to this area of Virginia. Thousands of craftsmen have been employed through his enterprises in the field of community development. The economy of the entire Tidewater area has been given a life due to his ventures in Aragona Village and Princess Anne Plaza. John Aragona is a man who is young at heart and thinks accordingly. He is a great believer in youth and the potential of the young man in business. He has given help and good counsel to many young men who are the present business executives in the area today. He feels that American business wants bright young people who will work hard to achieve their goals. The men who are associated with him in business respect his good judgment. His employees feel a great sense of loyalty and devotion to this man of gentle nature. He is noted for his honesty and fairness in his business dealings. He is a believer in hard work, possesses self-confidence, personal integrity and has a keen undrstanding of human relations. These essentials make him the leader that he is—a man respected by the industry and citizens of the community alike.

Where will John Aragona go in the future? The sky is the limit for this exceptional person. Princess Anne Plaza will take four or five years to complete and by that time a new idea or dream will be on the drawing boards. One thing for sure, he will never fully retire. John Aragona has come a long way from Cerenzia and the $1.50 per work day for his labors. His courage and fortitude have made life a little better for thousands of people. As long as we have men like this, devoted to their work and the welfare of their fellow men, this country will always be the best place in the world in which to live.

Discuss New Crop In County

John Potter, Crop and Beef Cattle farmer, at Oceana, tells friends the value of his new hay crop, red clover. This new hay crop for Princess Anne was first planted in 1958, with the acreage that year of 24 acres. In 1960, more than 250 acres were planted.

Boss—"All right, who scribbled those pictures on the new office wallpaper?"

Clerk—"It was your little boy, sir."

Boss—"Talented, isn't he?"

PRINCESS ANNE FARM BUREAU ENJOYS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Princess Anne County Farm Bureau was held November 2nd, at Princess Anne High School. The following resolutions were read and approved by the membership:

1. Whereas, there has been undue loss of life, major and minor accidents involved, when persons were in contact, or adjacent to supporting ground cables of power line poles,

Now therefore, be it resolved that existing safety regulations be extended to require all ground cables on power poles to have a recognized safety insulator installed.

2. Whereas, it is the responsibility of everyone producing food to produce a pure and safe product,

And, whereas, there are not now facilities available for educational or survey type testing for pesticide or insecticide residues,

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the state of Virginia appropriate the necessary funds for the construction and operation of a State pesticide and insecticide laboratory, and that the operation of this laboratory be under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture.

3. Whereas, the pricing of major agronomic commodities are based on Number 2 grades, and whereas, there are considerable discounts for commodities below grade, and whereas, there are no premiums for commodities above grade,

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the State Department of Agriculture enact a program which will make possible a premium paid for quality above grade.

4. Whereas, a dairyman may lose his license to market milk for many, or any reason, and whereas, he is at the mercy of the degrading agency,

Now, therefore, be it resolved that A Dairy Appeal Board be organized to hear appeal cases of dairymen.

5. Whereas, the Princess Anne County Farm Bureau office will soon move to the Home of the Secretary, and whereas, the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors have provided office space for the Farm Bureau for the past eight (8) years,

YOU CAN HAVE AUTOMATIC FEED GRINDING AND MIXING

I sure wish we could take some of the labor and time of the grinding and feeding grain on our farms. Could this be your farm? If you are in the livestock, dairy, or poultry business, chances are, it is. But, why not stop wishing, and get out your pencil and paper for a little calculation. There are some modern ideas and pieces of equipment that offer tremendous possibilities for saving labor and time in this part of your farm operation.

The first of these devices to consider is a small automatic grinder, mixer, that blends and grinds up to four different materials simultaneously. Now, don't write it off just because I said it was small. I also said it was automatic. By automatic, I mean that it will grind by itself, un-attended without plugging or over-loading, while you do something else. Since it also mixes, you can get a double barrell return.

Sounds nice, but not for you? Maybe, yet you never question the idea of refrigerating or freezing food automatically. Grandma would have laughed at washing clothes automatically. We don't worry about cooling milk, or pumping water automatically, and it is all done with small motors.

It is just that most of us never think of feeding grinding as a small job, let alone, an automatic one, but that doesn't say that it cannot be done. Farmers all over Virginia are proving it can be done. They are doing it with an electric mix mill. This is a simple automatic grain processing system, having the following parts: a two-horsepower electric automatic grinder mixer, elevated batch holding pen, divided into sections for grain and supplement, conveyor to fill batch bin, and a conveyor to handle ground feed.

Let's take a closer look at these and see what is needed for each. The automatic grinder mixer is the heart of the system. It usually gravity fed, or can be augered from the ground up to the mill. Once the grain falls into the mill hopper, it is metered at the correct rate for the ration desired. The ration is changed simply by turning calibated dials. Each material to be ground enters a separate meter. The ground ration falls from the bottom of the mill into a catch chamber, and is ready to feed or store. The mill handles about 1200 pounds per hour of shelled grains and supplement.

We are working now with several farmers regarding this mix mill. I feel that it is something that dairymen and poultry producers alike, can very well use on their farms, to increase their net returns from their efforts.

PRINCESS ANNE FARMERS SAY FALL FERTILIZATION ON SMALLY GRAIN WILL PAY

Someone once wrote a song about "It ain't what you do, it's the way that you do it." This same observation can be more accurately made about the fertilization of small grain.

Princess Anne County farmers have practiced several different methods of fertilizing small grain in recent years. There is always much discussion around the "nail-keg club" about the best way of fertilizing the crop. To help settle this argument, Jennings Furlough, a general farmer of the Blackwater District of the County, agreed to conduct a demonstration showing five different methods of fertilizing wheat. The VPI Agricultural Extension Service was asked to supervise the demonstration.

Each of the 5 plots in the demonstration was 1.79 acres in size. The Atlas 66 variety was planted on November 6, 1969, at the rate of two bushels per acre. A soil test showed that the pH was 5.7 and the phosphate and potash readings were both medium.

All five plots received the same amount of nitrogen and four plots received the same amount of phosphate and potash. The cost of fertilizing each plot, with the exception of the plot receiving nitrogen only, was almost the same. The difference was in the analysis of fertilizer used, and the time it was applied.

Furlough kept an accurate record of the yield from each of these plots, and here are the results of his test:

Plot No. 1 was fertilized at seeding with 330 ponuds of 3-18-18 per acre. It was topdressed with nitrogen in the spring with 48.75 lbs. per acre, and gave a yield of 45.18 bushels per acre. The profits above the cost of fertilization on the 1.79 acres was $111.93.

Plot No. 2 was fertilized at seeding with 550 pounds of 5-10-10 per acre, and received 30.89 pounds of nitrogen as a topdressing. This plot yielded 42.92 bushels per acre, and returns above the cost of fertilizer were $98.13.

Plot No. 3 was fertilized at seeding time with 550 pounds of 10-10-10 per acre, and received no nitrogen topdressing in the spring. The yield was 35.88 bushels per acre, and the plot returned $85.76 above the cost of fertilizer.

Plot No. 4 received no nitrogen at seeding time, but it was topdressed in the spring with 550 lbs. of 10-10-10 per acre. This was exactly opposite from the application in Plot No. 3 This plot yielded 31.9 bushels per acre and returned $71.62 above the cost of fertilizer.

On Plot No. 5, no fertilizer was used at seeding time. In the spring it was topdressed with 58.5 pounds of nitrogen per acre. This plot yielded 34.71 bushels per acre. The plot returned $93.72 above the cost of fertilizer.

Furlough says that if you want to average out the yield and income on the time of fertilization, you might come up with something like this: the plots that were fertilized in the fall, with complete fertilizer, and then topdressed in the spring, averaged 44.05 bushels per acre, 93.5 percent net income in terms of percentage of the highest. The fall — only fertilization yielded 35.88 bushels per acre, with 77 percent of the highest net income return. The crop fertilized by spring fertilization only yielded 33.05 bushels per acre and returned only 73.5 percent of the highest net income.

So Furlough says "It ain't what you do, it's the way that you do it." He has determined which method of fertilization will pay him the highest net return. His cost for each plot was about the same, but the net return had a wide variation. He has found that fall fertilization of wheat pay big dividends, and will soon be able to settle all arguments at the "Nail-keg Club."

A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest truck investment you could bet your business on. CHEVROLET

FAVORED FOR AFTER THE GAME

A mug of milk is the tasty flavor-mate for Broiled Mushroom Cheesewiches. For variety's sake prepare them on rye, whole wheat or your choice of bun.

"Go team go" Every football fan knows these fighting words. And every fan knows the fun of entertaining a crowd with a sandwich snack and milk drink either before or after the game.

Broiled Mushroom Cheesewiches are inexpensive treats and the kind of eating that students as well as alumni enjoy. They're cheesey good to serve at a fraternity or sorority open house, too. Cream of mushroom soup, straight from the can, is combined with shredded Cheddar cheese, a beaten egg and a dash of red pepper sauce if you like your foods bitey. Course the sharper the variety of Cheddar, the more pungent and piquant the sandwich. This mixture is spooned over the untoasted side of bread, is topped with a juicy tomato slice and broiled until the Cheddar bubbles and slightly oozes down the side.

Mugs of well-chilled milk go with these "hot" sandwiches, as do mugs of hot chocolate milk made glomorous and frothy with a floating marshmallow or two. Potato chips or sticks, and fresh fruit to munch out of hand make tasty nibblers. Brownies or sugar-frosted crullers are popular "sweets," if you care to serve dessert.

To save time and work after the game, get ready before. Slice the tomatoes and toast the breads — white, rye, whole wheat, English muffin, hamburger bun, kaiser roll or whatever variety you choose. Make the mixture ahead, too. Then all you need to do is stack, broil and serve.

Broiled Mushroom Cheesewiches

Buttered baking sheet
6 servings
Preheated broiler

1 10½ ounce can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
1½ cups shredded Cheddar cheese
1 egg, slightly beaten
Dash of red pepper sauce (optional)
6 slices bread
6 slices tomato

Combine soup, Cheddar cheese, egg and red pepper sauce until well blended. Toast one side of bread; then spoon cheese-soup mixture over untoasted side. Top with tomato slices and broil about 5 minutes, or until cheese melts and sauce is bubbly.

It was so nice to hear from the American Dairy Association and have the report of "October Cheese Festival." May I call your attention to the grand and glorous array of American made cheese that are always available to you?

Many of the delicious cheeses which migrated to our country still carry their original names, such as Dutch-style Gouda and Edam, Italian-styled Provolone and Parmesan, German Muester. These too, have become the pride of the industry.

Cheddar Cheese is one of America's favorite foods and has been for generations. We've come a long way from the old-fashioned cheese wheel which sat on the counter for everyone to sample.

Now you can levy shredded cheddar cheese—freshly shredded in packages. Each package contains one cup of shredded cheese. I find it so convenient to sprinkle over worm apple pie, mix into a tossed green salad or over chilled pear halves for a delicious salad. Its perfect for macaroni & cheese casseroles, on grilled cheese sandwiches and in cheese sauces.

CHEDDAR CHEESE CUBES

A package of 16 sharp-aged cheese clubs, just the right size for appetizer and dessert trays, is available at your cheese counter today. Colored picks for spearing the cubes are enclosed in each package. For "cheese-on-a-stick," spear a stuffed olive, a cocktail onion and a cube of Cheddar cheese with a pick. It's a fine flavor combination—and so easy to eat.

SUPER SHARP AGED CHEDDAR CHEESE

Those of us who like our cheese "sharp enough to bite back" will enjoy this new super sharp Cheddar. It has been aged for more than a year and is specially selected for the desired flavor and texture. Use Super Sharp Aged Cheddar Cheese in all combinations where the pronounced flavor of the cheese is of first importance.

Here's a recipe for molded cheese salad—and you can prepare it ahead of time and I'm sure it will please many of your after-game guests.

Savory Molded Cheese Salad

2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
2 tablespoons water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tall can evaporated milk (1⅔ cups
1½ cups shredded process American cheese (about 6 oz.)
½ cup mayonnaise-type salad dressing
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup pickle relish
2 tablespoons finely chopped pimiento

Measure vinegar and water into medium size mixing bowl. Sprinkle gelatin over and let stand to soften. Blend mustard and Worcestershire sauce in medium saucepan. Add milk and heat over low heat until hot, but not boiling. Add cheese and continue heating and stirring until cheese is melted and well blended. Pour over softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool, then chill until mixture beings to set, stirring occasionally to keep smooth. Fold in salad dressing and remaining ingredients. Turn into a 5-cup ring mold. Chill until set, about 2 to 3 hours. When ready to serve, unmold and garnish with curly endive or parsley, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

V.B.H.S. Students Attend Democratic Rally

The band struck up a chorus of Dixie and the crowd roared an ovation of "We Want Jack!" We Want Jack!" Many students including those from Virginia Beach High School were among the audience at the Democratic Rally held at Granby High School.

Many of us who had not ridden the buses supplied for the occasion had battled the heavy traffic and stood on the crowded field to view (as loyal Democrats expressed) the next President of the United States.

During the long wait of those who had arrived early to get a good position, the Virginia Beach High School band in rotation with a Dixieland group, played for our entertainment.

Before Senator Kennedy spoke our own Governor Almond gave a stirring speech pledging his loyalty to the Democratic Party and to the Senator.

We, in the crowd waited with quiet anticipation for Sen. Kennedy to begin his address, which was directed mainly toward the so-called Democrats for Nixon.

Mr. Kennedy received a tremendous response from the crowd and those of us for whom it was a first time experience gained new interest in the campaign and new insight of the major issues.

TIDS AND TID BITS

The first Senior over the goal-post for the year was Bob Courain, who scored two touchdowns in the game with Holland.

The Virginia Beach High School band was honored by its selection from local schools to play for the Democratic Rally.

Many V.B. students are joining Junior Bowling Leagues.

Monday, government classes were the scenes for heated debates on party politics and the Presidential nominees.

Senior English students will be starting on regular routes to the Norfolk and William and Mary libraries for work on their term papers.

With Thanksgiving nearing the choruses are practicing hard for their musical programs.

Virginia Beach High School is planning a Powerpuff football game. Senior girls will be pitted against the junior girls in what should be a most enjoyable game to participate in and to watch.

What To Do About Awkwardness

By C. D. Smith

WHOOPS
I CAN'T HELP IT.. I'M AWKWARD

THE WEEK'S LETTER: I am a teenage boy and I have a problem. I am awkward. I always bump into things, spill things, trip over my own feet. My parents, particularly mother, fuss at me all the time about it. But I can't help it. I'm awkward and there isn't anything I can do about it. Or, is there?

OUR ANSWER: Sure there is. Open your eyes. Stop daydreaming and watch where you put your feet. You are probably awkward, it's true. But, worse than that, you are most likely careless. And, because you think you are awkward you have got it in your head that you have to be that way.

Some people, athletes for instance, have perfect coordination. They walk with grace and ease. Some people do have poor coordination, and they may be inclined toward clumsiness—but this does not mean they must go through life bowling things over and stumbling over their own feet.

Teenagers going through the "awkward" stage, just seem bent on charging through life, helter skelter. The problem is that they have a difficult time concentrating on what they are doing, whether it be eating, studying, working, or whatever. They go through the motions, but their thoughts are off somewhere in the wild blue yonder—thinking about a dance, a date, a movie—anything but what they are supposed to be doing at the moment.

For most, of course, it is a stage. But it can be an unpleasant one for the teenager who gets emotionally concerned about it and who fails to realize that no one can do two things at the same time. You can't eat and play at the same time; you can't study and play at the same time.

Learn to concentrate. Unless you are sitting down, relaxed, don't allow your thoughts to wander off somewhere. Think about what you are doing at the moment and remember that it's worth doing right if it is worth doing at all.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

By DAN HALLIGAN

(Ed. Note: Dan Halligan will be glad to answer questions submitted by teen agers and children. Send them to him at Box 120, Williston, N. D. For personal replies, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Dear Dan: My steady and I date each Friday night for our canteen dances and we usually have a lot of fun except for his jealousy. He can't fast dance and doesn't want to learn, because I've offered to teach him several times.

Anyway, I love to fast dance and I always get asked to by different boys during the evening. Well, everytime I accept, my boy friend does a slow burn and for the last three weeks we've ended the evening with a big argument.

I think very highly of my boy friend but he hasn't any right to be jealous just because I don't sit out all the fast dances. We both read your column and would like to hear what you have to say.—Bette.

Dear Bette: Oh, for the joys of going steady. Anyway, girl, you're paying the price for going steady with your boy friend's jealousy and your ruined evenings. I certainly don't think you should sit out every fast dance to please him but you could sit out several of them.

You know, this problem would probably be solved to the satisfaction of both of you if your steady would learn to fast dance and learn right away. Otherwise, the arguments will probably keep up until you have your final one.

Dear Dan: Would it be proper if I went to visit my boy friend at his Army camp some weekend and stayed alone in a hotel nearby? My parents know I wouldn't do anything wrong and can be trusted but they don't think the trip would be proper. Do you?—Annie G.

Dear Annie: Sorry, but this visit would be very improper. If your steady's parents were going to be along, then you would have no worries. If you were several years older, engaged to the boy and your wedding date set, then possibly you could get by without fracturing any rules of good taste. However, considering that you're still in high school or a recent graduate and under the circumstances you described, such a visit would be in poor taste. Sorry.

Dear Dan: There's a girl who sits beside me in study hall and she's driving me crazy. I met her on the street a couple of mornings and gave her a ride to school and now she seems to have the idea I'm her boy friend or something. She's always passing me notes, mostly cute jokes, and usually manages to walk along with me when classes are changing. Yesterday, for example, she just "happened" to be standing near my car when school was dismissed and I was practically forced to give her a ride home.

I don't have a steady girl and don't want one but unless you can tell me what to do, I may wind up with one. Please answer this soon before I find myself engaged. —Worried Senior.

Dear Worried: Funny thing, I never had problems like that when I was in school but I guess some guys have it and some guys don't. As far as the attention you're getting in your study hall, I think if you politely warn the girl the teacher will eventually see her passing notes and may read them aloud, that should stop that practice.

In going to school in the morning, take a different route and you may not meet the girl. Your problem of giving her a life home in the afternoon can be solved if you park your car "around the corner" or beat it out to the parking lot and get gone before she comes out of school. Or, kill some extra time in school and let her leave first.

You may be able to discourage her from latching on to you as classes are changing if you grab hold of a buddy and concentrate all your attention on him.
the girls will hate me for it) but
This seems a little cruel (and there's no sense in this girl having the wrong idea about you and perhaps having her feelings hurt later on.

Dear Dan: I'm a 17-year-old girl and have been going steady with this certain guy for more than a year. He's 20 years old. We've been planning on marriage for quite some time but I told him some months ago I didn't want to start off our marriage with a stack of bills I knew he had, plus the payments on his car. Anyway, I told him to get the bills paid off and then I would consider marriage.

But instead of buckling down and doing this, it seems now all he concentrates on is his car, job sleep and other boys. I hardly see him anymore. When I once asked him why I don't see him much anymore, he said he was always tired and had to get his sleep but I knew he was downtown with his car full of his friends.

I know he loves me as much as I love him but think perhaps he doesn't want to face up to the responsibility of marriage.

I've even dated others recently but that hasn't helped because I find myself always comparing them to him and none has ever measured up to him. I've got a problem but I don't know what the solution is. Do you?—In Love.

Dear In Love: You've got a problem all right but one that time won't take care of. Personally, I don't like to see a girl of 17 or 18 get married and as long as your boy friend is acting as he is, you're better off and should continue dating others. After all, your beau is only 20 and if he still wants to "live a little," it's better that he get it out of his system now. Relax for a while and let time and nature take care of this. I'm sure everything will work out.

Dear Dan: I'm a young man of nearly 21 who has just completed his first enlistment in the Army. I really liked military service and would like to enlist again and maybe even make a career out of it.

All my friends are laughing at me and my parents, especially my father, say I should have more ambition than to just want to go a soldier. The trouble with Dad is that he thinks all you do is peel potatoes and walk guard duty.

There's also my girl to consider. She says if I join up again, I can forget all about her. With all this pressure I'm under I probably won't make a career of the Army but don't you think a guy should be allowed to choose his own life's work?—Disappointed.

Dear Disappointed: You've only got one life to live and whether you live it for yourself or for your parents and friends is up to you. I don't want to sound disrespectful but your father is all wet. The days of a man running into the military service for room and board only are over. Perhaps your father has forgotten but the president of our United States is a former Army career officer.

This is going to have to be your decision entirely and all I can say is to remember that it's your life to live.

Dear Dan: I'm a high school senior and clerk in a shoe store on Saturdays. I like the job okay but I don't like the attention the manager is always paying me. He's always calling me into the storeroom and having me help him, even when there are a dozen people needing to be waited on.

The first time or two he acted real nice and just asked me personal questions about myself and my family. The last couple of weeks he's been telling me off-color stories and has mentioned more than once that I'm a cute girl. He's a married man and may be just flirting harmlessly but I'm getting worried. What should I do?—A Nice Girl.

Dear Nice Girl: I think the time has come when your boss should be told you came to the store to work and not to be entertained. Be nice about it but if that doesn't impress him, you'd better quit the job.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Speak Up, Doc

Doc Turner was up playing cribbage with Smiley Roberts the other day when, 'long about suppertime, Mrs. Roberts invited him to stay and have a bite with them.

Now, Doc had sniffed a cherry pie coming out of the oven and his mouth was watering. But what did he say? "No, thanks," says Doc. "Some other time, then," says Mrs. Roberts, and back she goes into her kitchen.

Well, next day Smiley ran into Doc on the street. Smiley said, "You missed some good cherry pie last night, Doc."

"Don't I know it," says Doc. "I sure wanted to stay but your missus only asked me once!"

From where I sit, Mrs. Roberts has the right idea about persuading people. Give folks credit for knowing their own minds. For instance, I never coax anyone to join me in a glass of beer. And if they don't try to talk me into drinking their favorite beverage, we'll get along fine. You can't persuade folks to be good neighbors, but you can "invite" them.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK OBSERVANCE AT FORT STORY

In conjunction with National Education Week, being observed November 6-11, the Fort Story Education Center is planning an open house on Wednesday, November 9th, and Thursday, November 10th.

On Wednesday the personnel of the 10th Transportation Battalion are scheduled to visit the facilities and displays at the Education Center in the morning, and the 14th Transportation Battalion in the evening. On Thursday the Center will hold a general open house. All post units and organizations serviced by the satellites of the Fort Story center, are invited.

Besides providing educational facilities for the personnel of the 10th and 14th Battalions, Hq. and Hq. Company, 4th Transportation Terminal Command "C", "D" Battery of the 3rd Air Defense and the Navy's Harbor Entrance Control Base, all located at Fort Story, the Center also services "B" Battery, 3rd Air Defense, at Deep Creek; the 58th Signal Battalion, Portsmouth; Nagshead Radar Center, Nagshead, N.C.; the Air Force Recruiting Office, Air Force Reserve Center, Army Recruiting Office, and the U.S. Army Advisory Group, all of Norfolk; the Army Representative Staff, Little Creek and the District Engineers at Fort Norfolk.

This has been a busy year for the Center, for it has surpassed all of the 1960 educational goals set by 2nd Army, according to Mr. Sherrill V. Colley, Education Supervisor. These goals include the number of Bachelor's Degrees which have been obtained through the Center's facilities, as well as the number of general tests and General Educational Development (GED) test on high school and college level have been taken at the testing section.

College and high school evening classes taught at the Center bring in personnel from military installations at Little Creek, Oceana, Dam Neck, and Newport News.

The college course in accounting which opened this fall broke previous attendance records for evening courses at the Center with an enrollment of 29 persons.

The most recent addition to the Center is the opening of an Army Registration section which will add between 100 and 150 books and pamphlets to the organization's library. The registration section will enable personnel to obtain United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI) courses directly from the Center, rather than having to order from a higher headquarters.

Mr. Colley further expects an addition of 75 technical books and 300 training manuals for the purpose of advice and guidance in Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) testing. To further aid persons studying for MOS tests, the Center soon plans to have available an area for reading and studying these books and manuals.

According to Mr. Colley, plans for the future of the Education Center include plans for additional space and a greater number of high school, college and typing courses.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

A large number of widows and children of World War II veterans became eligible for VA pensions for the first time on July 1, 1960. Many of these dependents have been receiving Social Security payments partly or solely because the deceased veteran was given a wage credit of $160 for each month of active duty during the WW II period.

This group of widows and orphans are now being told that they cannot receive VA pensions and gratuitous Social Security benefits but must make election between the two. The VA is required to obtain the amount of benefits being paid by Social Security solely on account of the active WW II service of the deceased, compare that figure with the amount of VA pension payable, then inform the dependents of the two amounts, offering choice of the more favorable.

It is stressed that this situation is occuring only when the Social Security benefits are being paid entirely or partly because of the free wage credits granted the deceased during his WW II service. It does not apply at all to Social Security payments based on Social Security tax paid by the deceased veteran during his lifetime.

Further information may be obtained from: Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claim, 305 McKevitt Bldg., 203 East City Hall Ave. Norfolk.

A wartime veteran has entitlement to about $500 toward payment of his funeral and burial expenses, made up of a $250 burial allowance from the Veterans Administration and the lump sum death settlement from the Social Security Administration which cannot exceed $255.

To be eligible for the VA burial allowance it is a requirement that the war veteran must have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. It must be applied for by the funeral director, or by the person who paid the burial expenses, within two years after the burial. Although the maximum VA allowance is $250, it can be less if there are payments made on the bill by a burial association, an employer, or other government agency, which cover most of the bill. Because burial expenses are so costly nowadays it is not often that payments from other sources interfere with the full $250 allowance.

The Social Security lump sum death settlement is payable when the deceased (1) worked under Social Security at least one and one-half years of the 3 years before his death, or (2) was fully insured under Social Security at time of death, or (3) was receiving retirement or disability payments from Social Security when he died. The settlement goes to the widow if she was living in the same household with the covered veteran at time of his death, and if there is no surviving spouse then the payments may be made to any other person who paid the burial expenses. After September 13, 1960, if there is no surviving spouse, or if the husband and wife were not living together, arrangements can be made for the lump sum benefit to be paid to the funeral home toward any part of the expenses which have not been paid.

Other information is available by contacting Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, 305 McKevitt Bldg., 203 East City Hall Ave., Norfolk 10, Virginia.

Soil Conservation Aims To Get Most From Each Acre

AUBREY N. HOLMES-Technician
Soil Conservation Service

Soil Conservation objective: The basic physical objective of Soil Conservation activities by Department agencies shall be, the use of each acre of agricultural land within its capabilities and the treatment of each acre of agricultural land in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement.

This is the goal in the mind of the Soil Conservation Service Technician when he starts to work out a Conservation Farm Plan for a landowner. The heavy drainage program for this area has been very demanding on the Technician's time and to some extent has limited the time that was needed to plan a complete program for the farm.

Farm Plans have been prepared for 815 farms in Princess Anne County. This farm plan is furnished to the landowner, at no cost to him, includes a Land Capability Map (aerial photograph) with the various types of soils that appear on his farm. A Conservation Plan Map (aerial photograph) which shows the various fields as planned for the farm and the acerage within each field to the nearest tenth of an acre, and a recommended cropping calendar for the crops best suited to the particular soil type.

Fertilizer and lime programs are worked out with the farmer. Other conservation practices planned include crop rotations, cover cropping, crop residue utilization, pasture improvement, tree planting, woodland land use, fish pond improvement, wildlife area improvement, pond construction, drainage programs, land clearing, and irrigation systems if needed.

A few of the accomplishments in farm planning and practices established so far include: 58,859 acres of conservation crop rotation, 55,988 acres of cover cropping, 3,683 acres of land clearing (former woodland areas), 8,839 acres of pasture plantings, 976 acres of Perennial grass and legumes, 90 acres of tree planting, 612 acres of wildlife area improvements, 13 irrigation systems and 1503 miles of lateral drainage ditches.

Call at the office of the Soil Conservation Service if you wish a conservation plan for your farm.

New Use Of Water May
END YOUR CONSTIPATION WORRIES

As you grow older, your system begins to dry out. This is true of your digestive system, and it may lead to constipation. SERUTAN, taken daily with plenty of water, produces a smooth gel that provides the proper moisture, bulk and peristaltic stimulation to help end your constipation worries.

SERUTAN is the all-vegetable laxative aid that moistens hard, dry food wastes and forms it for easy, regular elimination. SERUTAN is entirely different from harsh chemical pills, salts, bran or oils. Take SERUTAN daily with water and enjoy regular elimination or your money back.

South Africa Is A.R.E. Lecture Topic Sunday

A special lecture on "South Africa Today," with accompanying slides, will be given at the headquarters building of the Association for Research and Enlightenment on Sunday, November 13th at 3:30 p.m. by Niels Troost, D.Sc.

Dr. Troost, now staying at A.R.E. headquarters to do a month's research in the Cayce Readings, comes of an interesting background. Born in Curacao in the West Indies, of Dutch parentage, he went in early youth to South Africa, where he has spent most of his life since as a resident of Johannesburg. Here he received his education and earned his degree in electrical engineering, which he follows as a profession. He served as an officer in the British Army throughout World War II on the staff of Lord Louis Mountbatten in the India and Burma area.

Dr. Troost is here on behalf of a project he has undertaken in connection with certain phases of the Cayce Readings. In view of this he made a reconnoitering trip to A.R.E. headquarters early last year. On this trip he is making an intensive study of the Readings concerned with his project, also enlisting the interest of key persons in England and Europe. He is accompanied by his wife and their young son.

His first-hand and up-to-the-minute knowledge of the South African situation will make his talk one of interest to everybody able to come and hear him. There will be opportunity for questions following his talk. Also, a buffet dinner will be available, served at 5:30 at $1.50 per plate.

Population Helps Create Need For Soil Conservation Work

By E. L. WOOD
Norfolk County Agent

The national conservation problem stems from our people—all 178 million of them that we can count today, plus the added millions that population experts say we must figure on annually for an unforseeable period. All the people are dependent on the Nation's soil and water resources for their daily living. Most of our food, our clothing, much of our shelter, and a high percentage of industrial raw materials come from these resources.

This is a continuing proposition. It has been so ever since our country was settled. It will continue so into the unforseeable future. The significant point is that our growing country must continue to be supported from our present agricultural land. The national conservation problem is to protect and improve the land we have for efficient production on a sustained basis. Agriculture cannot look to new land and expanding farm acreages to satisfy the Nation's future demands for food and fiber. Obviously, the productivity to sustain higher and more efficient yields of crops and livestock products. We must concentrate on the enduring type of conservation.

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO OUR RESOURCES

Let's take a look at our soil resources and problems related thereto. In the continental United States there are about 1,904,000,000 acres of land. Some is excellent, some is not so good, and some is almost worthless. About 409 million acres are now being used to grow cultivated crops. About 700 million acres are used for grazing. About 600 million acres are classed as forest or woodland. About 189 million acres are non-agricultural land of which cities, highways, roads, railroads, factories, mines, airports, parks, etc., occupy about 115 million acres. Much of this was once our best agricultural land.

Incidentally, some people are becoming alarmed by the current rate of non-agricultural encroachment on our agricultural land. And again, it is often the best agricultural lands that are being diverted to suburban development, highway growth, and industrial expansion. There is no question but that non-farm use of land is a part of the over-all national conservation problem.

DROUGHTS ACCENTUATE CONSERVATION NEED

Recurring droughts create a precarious situation in the Great Plains. Protection against soil blowing is a particularly important step in sound land use in that area.

In the Midwest, prevailing farm practices have let to a progressive decline in the organic matter and nitrogen content of the soil. In places this loss has amounted to as much as one-third to one-half of the original content.

In the Southern States generally, high rainfall and temperatures cause continued rapid organic matter decomposition and loss of soil minerals by leaching and erosion. It has been estimated that in the Piedmont region, two-thirds of the land that has been cultivated has lost part or all of its topsoil, and in many cases some of the subsoil. In the South generally, soil problems have been compounded by abnormal drought conditions during recent years. Farmer interest in supplemental irrigation is growing by leaps and bounds.

MEANING OF CONSERVATION FARMING

It seems self-evident that the national conservation problem is of considerable magnitude. What it amounts to in total is that the national conservation problem is a composite of the soil and water problems that exist on different soil types and in different climatic regions. Futhermore, it means that what we've called "good farming" in the past is not enough. The complexity of problems call for a new level of technology in farming. We've come to call it conservation farming and it depends on the use of technical skills beyond those the farmer or rancher himself may be expected to possess. It also calls for essential elements of research, education, credit and cost sharing.

Soil problems vary considerably from farm to farm. In order to sustain efficient, high-level production, land and water use and management must be related specifically to the pattern of soil and water resources of the individual farm, as well as to the resources and aptitudes of the farmer himself.

As the problems vary from farm to farm, and even from field to field, the solution to the problems must also vary. Some problems can be solved by relatively simple practices. Liming, fertilizing, cover crops, and use of green manure are examples of annual practices that improve the soil and usually being quick economic returns. Many problems, however, require a combination of practices for an effective solution.

PERMANENT PRACTICES HEART OF PLAN

On most farms a sound soil and water conservation plan—fitted to the capabilities of the land and to the needs and desires of the farm operator — requires permanent practices that do not always bring immediate economic returns. Sometimes major shifts in land use are involved. The permanent practices with enduring benefits are the ones that have the greatest impact on the long-time protection and improvement of soil and water resources.

Across the nation generally we are vigorously attaching these soil and water conservation problems. In Norfolk and Princess Anne County, the Virginia Dare Soil Conservation District has made real progress in getting soil and water conservation measures applied on the land. Accomplishments have been substantial and they are on the increase. Generally, I believe farmers are becoming more and more aware of their soil and water conservation problems and what they can do about them. I am convinced that this awareness will be a highly significant factor in maintaining a sound and vigorous conservation movement in America.

Housing Development Take Much Farmland In Princess Anne Area

By R. J. BARTHOLOMEW
District Forester

Despite the rapid encroachment of housing developments in the wooded sections of the northern part of the county, forest fires remain a serious hazard. This year, due to the frequent rains, only 7 forest fires have been reported over the entire county. Such a record might well lead to smug complacency if our memories could let us forget the dry years such as 1952 when a total of 60 fires burned.

In addition to the above, fires reported to the State Division of Forestry, there are usually many which are extinguished while small through the excellent work of the various volunteer fire departments. During dry seasons the cooperative efforts of all agencies are sometimes needed to keep escaped fires in check.

Every resident of the county has cause for concern about prevention of escaped fires and most especially those residents in wooded and semi-wooded developments. Certainly in a dry hazardous period conditions could arise where many homes could be lost in a comparable situation. At that time, whole residential areas were destroyed when flames swept the woodlands in which they were bulit.

Despite the combined efforts of the volunteer fire departments and the Division of Forestry personnel, escaped forest and brush fires will continue to be a menace unless the average home owner living in or near the wood abides by common sense rules. Most fires in these areas start from escaped trash and debris burning. Use of a well constructed incinerator in which the wire mest openings are small enough to prevent the escape of burning material is the first step. Secondly, the burning should be done only during periods of light or no wind, preferably late in the day while the air is damp. Last, it pays to play safe and stay with the fire until all danger is past. If in doubt, don't burn, for the stakes are high and the danger great.

Fire Bell Rings When Firemen Get Together

Two of Princess Anne County's volunteer fire departments have just about given up hope of having a quiet get-together this year.

Chesapeake Beach and Davis Corner departments had their first joint social gathering Sept. 5 at Chesapeake Beach Community Center.

Just as they settled down to a Labor Day water battle between firemen of the adjoining districts, both groups were called to a fire that destroyed a honeymooning couple's quonset hut at Chesapeake Beach.

Sunday the two sets of firemen and their wives were just about to dig into a dually-sponsored dinner at the same community center when . . .

Yep, the fire bell rang again.

This time it was a minor fire in the utility room of an Aragona Village home in Davis Corner's district.

A smokier, frustrated group of firemen returned later to finish their meals.

The presentations were made by Mrs. L. C. Brennan, P-TA president, and Gordon Baskin, principal.

"We were very pleased with the success of our second efforts in this national program and plan to make it an annual affair," Mrs. Paul Dolgins, chairman, said.

Oceana School Bill Readied For New Congress

Representative Thomas N. Downing, who was overwhelmingly re-elected to Congress in the November 7 election, has indicated that he will re-introduce the Oceana School bill when Congress convenes in January.

The Oceana School bill involves the Federal Government re-imbursing Princess Anne County for the cost of the school facility at Oceana which was abandoned because of the noise and possible danger from jet aircraft taking off and landing at the Oceana airfield.

In the last session of Congress the Downing school bill cleared the appropriate House committees, but time ran out while the bill was in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

As passed in committee, the bill left it up to the U.S. Court of Claims to decide how much the government should pay for the property. In its original form, Downing had put the price at $345,000.

After taking his degree in dental surgery he did further post-graduate work at New York University and at Johns Hopkins University. Excepting for three years' interim in private practice he has been with the United States Navy as dental surgeon since 1942.

The Cape Henry Women's Club held its November luncheon at the Princess Ann Country Club, Thursday, the 10th. The table decorations were by Mrs. T. C. Fishbeck, hostess were Mrs. T. C. Ferguson and Mrs. George Evans. The club voted to help a needy famil yat Christmas, the family to be obtained from the Red Cross. $2,000.00 will be given to the Princess Anne Memorial Hospital for pedeatrician office. Fifty gifts will be sent to the patients at Eastern State Hospital, for Christmas.

The ceramics class, held at Kings Florist on Virginia Beach Blv. have been changed from Wednesday to Friday afternoons. The members who have been attending reported a most interesting time.

The Cape Henry Women's Club will sponsor a girl to "Girl State" to be held in Blacksburg, Va., at V.P.I. next summer.

Mrs. Robert Steinhilber, fine arts chairman presented Mr. Clarke Graves, choral director of Princess Anne High School who sang the following selections, "Beloved" from Student Prince, "I've Got Plenty of Nothing" from Porgy and Bess. He was accompanied by Tom McGarvy, a senior at Princess Anne.

Mrs. Ralph DeMarco, program chairman presented Mr. James A. Johnson principal of Virginia Beach High School in observance of Education Week. Mr. Johnson commended the club on the wonderful work it was doing in the community, especially the scholarship work. Mr. Johnson said, "One Good mother is worth a 100 school masters." Good home background helps the child, major problems of principals stem from the home.

60% to 70% of the Virginia Beach High School students go to college. No matter how good the school is it is up to the student to decide as to whether he goes to college. What are the duties of a principal? The first responsibility of a principal is for the entire operation of the school. He tries to keep an even balance between school, community and home. He tries to have a good varied program for benefit of all, and keeps trying to improve the program of school as to supervision and instruction. He supervises all school activities. There is no P.T.S. in Va. Beach High. Instead they have an Educational Forum which puts on special programs during the year. He has to guard the health and welfare of the students, disciplines and organizes program of the school. He assists the students in getting into colleges. The principal is expected to set an example of good christian principal in the community. It takes a good sense of humor, patients, love for people and students, diplomacy and tact, no place for snap judgement, and he must rationalize. Mr. Johnson said you do not do business by telephone, invite them to school, and never speak in anger.

Girl Scouts Announce Date For International Workshop

Mrs. Paul Dolgins, Chairman for the Girl Scouts of the Princess Anne District announced that plans have been completed for an International Workshop, to be held on Wednesday, November 30, at Little Creek Amph. Base, in the Sunday School Building No. 3338. The Workshop will be open to all Brownie, Intermediate, and Senior Girl Scout leaders, co-leaders and interested adults. Four hour training certificates will be given to all who attend beginning at 10 p.m. ending at 2:30.

Mrs. Donald E. Holland, Chairman for the Bayside Neighborhood will co-ordinate this workshop. The following leaders will assist her; Lela Sander, songs; Jean Stubbs, games; Tish Parke, crafts Valare Barba, dances; Shirley Jenkins, International Friendship; Clare Spence, refreshments. The Workshop will try to cover as many of the 3- full member countries as well as the 13 tenderfoot and 26 pre-tenderfoot countries making up the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides.

Please bring "nose bag" lunch. Members of the Princess Ann District Committee will serve coffee from the following countries; Sweden, Russia, France, Japan, Panama, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Germany, Mexico, Spain, and India.

"The world stands out on either side no wider than the heart is wide" this quotation by Edna St. Vincent Millay tells something of how the Girl Scout leaders feel about the international program. For many a Girl Scout, the world keeps growing, her mind opens to fresh ideas, her hands master new skills, her heart reaches out to friends near and far. As millions of girls—homemakers and citizens of tomorrow—join together year after year in this program of friendliness Girl Scouts take a giant step toward understanding and good will among nations.

Help make this program a success by joining with all the other Girl Scout Leaders on November 30th.

Latest Figures Show County Growth; City Also Gaining

If the City of Norfolk had not annexed a part of Princess Anne County in 1959 the population of the county would now stand at 118,478 as against a population of 42,277 in 1950, according to figures compiled and released recently by three research groups.

The interesting figures were prepared by the Tidewater Virginia Development Council, the Bureau of Business Research at the Norfolk College of William and Mary, and the research department of the Virginian-Pilot and Ledger-Star.

Without annexation the figures reveal that Princess Ann County's population rise would have amounted to a whopping 180.2 per cent. Within the annexed area, alone, the percentage rise would have been 342.0 per cent.

According to a newsstory appearing in the Nov. 14 edition of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot the three agencies cooperated in the final tabulation. According to the figures for the entire area Norfolk and Portsmouth showed a decline in population for the ten-year period considering the old city limits of each locality.

Virginia Beach fared well during the ten years. The research figures showed Virginia Beach with a population gain percentagewise of 47.8 per cent. The unofficial figures for Virginia Beach gave the city a 1960 population of 7,966 as against 5,390 in 1960.

The survey bears out that "Princess Anne County is Virginia's Fastest Growing County." Virginia Beach, too, is sharing handsomely in this growth, according to the figures.

PRINCESS ANNE HI SCHOOL NEWS

By CAROLYN JENNINGS

By Carolyn Jennings

Are scholastic averages going down? From time to time it has been said that students are not making satisfactory progress in school work. American pupils are constantly charged with being on a far lower level than those of other countries. Princess Anne can easily contradict this wide opinion for at least in this one small spot in the U.S.A., the averages are coming up continually. This term has begun with the first six weeks marking period revealing 128 honor students, not to mention the many with averages just below the "honor student" level.

In order to be classified as an honor student, one must have an average of "A" or "B" in every subject. The numerical values range from 93-100, and 87-93, respectively.

The Princess Anne Seniors, in a year which is said to be the most difficult of the high school years, report 19 of these honor students to be members of that class. They are Patricia Bowen, Pamela Cale, Frances Cox, James Dodson, Carol Dunton, Sandra Ebert, Carol Bugley, Deane Evans, Susan Greenwood, Patricia Hayes, Marcia Hill, Milton Jones, Virginia Lindon, Susan Lohr Richard Mosely, Barbara Newman, Mary Sawyer, Conrad Shumadine, and Marcia Siegfried.

In the Junior class there are: Sandra Armbuster, Eleanor Balaban, Timothy Barrows, Delores Bradberry, Mitchell Brody, Harold Brown, Pat Brown, Nancy Caldwell, Frances Cameron, Nita Capps, Bill Castle, Carol Colenda, Carolyn Danner, Diane Denson, William Dovell, Thomas Edenton, Judy Felts, John Finn, Faye Fisher, Stacy Garrett, Nancy Gotwald, Shelby Grimstead, Patricia Hopkins, Robert Johnson, Josephine Jones, Elizabeth McJinnins, Helen McHone, Pat Mahoney, Lynne Martin, Edith Meekins, Victoria Moore, Linda Munden, Virginia Oliver, Judith Jeterson, Patricia Plevyak, Anne Powell, George Rodeheaver, Robert Rogers, Fred Saling, Margaret Selfridge, Robert Soloman, Barbara Stanford, Elaine Thornton, John Ward, Raquel Weyse, Gordon Wilson, John Woodward. These 47 pupils are all honor students.

Sophomores tied the Junioirs, with 47 to score on their record also. The sophomores are: Kay Bazemore, Pam Black, Katheryn Brown, Kathleen Bushong, Tereasa Carr, Kenneth Cole, Douglas Day, Dessie Deamon, Jenifer Dobbs, Claudia Doughtry, Connie Dyckman, Alan Elliot, David Etheridge, Nancy Foy, Claudia Frias, Dorothy Greenwood, Linda Gwaltney, Arthur Halstead, Sandra Hemrick, John Henderson, Vernell Heusel, Celene Hodge, Judith Holgate, Richard James, James Jones, Stephen Jones, Fred Keene, Brenda Koon, Donald McCrickard, Cherlyn Marshall, Jean Meades, Leslie Midkiff, Charles Neamtz, Carol Newman, Jimmy Peterson, Toni Preston, Mae Reese, Michael Roll, Mike Schwartz, Barbara Spruill, David Stockley, Thomas Tucker, Connie Trueblood, Waylon Webbon, Terri White, Willard White, Pricilla Whitehurst.

Fifteen Freshman students joined the group also. These outstanding Freshmen are: Linda Burner, Charline Davila, Jay Ferguson, Benny Gilbert, Jane Harrison, Mary Hughes, Leslie Keegan, Floyd Matthews, Lyn Oliver, Jean Puckett, Barbara Thompson, Karen Tettle, Darly Williams, Sharon Wilson, and Tommy Yancey.

These are the students who are proving that Princess Anne, that America, is moving ahead, and will continue to do so in the future. Mixed in this group are class presidents and outstanding members of the school from all groups, living proof that it is possible to maintain an active school life socially, backed with good grades.

College Night was held last Monday night at Princess Anne. Representatives from colleges all over the nation were present to give potential college students all necessary information and instruction concerning college entrance requirements. Both parents and students were present at this function which lasted from 7:30 untill 9:00. Many students have reported that they found it practically impossible to decide which college to inquire about in the short time. There were interests in all fields, and of course the girls boastfully stated that they were going to apply for admission in Annapolis, and shyly giggled as they approached the door, turning, and walking away. This joking atmosphere hides the serious decision that faces each senior. Each must ask himself, "Should I go to college, and if so, where? Should I find a job? What kind of work could I do?" In short, "What must I do with my life?"

James Barrett, P. A. Distributive Education student obviously has learned that success will come only with constant effort. And James' constant effort has paid off, recently Miss Louise Bernard, state supervisor of distributive education, received a letter from Mr. C. K. Detwiler of the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia, Pa. A recent station inspection, made by the Headquarters Shopper unknown to both the Station Dealer, Mr. C. R. Moore, and James Barrett, came to this particular station, at which time James waited on him. Out of the possible 200 points, a score of 190 was made. After this occasion, the letter was received at Princess Anne.

Good grades seem to be the medium of reward in many phases of high school life. Last year over $60,000 dollars worth of scholarships were given to seniors of the graduating class. They were awarded by various groups within and outside of the school. Mrs. Frances Hudgins, the guidence director, reports that this year also many scholarships will be available. The main qualification . . . a good academic record.

Last Friday night spirits were high but the scores were low. A caravan of approximately 40 cars left Princess Anne and went to the Portsmouth stadium to meet Wilson. The Cavaliers were defeated but displayed their usual good sportsmanship and spirit. Tomorrow night P.A. will meet Warwick in the last game of the season.

The Junior class, which organised reciently, looks forward to their plans for the coming year, president of the class of '62, Grace Marie Bamforth reports, ". . . The Junior class will begin their candy sales, the first project of the year, on November 5. We have an outstanding class, with a variety of talents and abilities which will prove successful in both this year and the coming senior year."

On November 14, the first deadline of the annual staff was met. Lights burned late in Princess Anne during the last week as staff members worked constantly to meet the deadline. Editor Laura Lee Meyerhoffer, when interviewed, sighed, brushed back a whisp of her blond hair and half-whispered, ". . . we worked, and worked and worked." Then smiling, "and we'll work some more!" The Peerage is the pride of Princess Ann, the yearbook has taken awards for many years and the past years.

The cast of The Curious Savage, announced last week, has begun rehearsal. The cast are as follows, the lead, Dianne Snyder, and other members, Lee Davis, Betty Bernard, Ricky Mattson, Raquel Weyse, Wendy Hopson, Joe Ben Overfelt, and Donald Baggett. Understudy for the lead is Joe Spangler. The rehearsals, scenery planning, prop gathering, and various other preparations are being made now.

The Dramatics Club, sponsoring the play, is looking forward to a successful opening to the season. Student support has been good and ticket sales will begin as soon as the date and time have been made definate.

Special Service Is Announced

A special Thanksgiving service is announced by Christian Science Society for 11:00 on Thanksgiving Day.

Open to the general public, the service will be held in the Church building at 209 20th St. No collections of any kind are to be taken at this service.

Expressions of praise and gratitude to God will be read from the Bible and also from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy in a Lesson-Sermon for the day entitled "Thanksgiving."

The Golden Text is from Revelation (7-12): "Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever."

The latter portion of the service will be devoted to voluntary expressions of gratitude by members of the congregation for God's goodness shown in spiritual growth, healings, and other blessings.

Blue Devils Capture Title In Midget Football Play

The Blue Devils of the Virginia Beach Midget Football League finished on top of the league and have earned the right to meet the All Stars, chosen from the remaining teams of the league. Paced by Mike Hallock and Charlie DiPinto the Blue Devils defeated the Hornets 19-13. Tommy Rice of the Hornets put on a tremendous exhibition of running and passing but it was not enough to contain the powerful Blue Devils. In the other game of the day the Bulldogs defeated the Wolf Pack as Terry Whesdos continued his torrid pace by scoring all the Bulldogs points. Jimmy McQuilkin, Zack Clement and Wayne Wood were the Wolf Pack standouts.

The following All Stars were chosen to play the Blue Devils in a game in which donations will be taken to help defray expenses of the uniforms.

Hornets—Tommy Rice, Tommy Blouin, Mike Doolin, Edward Winters, Ray Ramey, Jeff Edwards, Wayne Wood, Will Pugh.

Bulldogs—Terry Whesdos, Buddy Mathews, Jimmy Maher, Ken Stephenson, Lonnie Orther, Bobby Thomas, Jimmy Batchelor, Johnny Maddux.

The game will be played Tuesday, November 22 in the Virginia Beach High School Stadium. The public is cordially invited to attend and contribute to the uniform fund.

One article that has not gone up in price since it went on sale in May 1941 is the Series E. Savings Bond. It still sells for 75 cents on the dollar of maturity value—and matures in 7 years and 9 months instead of the original 10 years.

Seahawks In Scoreless Tie

Seahawk Football — Southampton stopped a Virginia Beach fourth period touchdown drive at the one-yard line Friday night and held the Seahawks to a scoreless tie in their District One, Group Two Football game here.

The teams played within the two 15-yard lines for the first three periods before the Seahawks put together the biggest scoring threat of the night at the beginning of the final quarter.

With George Chappell, a senior halfback, doing most of the gaining, Virginia Beach marched downfield and had a first down, goal-to-goal situation at the Southampton one-yard line.

The first thrust was halted. Then, on second down, a Beach carrier fumbled, Southampton recovered in the end zone and took over on its own 20.

Southampton, aided by two Beach 15-yard penalties, reached the Seahawks seven-yard line in the closing minutes, but the Beach boys rallied to the cause and hurled the Indians for two straight losses back to the 20.

Wilson Beats Princess Anne In Eastern District Contest

Cavalier Football — Quarterback Fred Cobb heaved two long scoring passes Friday night as Wilson whipped Princess Anne, 27-7, in an Eastern District Group One football game.

Cobb a 185-pound senior, tossed his scoring strike in the second period on a 56-yarder to halfback Jerry Cross. With less than two minutes to play he caught Carl Rhodes in the end zone. This one covered 36 yards.

Princess Anne jumped out to 7-0 lead in the opening period on a 58-yard scoring march with Richard Miller climaxing the drive with a four yard pass to end Billy Boyce.

The lead was shortlived, however. Wilson took the ensuing kickoff on its own 32. Cobb then unleashed a long pass to Cross for an apparent touchdown. However, the Presidents were penalized.

The first quarter ended at that moment. Believing lightning can strike twice in the same place, Cobb called the same play. This time he tossed a short pass to Cross who carried it down to the Princess Anne 29. Two plays later big Steve Hollowell crashed over right tackle for 16 yards for the President's first score. Wilson's kick failed and PA held on to its 7-6 lead.

With little over five minutes to play in the half, Cobb shot an 11-yard pass to Cross who pulled it in and went 56 yards untouched. Cobb then passed to Rhodes for the extra point and Wilson had a 13-7 halftime lead.

Wilson took the second half kickoff and marched 65 yards in 17 plays to score its third touchdown. Cross plunged over from the one.

Princess Anne Runners Triumph

Princess Anne's cross country team came through in fine style last week, defeating Hampton 44-15. Hampton, rated to be a fairly strong team in cross country, was forced to yield the first five places to the Cavaliers. George Green set the pace for PA with a time of 10 minutes and 30 seconds. This was the same time he ran in the Eastern District Meet the week before. One interesting fact to mention is that Princess Anne's first five men were within one and a half seconds of each other,

ADULT WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

We have had many inquiries concerning a basketball league for women, there has been only two teams registered with this department. If you are out of high school and want to play or want to organize a team, if you will call this office at GA 8-6891, we would be glad to help you in any way we can. If there are enough teams to form a league we will have a organization meeting in late November to write the by-laws. The only requirement for a woman who wishes to play in this league is that she be out of school.

Beach Needs Goodwill Team

Virginia Beach has made rapid strides in the resort field in recent years and many new and first rate motels and hotels have come into being. There was a time that it could be said that Virginia Beach could not attract but so many tourists due to the lack of first class, modern accomodations. This is no longer true.

More than ever the need is for new business in Virginia Beach. We have the first class accomodations and we now have a magnificent Convention Center. What then is the answer to more business? We believe there is one step that might be taken.

Taking a cue from a neighboring state, that is, North Carolina, which has done so much to promote itself through the efforts of businessmen in the state we believe the same idea would work here.

The work of North Carolina's Governor Luther Hodges and business leaders of that state is well known to many. They formed a solid group and set out to tell the business world about the advantages of locating in North Carolina. They have traveled on goodwill missions "selling" their state to business leaders all over America and in Europe. The program is paying off in North Carolina.

Now it comes to light that a nearby community is doing the same thing on a smaller scale. We refer to the City of Portsmouth which is undertaking a program to attract new industry to its city. New York has been selected as the site of this operation with appointments made in advance with heads of large business firms.

We believe that something along similar lines would work for Virginia Beach. It would be up to the local business leaders. The industry we are trying to attract is the tourist industry. We could concentrate in this direction.

While we maintain a Chamber of Commerce here and we have a convention director for the convention center we could go beyond this. The staffs of both these offices are well qualified, but they could and should receive more direct help from the business people of the community.

We believe it would be a step in the right direction to explore the possibility here of organizing along the lines of the North Carolina and Portsmouth plans. The only difference here, and it should simplify the undertaking, would be that we would be concerned with only the tourist industry instead of a variety of industries.

The idea, we feel, has merit. it is a thought that might be pursued here. Instead of one person attracting certain important travel shows this community could have several business leaders attend as a group. The same could be true in the case of attracting certain large conventions to our city.

If the work of the Chamber of Commerce and the Convention Director could be supplemented by a group of business leaders, who would be willing to travel to selected travel promotion shows we believe it would be a fine way to build goodwill for Virginia Beach and to increase our share of the travel trade.

it is a thought, an idea worth pondering.

Miss Edwards is the club sponsor.

The Student Telephone Directory for '60-'61 is now on sale. This is a project sponsored by the S.C.A. Linda Wylie was chairman for the committee planning the directory. Typists were Carol Jean Smyth, Betty Wright, and Phyllis Davis.

The S.C.A. is also planning a student handbook this year for the students. It will contain articles about the purpose and functions of the different school organizations and an explanation of the Student Cooperative Association. Chairman of the committee to work on the handbook is Betty Wright.

S.C.A. — Student Cooperative —

Ten representatives from the Virginia Beach High School S.C.A. attended the Tidewater Student Cooperative Association Convention held at Maury High School, Saturday, Nov. 12.

After registration the group met in the auditorium for an assembly where they were welcomed and introduced to the state S.C.A. secretary. She spoke on the motto of the S.C.A., "Triumph Through Integrity."

Each of our representatives then went to one of the discussion groups on various phases of S.C.A. work.

After the first discussion period they went to lunch and then on to other discussion groups.

As the convention drew to a close they attended another assembly where they were addressed by the Tidewater S.C.A. sponsor on how to further the S.C.A. in the school. They were then entertained by the school pianists and a jazz band.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Sun-News:

Beach erosion has created a physical and economical crisis for the oceanfront real property in the business sector of Virginia Beach, but this crisis contains not only the element of danger, but also the element of opportunity.

It would appear advisable that private enterprise, civic leadership and public authority should team up in an attempt to resolve this crisis(opportunity) of the largely blighted oceanfront area and the nearby deteriorating areas as has been done in many cities all over the nation with blighted area problems.

The aforementioned team might well undertake, for example, the study of the physical and economicl feasibility of removing the existing concrete bulkhead-boardwalk — plus all other bulkhead structures—together with all buildings on the east side of Atlantic Avenue from Rudee Inlet to 40th Street.

If this proposal was found feasible, its implementation would, among other things, provide a 2½ mile prominade-park beachfront that could lead to Virginia Beach's business sector being then developed in the highest degree . . . both as to economics and esthetics.

Respectfully yours,
Donald Webb

King's Grant School Holding First P-TA Meeting Tuesday

The Kings Grant School will hold its first P.T.A. meeting and open house on Tuesday, November 22, at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mr. Frank Cox, Superintendant of the Princess Anne Schools will speak. All parents are invited to look over the new school and meet the teachers. Local garden clubs will help decorate the building and refreshments will be served.

Altough it is the newest school in the Princess Ann County system Kings Grant School has quite a long historical background. Located in a rapidly growing residental area of the county, the school gets its name from the fact that the land on which it stands was originally part of a land grant from the King of England to Adam Thoroughgood, one of the original settlers in the area. He in turn gave it to the church as a "Glebe," and it was later sold to local farmers, changing hands many times until it finally came into the possession of the present owners.

Although the land on which it stands may be very old, the school itself is extremely modern in all respects, with many new innovations. The President and Board of the P.T.A. sincerely hope that all parents will avail themselves of this opportunity to view their school and meet their children's teachers.

In other business the P.T.A. Board announced they would celebrate teachers appreciation week by giving a small gift to each teacher.

This '61 is built on the principle that the place you want space is inside. We put it there, too. Actually trimmed the outer size to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering, and still worked wonders with inner space. Door openings are as much as 6" wider. Seats as much as 14% higher. We've thought of everything. Increased rear foot room by slenderizing the driveshaft tunnel. Worked in sensible new ideas all the way back through that huge bin of a baggage compartment. See how thoughtful this one is! Full of good new things. Yes, faces are different the world over. But hearts have a common hunger. For Hope . . . Life . . . Truth.

Therefore, expressing the fervor of the citizens and churches of this brave, free land, the American Bible Society has sought for 144 years to translate and distribute the Scriptures for every nation and tribe.

Many local congregations, directly or through their denominations, are supporting this vital work. In addition, the suggested readings which appear regularly in these advertisements are provided by the American Bible Society, and reach you as another contribution of American citizens and churches to this important cause.

You see, worldwide Bible reading is the simple, practical expression of one of our fundamental convictions: The Bible IS the Book for Everyone.

Tonight—at the dinner table or in a quiet moment—millions of American homes will put that conviction into earnest, reverent, daily practice! Will yours?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

School Building Continues to Keep Up With Growth

The building of schools continues in Princess Anne County seeking always to keep abreast of the tremendous growth of the county's population. So spoke Frank C. Cox, Supt. of County Schools, before the November meeting of the Woman's Club of was held in the Fellowship Hall Chesapeake Beach. The meeting of the Bayside Christian Church on Tuesday.

Mr. Cox, served on a Forum of eight School officials headed up under the direction and moderation of Mrs. J. H. Harrell, Supervisor of Elementary Education in Princess Anne.

Being planned and presently under construction are two elementary schools, one Junior High, and two ten-room additions to other elmentary schools. According to Mr. Cox this will total 328 classrooms which, it is contemplated, will be added to the school system by September 1961.

Cox stated that Princess Anne County is the fastest growing county in the State with the possible exception of Fairfax.

"Construction," says Cox, "is not the whole answer. To give quality education to our children, each building contemplated, must also have planned for it, a staff of quality teachers, and must be supplied with quality equipment so necessary in the Educational program today."

Miss Louise Luxford, Director of Instructional Personnel brought to the attention of the ladies, how the County sought to strengthen the quality of teachers. This, she declared, involved Teacher Certification, Recruitment, and determining the size and quality of the Staff needed. Miss Luxford cited three things must be looked for in seeking the quality teacher, these being a high moral and spiritual character, creative and initiative ability, and and the ability to impart knowledge. Miss Luxford was high in praise for the steady improvement in the quality of teachers obtained in the county for the past three years. The years 1956 and 57, she said, saw 110 sub standard teachers in the county schools, or teachers with no degrees. Today only a few of these remain, and those few have been carefully screened to prove their experience and background sufficient to warrant their remaining in the teaching profession.

She also gave praise to the State Education Department's forward step in raising standards for improving certification of teachers, and the program which has been initiated, of Self Evaluation between the teacher and the principal known as the In-training Service program.

Mr. R. H. Owen, next on the Forum, spoke on Strengthening the High School program. He explained the new opportunities for the acceleration of the school's educational program. Mr. Owen is the Asst. Supt. and General Supervisor of Schools.

The Elementary School Supervisor, Mr. Walter Carroll, spoke on "Strengthening the Elementary School Program", the Library, Music, Art, Physical Education and the gifted child.

Declaring that "our children are in need of skills for living in a more complex world and must be taught to live in a time of more leisure, with a world full of social and political problems," Mr. Carrol stressed the importance of the creative program of Art and music appreciation. He also stressed the need for the physical education program and a good school library. "We must," he said, "seek to develop an inquiring mind, seek to stir the imaginations in order to broaden our children's sense of inner security that we might make of them, responsible citizens." According to Mr. Carroll, "the old recess during which children played and ran, is not enough. It is necessary today that their time and energy be channeled and organized.

The special education, homebound students and those with emotional problems, is also a County School obligation. This discussion was brought by Mr. Frank Taylor and Mrs. Ruth Bridges. Classes are now provided for those with emotional problems. This group requires more of the teacher's time and there are not usually more than 16 in a class. Teachers are provided also for those students who have a legitimate reason for their inability to attend school.

Completing the informative Forum discussion, was Mrs. J. J. Owens, Coordinator of Testing and Research, spoke on the importance of strengthening the testing procedure, and the philosophy of the testing program, the interpretation of test results, and teacher guidance through test results. "No one can truthfully say they do not believe in tests," said Mr. Owens, but care should be taken that they are not handled wrongly and without the knowledge of how to correctly interpret. A properly trained teacher knows how to apply information gleaned from this test, whereas often parents would not understand. Therefore this subject with all it's complexities should rightly be of more concern to the teacher.

The program was introduced by Mrs. E. S. Moorer, Club Program Chairman, and was followed by a Tea. Committee members of the Educational Dept. served as hostesses under the direction of Mrs. J. N. Scarborough, Educational Chairman for the club.

Previous to the Forum discussion, the club members voted to establish a Scholarship Fund of $350.00. Two club members received honorary memberships in the club. They were Mrs. C. J. Parkerson, a past president of the club and now principal of the Bayside Elementary School, and Mrs. L. Anderson, who was chosen as "Club Mother" of the Woman's Club.

Miss Laura Lee Meyerhoffer was a special guest of the Woman's Club and spoke briefly of her visit to Girls' State this past summer. Miss Meyerhoffer was sponsored to Girl's State by the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach.

Mrs. Richard J. Vellines, Fine Arts Chairman, announced that registration was now being taken for the next Art Class which is sponsored by the Woman's Club each Saturday for six lessons, in the Community Center at the Beach. The class is held from 1 until 3:30.

Robert Mann, Guest Soloist, Appearing With Norfolk Group

"One of the outstanding string players of the world—a man of enormous vitality and personality." That is how Conductor Edgar Schenkman describes guest soloist Robert Mann who will play with the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra on Monday evening, November 28 at the Center Theater at 8:30 p.m. Tickets to the single concert will be on sale at the Arena Box office the day of the concert, and at the Center Theater Box Office from 7:30 p.m. until concert time. Students and enlisted personnel in the Armed Forces may purchase tickets at a special price of one dollar.

This will be the last opportunity to buy season tickets to the six remtining concerts of the season which will include two outstanding concerts with the Civic Chorus and three concerts with the distinguished guest soloists. Pro-rated reserved seats for the six concerts are priced at: $10:50, $6.50, and $4.30 for student tickets. Call MA 2-2231 or write: 521 Graydon Park, Apt. 8, Norfolk 7, Virginia.

"Russian Music Then . . . and Now" is the theme for the November concert. Rovert Mann, first violinist of the Juilliard Quartet and an outstanding performer of modern music, will play the brilliant modern Russian Concerto No. 2 for violin by Prokofieff. This composition is melodic and graceful and sardonic and satirical as well. Also on the program are the fanciful and enchanting "Eight Russian Folk Songs" by Liadov, and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6 or "Pathetique," one of the most poignantly moving compositions ever written.

This program which contrasts Russian music of many moods from graceful and beguiling gaiety to towering and lonely melancholy, is an excellent expression of Russian music before and since the Revolution, and should have universal appeal for young and old. Many families are making the Symphony Concerts a family affair and taking along their school-age children on the season student tickets. Even children in the early elementary grades find watching a 75-piece orchestra play the world's greatest music under a dynamic conductor a thrilling experience and a wondrous introduction to a lifetime of pleasure with music. Call or write for your seasonal tickets today.

PREPARE ANIMALS FOR COLD WEATHER

With winter coming on, cattlemen should be making preparations for getting their animals through the cold weather.

Particular attention needs to be paid to feed requirements, worming calves, and delousing cattle.

It will take a ton and one-half to a ton and three-fourths of hay normally to put a beef cow through a Virginia winter. It is wise, though, to have as much as two tons of roughage available for each cow either in the form of good hay or some straw or low quality roughage to take care of unforseen periods like those of last February and March.

Beef cattlemen should always carry 10 to 15 percent more hay or silage than he thinks he might need. Usually it is better to carry this surplus in the form of hay than silage because it is easier to keep the second year.

A farmer should figure on three-fourths a ton of hay or its equivalent in silage and about six bushels of corn for each calf wintered to come out next spring as a yearling. Barley and oats may be substituted for corn. Any winter grazing should be taken into account.

Now is the time to add up the feed supply, see how many cattle are to be wintered, and either buy feed now or adjust numbers to match the feed supply.

Fall grazing has been good in most parts of the county. However, watch them and start feeding small amounts of hay as soon as the grass begins to shorten. It is much easier to keep cattle from slipping in weight than it is to bring them back.

Start feeding light and gradually increase as the grass disappears. Most cattlemen prefer to save silage for the cow herd until the calves arrive. But where calves are being wintered, the silo can well be opened as soon as grass fails.

A good rule of thumb is to allow two pounds of hay for each 100 pounds the cattle weight. Little yearling cattle will need approximately 10 to 12 pounds of hay a day depending on size, plus 2 to 3 pounds of corn or other grain, and a pound of protein supplement.

When wintering cows and calf herds, the farmer should plan to let the calves have the best quality roughage and the cows the poorer.

Get rid of lice before the weather turns cold. Be certain to spray the cattle so that each one is soaked thoroughly to the hide. Spray them underneath and between the legs, underneath and around the neck and brisket, also.

If calves are wormy, it is a good idea to worm them before they go on winter feed. A good worming with phenothiazine will generally see them through the winter in much better shape on less feed. Worm them according to directions.

Separate heifers calving for the first time, from older cows. Take special care of them because they will do better with their calves. If run with old cows they will be whipped away from feed.

Also, winter steers and heifers separately. This may require more groups of cattle to feed than a farmer might like, but invariably the cattle will winter better if they are grouped by size and sex.

PLACEMENT OF FERTILIZER ON CORN STUDIED BY AGRONOMISTS AT VPI

How fertilizer is placed for your corn crop can have a lot to do with yields—especially in seasons of inadquate rainfall.

Research at VPI Agricultural Experiment Station has shown that fertilizer injury to corn germination is closely related to soil moisture. If the moisture supply is adequate throughout the growing season, reasonably heavy rates of fertilizer near the seed will reduce yields very little. However, where heavy rates of fertilizer are to be applied it is better to play it safe by broadcasting most of it, and putting only a small amount in the row.

The corn tests have been conducted at several locations in Virginia. Varying rates and ratios of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash were broadcast, banded, and placed in the row in direct contact with the seed. Sources of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash were ammonium nitrate, 20 per cent superphosphate, and muriate of potash. Total application of fertilizer on all plots was equivalent to 1,200 pounds per acre of 10-10-10 fertilizer. Stand counts were made and the corn yield measured.

At one location in 1958 there was plenty of well-distributed rainfall, and little difference in yields between any of the treatment. All yields were well over 100 bushels per acre. In the same field and on the same soil type the following year, results were vastly different. Rainfall was inadequate immediately after planting and throughout the growing season, and this seriously influenced the stand and yield.

With all the nitrogen (120 lbs. per acre of N or 350 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate) in the row with the corn, there was less than a 15 percent stand and only 8 bushels per acre. With all the fertilizer (1,200 pounds per acre of 10-10-10) in contact with the seed there was less than a 10 per cent stand and only 6 bushels per acre. During the same year, a heavy application of phosphate (600 pounds per acre of 20 percent superphosphate) did not reduce the percentage stand. Yields from other treatments were as high as 80 bushels per acre.

In yet another test in 1959, the stand and yield of corn were markedly reduced by high rates of nitrogen alone, or by high rates of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash, in contact with the seed. In the same area during the past summer, rainfall was adequate immediately after planting so the fertilizer had little injurious effect on germination, and stands and yields on all plots were very good.

TERMS ABOUT FERTILIZER CAN OFTEN BE CONFUSING

When a farmer or gardener goes to buy fertilizer he can become inmeshed in a confusing variety of terms—if he hasn't taken the time to study the meaning of those terms.

Fertilizer is one of the farmer's top production tools, and the right ratio and right grade in the right place makes it most effective. Recommendations are made usually in terms of pounds per acre of a certain ratio or grade—depending on what crop is to be grown, on what soil type, and the fertility of the soil. The more the farmer knows about fertilizer terms, the better he can judge and select when he is ready to buy.

The brand name is given by a company to its product. A company may have several specialty brands under its main brand—in the same way an automobile manufacturer may have several models of a given automobile. But all are identified by a certain name.

The ratio refers to the relative amounts of plant food the fertilizer contains. For example, a 1-1-1 ratio means a fertilizer that contains equal amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. It says nothing about how much of each is contained in the bag — it simply says they have been put in in equal amounts. In the same way, a 1-2-1 ratio means 1 part nitrogen, 2 parts phosphorus, and 1 part potassium.

The grade of a fertilizer reders to the actual analysis—how many pounds of plant food are contained in a bag. The term "grade" is interchangeable with "analysis." It is given in percentage, and a 10-10-10 grade means just what it says—10 percent nitrogen, 10 percent phosphorus, 10 percent potash. It contains 10 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphorus, and 10 pounds of potash in 100 pounds of fertilizer bought. Likewise a 10-20-10 contains 10 lbs. of nitrogen, 20 lbs. of phosphorus, and 10 lbs. of potash per 100 pounds of fertilizer bought. The 10-10-10 grade of fertilizer is a 1-1-1 ratio; a 10-20-10 grade is a 1-2-1 ratio.

USE WORMERS, IF NECESSARY ON BIRDS GOING INTO HOUSE

Before pullets to be kept as layers are taken into the poultry house, be sure they are not infected with worms.

out that wormers should not be used for layers after they have come into production. Eggs from layers being treated for worms will have off-colored yolks.

Be sure to stop treating pullets for worms at least four weeks before they come into production.

ABUNDANT SUPPLY OF FEED FORECAST

"Larger numbers of livestock and poultry during the next 12 months will have an abundant supply of feed grains, and a close balance of high protein feeds."

So stated the Feed Survey Committee of the American Feed Manufacturers Association at their recent two-day meeting in Chicago. The 24 college and experiment station men, comprising the committee, represent all areas of the United States. Professor P. M. Reaves, of VPI's department of Dairy Science, is the representative from Virginia.

Reaves said the committee came up with these predictions:

Beef cattle numbers are expected to be up four percent during 1961. Increases of seven percent are anticipated in both turkeys and broilers. Numbers of layers may be down four percent. However, relatively little change is expected in production of dairy cattle and lambs.

The calculated feed balance for the year ahead indicates high protein feed use to be within one percent of estimated supplies. Grain supplies will exceed demand by more than 50 percent. An estimated 131,000,000 tons of feed will be used.

The 1960 fall pig crop is estimated at 41,500,000 head—4 percent less than the pig crop of last fall.

Around 54,000,000 pigs will be produced in the spring of 1961, which is 10 percent more than the 49,103,000 produced in spring, 1960.

The average number of layers for the feed year beginning October 1, 1960 will be around 285,000,000, a 4 percent decrease from the previous year, and caused by the small number of replacement pullets raised during 1960.

Number of chickens raised for replacements during 1961 is expected to increase by 10 percent for a total of 373,000,000.

Commercial broilers production for 1961 will total 1,925,000,000—an increase of 7 percent over 1960.

It is predicted that 88,000,000 turkeys will be raised during 1961—a 7 percent increase over 1960, most in heavy rather than light breeds.

The number of cows to be milked in 1961 is expected to be 19,400,000. The down-trend in cow numbers has slowed and a slight upturn may come in 1961. The increases in cow numbers in fluid milk areas tend to be offset by declining numbers elsewhere.

The number of heifers 1 to 2 years old is expected to increase about 2½ percent over 1960, and the number of heifer calves under 1 year old is expected to go up about 4 percent.

Total milk production of 127.1 billion pounds is an increase of slightly more than 1 percent over 1960 and is the result of a slight increase in cow numbers coupled with a 1 percent increase in yield per cow. This rise in yield will come from heavier grain-feeding to better cows.

Roughage is plentiful in most sections. Plenty of concentrates at more favorable price ratios are in the picture. The estimated feeding rate will be 2,200 pounds per cow, an increase of about 3 percent over 1960.

Beef cow numbers are expected to increase 4 percent during 1961. Cattle slaughter is expected to increase by 5 to 10 percent over 1960 in the year ahead. Of the 27,000,000 cattle expected to be slaughtered in 1961, around 14,000,000 will be grain-fed steers and heifers.

The total number of sheep and lambs is expected to increase between 1 and 2 percent. Generally favorable feed supply conditions throughout the country should result in some improvement in percentage of lambs raised and put on feed.

A slight reduction in horses and mules is expected. An increase in light horses and pleasure ponies will nearly offset the continued decline in work stock, resulting in only a 2 percent estimated decrease in total numbers.

Near-record production of grains and oilseeds in 1960 plus record large stocks of corn and sorghum grain provide plentiful supplies of feed for 1960-61.

The 193,000,000 tons of grains, oilseed meals, and other concentrates available for feed in the current year compare with about 150,000,000 tons fed last year. As in recent years, grain supplies are relatively more plentiful than the high-protein feeds.

The 1960 corn crop is nearly as large as last year's record crop. Grain sorghum production is within 1 percent of the 1958 record crop. The oat crop is 10 percent larger than 1959's small crop, but still below average. Barley production is relatively large again this year. The total tonnage of feed-grain production is only slightly below last year's record. In addition, the carry-over of old-crop corn and sorghum grain on October 1, 1960, reached a new high level of 2,380,000,000 bushels.

Soybean production for 1960 is estimated at 4 percent above last year, and the second largest crop on record. The cottonseed crop is as large as that for 1959. Supplies of meal from the major oilseed crops available for feed are about 3 percent larger than the amount fed last year.

Pastures generally this fall are better than last year. Hay production is 5 percent above last year, with considerable late-season improvement.

Radio Station Offers Many Unique, Interesting Contests

By GARY LAWRENCE

When I asked to write an article concerning "the really new WNOR" I was very excited since it gives me a chance to inform these of Va. Beach and Princess Anne County that aren't familar with WNOR's bright and "happening" programming what they can look forward to.

Listeners to WNOR are constantly given the chance to participate in many forms of contests. Presently we are giving the person who locates NOR's missing "W" a trip to Hollywood by jet, a complete winter wardrobe and a chance to meet top movie and TV personalities. WNOR gives daily clues concerning the location of the missing "W". Some of the clues are sound clues, i.e., sounds are given that can be heard near the location of the missing "W".

Another promotion that has been started is an identification card for our listeners with their own certified identification No. printed on each card. A number is read every half hour over WNOR. These numbers will coincide with a number on an ID Card. The listener having a card with that number has thirty minutes to call the station and report they have the number, and twenty-four hours to bring their card to WNOR and verify it. Each time a number is called it will be given a cash value from five to five hundred dollars.

As a public service to the Tidewater area WNOR in conjunction with the Norfolk Police force had their "Treatmobile" out on Halloween night. The "Treatmobile carried NOR DJ's dressed in Halloween garb with free records, movie passes candy etc. for the youngsters. This promotion helped curb the chance of vandelism.

In past weeks NOR had Miss WNOR, Patsy Gatewood, a Maury High School student meet Miss America. Miss WNOR participate at all of WNOR's Hops put on for various schools and organizations. Radio Station WNOR also puts out a music survey sheet each week which list the top 40 records and also includes a picture of our teen Queen of the Week. Our teen queens are picked from one of the Tidewater high schools for participation in school activities and her overall character.

The above mentioned promotions are not a separate part of WNOR's programming but are an integral part of the sound that can be expected twenty-four hours a day over the station.

WNOR's News and Special event departments are always on the move. Recently WNOR had an exclusive live broadcast from the deck of the S.S. Pocahontas, flagship of the Little Creek-Kiptopeke Ferry chain as it held ceremonies at the site in the Chesapeake bay where construction will begin on the new Bay Bridge-Tunnel to span the bay. The connection by bridge-tunnel from Eastern Shore to Norfolk is of vital interest to the people of PA County in that it should increase the beach season by at least two months. WNOR was the only news media to set up short wave equipment aboard the ship to facilitate a live broadcast.

In a poll of candidates for Mrs. America of 1960 it was learned that eight out of ten had saved through United States Savings Bonds to buy their homes.

Beach Students Attend SCA Meet

Ten delegates from Virginia Beach High School attended the district Student Cooperative Association convention at Maury High School in Norfolk, Saturday. They are: Bonnie Bill, George Alcorn, Debbie Wright, Trudy Chappell, Sharon Meredith, Charlie MacDowell, Steve Standing, Betty Wright, Trudy Kitchen, Betsy Kevell, and Frank Blanchard.

The convention convened in an assembly at 10:00, and was followed by a panel discussion of S.C.A. problems in schools. Miss Trudy Kitchen of Va. Beach presided as one of the four panel members. This was followed by discussion groups which studied such problems as "how to make the student body feel that they have a part in the S.C.A.," and "What part does the S.C.A. play in connection with Civil Defense and safety programs." Bonnie Bill, president of the S.C.A. at Va. Beach High School, presided as a discussion group leader.

After lunche the students went back to their discussion groups to battle more problems.

At 1:45 a second assembly was held and Mrs. Loydd, State Executive Secretary of S.C.A., delivered a helpful message on S.C.A. affairs. Entertainment was provided on the piano by Miss Edna Missiltz of Maury High School. It was then announced that Va. Beach High School would have the Vice-Chairmanship for the preparation of the 1961 District S.C.A. Convention.

Changing Land Use Alters Forest Lands in P.A. County

By R. J. BARTHOLOMEW

Changing land use in northern Princess Anne has completely altered the forest land situation in that area. However, good forest practices are still good business in the rural sections. Good fertile soil plus favorable climate combine to make the coastal area of Virginia a region of rapid tree growth. Loblolly pine, the familiar native pine of the county is excellent for timber production.

This pine has certain required conditions for good development and growth. Unfortunately, most landowners have consistently ignored these conditions in managing their pine stands. As a result, in riding through the county we can see many acres well suited to pine growth now producing only scrubby hardwoods of no economic value. For years forest owners have sold their timber to a certain lower diameter limit thinking to save the young trees, when in reality all trees in a uniform pine stand are generally quite close in age. This has meant reserving the poorest trees each time a cut was made. To make the situation worse, the hardwood growth present in the understory of most pine stands has been gradually replacing the more valuable pines, until on many areas pines occur only as scattered trees.

To reverse this natural trend, foresters recommend use of heavy equipment to tear up this low value growth and make room for pine production. This consists of heavy bulldozers pulling large disk harrows through the brush and smaller trees to destroy this growth and lessen the competition for the pine. New chemical tree poisons are also available to accomplish the same job in other situations.

Foresters of the Virginia Division of Forestry are available to assist landowners in planning good forest practices. This service is provided by the State to help preserve and protect the forest resource. To secure this service, contact County Agent Cockreil or Chief Forest Warden J. C. Payne in Princess Anne Court House. If preferred, a card to the Division of Forestry in Portsmouth, Box 3036, will bring a prompt reply.

To further encourage good forestry, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Princess Anne has authorized assistance to owners of forest land. Payments are provided to help omplete various forest operations such as tree planting, elimination of low value hardwoods with heavy eqiupment, or tree poisons, etc. Landowners are urged to make use of assistance available. Successful farming these days demands that every acre pay its way and forest acres are no exception.

FDR FILM SHOWING AT BEACH THEATER

Ten million FDR campaign buttons—more than the combined total ordered by the Nixon and Kennedy supporters—are moving into circulation throughout the country.

The buttons, however, are non-political. They show Ralph Bellamy in his starring role in "Sunrise at Campobello" as Franklin Delano Roosevelt a decade before FDR became President and carry only the title of the Warner Bros. Technicolor motion picture.

"Sunrise at Campobello" opens Wednesday at the Beach Theatre.

P.A. TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS

By LINWOOD HOLSEY

With increased emphasis on student participation in the overall operation of the school and its activities, a number of clubs were organized with the assistance of adult faculty members and Student Council representatives. The purpose of these clubs are to increase the pupils' efficiency so that they may acquire skills in many areas not covered by routine classes. With this in mind, we are going to give you the work and some of the progress of different clubs.

The Les Gourmets is a club designed to help students become familiar with the preparation of varied foods both foreign and domestic. After acquiring these skills, it is hoped that students may use these experiences in earning money and at the same time acquire poise, and dignity in the service of their skills. Their first experiment was boning and stuffing chicken breasts in the French manner.

Some of their future projects are to plan and serve a buffet, wedding reception, formal dinner, brunch, and birthday party. Mr. Gordon is the sponsor and Vera McCoy is President.

The National Association of Colored Girls have representatives from our school this year. A district meeting of the Association was held at the Huntington Branch of the YMCA in Norfolk, and district officers were elected. Three girls from our school were elected officers. Patrice Wilson, President; Porter Rainey, Vice-President; and Grace Russell, Treasurer. Mrs. L. H. Carter and Mrs. Alice A. Durgan are the sponsors of this organization from our school.

The Y-teens and Tri-Hi-Y are working hard to get money and gifts for needy families in the communities for Thanksgiving.

Mr. Patrick is sponsor of the Y-teens. Elected officers are Shirley Cason, President; and June King, Secretary. The Tri-Hi-Y officers are Ruth Harold, President; and Joan Harris, Secretary. The Tri-Hi-Y works trough the branch in Norfolk. Miss Walton is sponsor.

The Dramatic Club held its induction program on Friday. Miss Goodman, the sponsor has said it is her sincere hope that all prospective members will become permanent ones. She would like for more boys to take an active interest in drama.

The SportsClub organized with Charles Waike as President and Captain of the Tiger Football squad. Delois Johnson is Secretary. Their aim is to provide an activity in sports for all students. The Club will act as a booster club for all school sports, and it aims to develop more school spirit. Mr. Price and Mrs. Siler are sponsors.

The Drill Team for Boys and Girls has a total number of 69 members. Twice as many as anticipated joined the squad. Elimination will come later. The squad has been taught the basic fundamentals of close order drill. Dress has not been decided upon, but it will probably be the school colors. In the months to come they will be taught trick steps under the able direction of Mr. Woodhouse.

The Modern Dance club's officers are as follows: President, Joyce Harold; Secretary, Jesse Sydnor; and Treasurer, Debra Brown. The club started out with a Hawaiian dance. Miss Setzer and Mr. Goss are sponsors.

The New Homemakers of American's officers are President, Naomi Wright; Vice President Barbara Vickers; Secretary, Ethel Haynes; Treasurer, Aubrey Price; Reporter, Evelyn Willie.

The Student Council held an election on Tuesday, November 8, for the President of the United States. Earlier, students were given permission to hear Senator, now President Kennedy, speak at the Granby athletic field on Friday, November 4. The results of the election was Kennedy 463 and Nixon 65.

Student Council members have outlined their plans for the year. There are still phases which will have to be worked out with the faculty members.

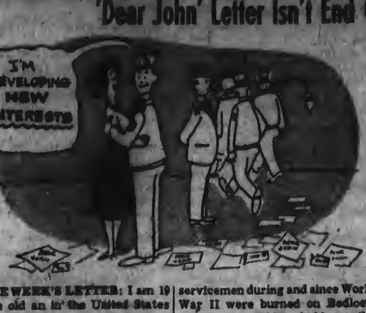
'Dear John' Letter Isn't End Of World



THE WEEK'S LETTER: I am 19 years old an in the United States Army (overseas). My problem is that I was going with this girl for three years and early this year I got a "Dear John" letter. A few months later, she married. Even though she is married, I still love her and can't get her off my mind. I tried going out with other girls, but I still think about her. My life is very miserable going on this way, so I write to you for advice.

OUR ANSWER: If all of the "Dear John" letters received by servicemen during and since World War II were burned on Bedloe's Island, you could probably see the glow in the sky as far away as Berlin.

What advice can we give? Except to forget about this girl. Thousands upon thousands of G.I.'s have had the same experience. With probably only a few rare exceptions, they made the "adjustment" in the due course of time.

The thing to do is develop new interests and forget the girl. It can be done. Make up your mind, once and for all, that it is all over, and probably "for the best." In future years, you will probably look back and be glad that it happened.

Find yourself a "pen pal" back home, if you don't already have one. Keep busy, at your army assignments and during off-duty hours. Every time you think about that "Dear John" letter, say to yourself, "So what, it's not going to get the best of me!" . . . and then forget about it.

Getting a "bad break" or a "raw deal," if you wish, happens to everyone once in a while. Such is life. We all make mistakes, too, from time to time. So what? It is no disgrace to make a mistake, or to be wrong about something. We make the mistake when we refuse to profit by it; when we worry about it and think about it, and wish it never happened. But, we can't bring it back and we only magnify its importance when we refuse to throw it out of our thoughts.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

STALLIONS RALLY AT BUSTER BOWL TO TAKE FT. STORY LL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Stallions defeated the Bobcats, 12-7, for the Little League Football championship at the "Buster Bowl held here last Saturday. Each team finished the regular season with a 5-1 record. Each team handing the other its only defeat.

Both teams were scoreless during the first period. In the second quarter, halfback Ross Killes, Stallion fleet halfback, capped a 40-yard march with an 11-yard scoring sprint to put the horses in the lead 6-0 at the half.

In the second half, halfback Billy Caban was the Bobcat big gun as he exploded for a touchdown run of 25 yards. Caban also added the extra point on a run to put the Cats aread 7-6.

Scatback, Scotty Richards, tallied for the Stallions second touchdown as he scampered around his left end to retake the lead 12-7.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game, the Bobcats were within the Stallion's 10 yard line, but the Stallion defense proved too tough to penetrate.

Stallion Coach Jimmy Sharder acted like the happiest man in the world as he shook hands with Bobcat Coach Charlie Gratten, who was also pleased with his team's showing. After the shake of hands, both coaches lead their teams to the snackbar for milk shakes.

The Fort Story NCO Club has invited the members of the four teams of the Little League to a "Players Dinner" on Thursday, 17 November, where Colonel William P. Pope, Commanding Officer of Fort Story, will present trophies to the two teams.

Malibu Owners Get 7-Point Service Program

What happens if you have difficulty in the dead of night during the cold winter.

Well is you live in a home built by the Terry Corporation, "relief is just minutes away." Terry home owners enjoy a Seven Point Program of Service provided by the builder which includes even such small (but very essential) items such as 24-hour heating service.

Other points of the program are just as important.

Here is the program:

1. Before a family moves in, steps are taken by the Terry Corporation staff of superintendents to see everything in the home including appliances, windows, etc., is in perfect working order and that the home is spotlessly clean.

2. After the family moves in, any complaints are given prompt attention by the sub-contractor involved. The sub-contractors have to guarantee the complaint has been satisfied.

3. A list is provided the new Terry home owner of all items within the home that need particular care plus instructions on how they are to be cared for.

4. A list of service organizations is provided each family for any emergency service. (Including the numbers for 24-hour furnace repair.)

5. The Terry Corporation provides a plan whereby families can accumulate savings towards covering total cash requirements for moving in, if needed.

6. Home owners become members of the Terry Club, which, from time-to-time, provides activities and incentives to its members.

7. A one year warranty is provided each home.

The ever growing Terry Corporation, now building in "Malibu" on Virginia Beach Boulevard, believes that programs such as these "Seven Points" are largely responsible for its public acceptance.

They point to the success to date with their four model homes at "Malibu" as testimony to this fact.

Insects and Disease Constant Problem to Trees in County

By R. J. BARTHOLOMEW

Insects and diseases attacking trees continue to be a problem whether the trees are found in the forest or as shade trees in residential sections.

Probably the most common of the insects causing serious damage in this area would be those classed as pine bark beetles. In forest areas these are capable of destroying large areas of pine timber, while in more urban areas, the beautiful pine shade trees are inviting targets for their activities.

Weather conditions are a big factor in the control of these pests and with plentiful rainfall, they are seldom serious over widespread areas. During drought periods theey sometimes multiply to vast numbers and often become epidemic, but more usually their attack is concentrated on single trees or groups of trees. Attacks are often encouraged innocently by landowners piling green pine firewood next to living trees, by failing to quickly remove lightning killed trees and by injuring woods through digging or filling in the area near the trunk. Any weakened trees, such as those uprooted by Hurricane Donna, are ideal for beetle activity.

Commonly known as "worms", these tiny insects bore tunnels or galleries between the bark and the wood. If present in large numbers, these overlapping tunnels are as deadly in girdling the tree as would be an axe cut. Presence of these borers can usually be detected by white masses of pitch around the entrance hole in the bark. One particular species known as the Turpentine beetle confines his attack to the lower 10 to 12 feet of the trunk, while the Southern pine beetle generally attacks in the middle trunk and lower limbs. Of most importance is that the landowner learn to recognize the presence of these beetles for their attack may sometimes move with amazing speed. When the first foliage of the top begin to turn brownish red, usually the damage has already been done and the tree will die.

The only chemical found to be effective against this type insect is benzene - hexachloride, also known as BHC. Ask for the 12% Gamma Isomer BHC at a chemical store or large feed store. If in the form of wettable powder, the proper proportion is ¼ lb. to 5 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil. Spray on the trunk of the tree until run-off occurs. If azaleas or valuable shrubs are present, it is best to mix the chemical with water, which will not injure nearby plants.

ON THANKSGIVING

"Being thus arrived in good harbor and brought safe to land, they fell upon their knees and blessed the God of Heaven, who had brought them over the vast and furious ocean, and delivered them from all the perils and miseries thereof, again to set their feet on the firm and stable earth . . ."

Thus did William Bradford, governor of the small colony at Plymouth, describe the landing of the Pilgrims. "They cried unto the Lord," said Bradford, "and He heard their voice, and looked on their adversity."

Shortly after, the Pilgrims made their Compact, which began "In the name of God, Amen." Half of the Pilgrims died that first winter of 1620, but when the time came in the spring for the Mayflower to return to England, not one of the survivors returned, and none wanted to.

Alan Villiers, captain of the Mayflower II which crossed the Atlantic to America in 1957, said the Pilgrims had "the hearts of lions." Their "strong faith in God," he said, "had 'planted' the firm foundations of such a settlement that flourished and grew, prospered, spread, and in due course, became a nation."

That same courage the Pilgrims found in blessing "the God of Heaven" inspires Americans of 1960. And nowhere can we give finer expression to the gratitude we can all feel for their example than in a House of God this Thanksgiving. As the Religion In American Life Program urges, "Find the Strength for Your Life . . . Worship Together This Week."

Yes, it's the week before Thanksgiving, 1960. Let us give thanks today and everyday.

For most people, the mere mention of Thanksgiving conjures up visions of a turkey feast. Turkey "belongs" in the Thanksgiving ritual today just as it did in the days of the Pilgrim fathers. However, we can count ourselves more fortunate than our hardy ancestors because the job of getting the bird to the table has been greatly simplified for us.

You may buy fresh or frozen turkeys, which ever you desire. You can even buy a "ready-stuffed" turkey.

If you choose a frozen turkey it is wise to purchase your turkey several days before Thanksgiving. It may be thawed in the refrigerator in its original moisture-proof wrapping, or you may leave it out on the kitchen table over night. Once thawed, do not refreeze. Complete directions on the label eliminate guesswork in preparation.

You can bake your "stuffing" in a casserole if you prefer, in fact I much prefer it. Your lefover turkey can be served again as the first time for you can bake an entirely new casserole of "stuffing" and heat the gravy and have a second turkey dinner for Saturday evening.

The day before Thanksgiving, take care of all possible preliminaries such as assembling dry ingredients for the stuffing. These can be kept in the refrigerator, ready to combine with water, broth or other moisture next morning. Comes the big day, remove the thawed turkey from its bag and carefully free legs and tail from the tucked position. The giblets, which are parchment wrapped and stuffed in the neck and body cavities should be removed as soon as possible and simmered 2 to 3 hours, or until tender. In fact, this is a good "day before" job.

If you plan to stuff the turkey, rinse it inside and out with cold water, then season the body and neck cavities and fill lightly with stuffing. A good rule-of-thumb is to alow about three-fourths cup of stuffing for each pound and you'll have no need for skewers or cord for trussing. Place the turkey breast side up on a rack in an open pan and roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until done to a triumphant golden glow. The cooking schedule is on the wrapper.

Undoubtedly you'll be faced with the "morning-after" problems of what to do with leftovers, so here's a good suggestion.

Unusual Hot Turkey Salad

3 cups diced cooked turkey
½ pound bacon
* cup sliced celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
* teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
2 pickles, chopped
1 hard-cooked egg, diced
1 cup mashed cooked potatoes (1 medium)
½ cup salad dressing
6 cabbage leaves

Cook bacon until crisp. Drain, reserving 2 tablespoons bacon drippings. Crumble bacon. Lightly toss together bacon, bacon drippings and all ingredients except cabbage leaves. Stir and heat thoroughly over low heat.

Cook cabbage leaves in boiling, salted water for 7 minutes or until tender. Drain. Serve a heaping spoonsful of hot salad in each cabbage leaf.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

When veterans or their survivors inquire of this office about nonreceipt of a check, please give us the full information—the veteran's name, his VA claim number, type of check, amount of check, current address of the beneficiary, and the month the missing check covers.

During this period in which the payment of all veteran's benefits is being transferred to the Automatic Data Processing Center at Chicago many checks are arriving late, or in incorrect amounts, or not at all. If we can have full information it will eliminate some of the preliminary steps which we have to take before we ca nsend the inquiry to Chicago.

This huge new automation center has been set in operation by the VA for the purpose of paying compensation and pension more rapidly and accurately and will save costs of $3 million a year. We find that there are fewer errors each month and its operation is being perfected, but real hardship continues to show up when the checks fail to arrive. We can help if you will let us know when your check is incorrect or missing.

THANKSGIVING DAY SERMON

(The following sermon is one delivered by Dr. W. L. Murphy 21 years ago on Thanksgiving Day in 1939 in the Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg, Virginia. It is published again in observance of Thanksgiving, 1960.)

This being the season of Thanksgiving, I am giving the sermon I preached at our union Thanksgiving services, in Williamsburg at Bruton Parish. This was my first year as minister of the Methodist Church in this historical city.

That crisp Thursday morning, every pew was filled in Bruton Parish, the balcony was crowded, and people were standing in the vestibule of the church.

Text: "In Everything Give Thanks." I. Thes. 5:18.

Thanksgiving Day is here again. It brings us as a nation for another opportunity to express our gratitude to God for His manifold mercies toward us.

Gratitude is not only a religious duty; but is also a spiritual privilege. The person who has nothing to be thankful for is in a sad plight.

Some one asked the question one day, "What is the chief requisite for a pessimist?" The answer was: "A forgetting memory." I am very thankful to God that our nation has a good memory. Therefore, today in our churches of this fair land, Christian people are gathered together to thank God for His many blessings which He has so abundantly given to us.

There is a pass in Scotland called Glencoe, which beautifully supplies an appropriate illustration of what the Christian should do. The road through Glencoe carries the traveler up a long steep ascent, with many a rounding and turning in its course. Finally you reach the grotesque Ben Arthur, after which you have passed several elevations, which you would think would be the last. Then you reach the mossy stone by the winding wayside, on which is engraved upon it, "Rest and be thankful." Sitting down in peace, you then then see the beauty about you, and you find yourself in prayer to God for such lovely scenery. So with us today. Thanksgiving Day is at the top of the pass where we stop, and be thankful. "In everything give thanks."

A father and his little six year old girl were walking down a country road one night, and Mary said, "O Daddy, I am going to count the stars." Mary was heard to count up to 223, 224, 225, 226, then she said, "O, Daddy, I did not know there were so many of them."

If you begin this morning to count your blessings and benefits which have been given to you, I am confident that you will be like little Mary about counting the stars—there are so many of them, you cannot count all of them.

The Swiss herdsmen on the Alpine slopes, as the sun goes down, each herdsmen blows his horn, "Praise ye the Lord." The whole mountain slope hears each herdsman horn of praise. So with us today, we send out our praises to our heavenly Father for many blessings which He has given to us.

Gratitude is the fairest flower that blooms in a Christian's life. You may have everything that life can give to you, and if your are not thankful to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, you are in a most deplorable condition.

The English word "thankful" comes from the Anglo-Saxon word, "Thinkful." When we stop long enough to think, think of the thousand blessings which have been given to us, we shall find ourselves in earnest prayer to God for all of His manifold blessings.

May we not enumerate a few of the blessings which we should thank God for. How about our creation. We are the higest and greatest of all which God has created? We are the kings and queens of the earth. All things are put under our supervision. Other animals die and are no more. We are eternal creatures. When we get tired and weary, God transfers us to a higher and better world.

How about this beautiful world in which we live? It is grand and lovely everywhere. Have you ever visited the charming Maderia Island? Even temperature all the time; and a land of sunshine and flowers. Someone who lived there for awhile, said that he had to leave there for awhile, said that he had to leave this ideal place, for he loved it so much that he feared some day he would not want to leave it for heaven.

Then take the Cornish Drive in France. Did you ever see such beauty and wonder? Look at beautiful Algiers in Africa, the minature Paris, which is a dream come true. Then visit Switzerland with her sublime places of sight seeing.

How about our own fair land with her majestic mountains and surging and rolling oceans?

Take our own Tidewater section where we live. Behold our wonderful harbors with their material advantages. Look at our beautiful Williamsburg where we live, with her glorification of Colonial days. How wonderful and beautiful!

We should be thankful for a land of plenty. We produce enough food to feed another 155,000,000 people. We can almost take care of the whole wide world with our food products and other resources.

You should visit other countries where there are people who never know what it is to get enough to eat. It just about breaks your heart to see those half-starved people in Europe, Asia, and Africa, and other parts of the world.

One day leaving the Garden of Gethesemane a poor, little emaciated woman, with a starving baby in her arms, said to me, "Will you please help me and my baby. We are so hungry." I gave her all the Palestine money I had, which was not as much as I should liked to have given to her. We put almost enough food in our garbage cans to feed a large portion of our starving world.

Do we thank God for our health and the right use of our facilities? We go into homes and hospitals where are those who are severly affilicted. One of my parishioner's who has been ill with anthritis for several years, and cannot feed herself, never complains, and is a real Christian.

When I was minister of our Central Methodist church, in Portsmouth, every morning there was a blind man, who, with his accordian, would play and sing some of the most wonderful hymns that I have ever heard. If these persons, with a number of others I could tell you about, could be thankful, surely those of us with good health should be profoundly grateful to God for good health and sound bodies and minds.

How about being kept from great accident? So many have been seriously injured in automobile accidents. This one thought of itself should make you very thankful.

We should thank God for our school, colleges and universities. It is possible for every one now, if he so desires, to become a graduate of some college.

We thank God for good books to read. It was Charles Lamb who said that he felt like saying grace three times each day over the books which was his privilege to read, just as he said grace over the food which he ate.

Andrew Carnegie was very fond of flowers. He had several acres in beautiful roses. One day the care taker went to Mr. Carnegie and said, "The people who come to see the flowers yesterday carried every flower away that was in bloom. There are no roses left in the garden to be placed in your home." Mr. Carnegie said, "Well, Donald, my people like roses. I want you to prepare two more acres of land and plant five thousand more rose bushes."

This is just like our kind heavenly Father in heaven. After we use up a great portion of the things that we receive from His bountiful land, He launches out and makes larger provisions for us.

Mr. Spurgeon once said, "Even a little chick never takes a drink of water without looking up and giving thanks."

William Shakespeare once wrote, "O Lord, that lends me life, lend me a heart replete with thankfulness."

In the language of the poet, may we not say:

"I am thankful for the summer,
with its blossoms and its bees,
I am thankful for the winter, with its bluster and its freeze;
I am such a thankful fellow that
I could not, if I tried,
Say whether I am more thankful for December or July.
Of course there are disappointments, and there is trouble more or less,
But I am so brimming over with the sweets of happiness,
I do not have to worry over the bitter things you see,
For the Lord just keeps me busy being thankful as I can be."

"Cultivate the thankful spirit. It will be to thee a perpetual feast. Bless God for starlight and He will give you moon light; praise Him for moonlight and He will give you sunlight. Thank Him for sunlight and He will bring you to the land where they need not the light of the sun, for the Lord God giveth them light forever and ever."

Thank God for service. There has never been a better hour than there is just now for whole-hearted service.

One day when I was minister at Chestnut Ave. Methodist church, Newport News, I called at a home where I had gone a good many times to see an ill woman. I had prayed with the person when I made my visits. This day, I per-

Princess Anne County Officials Reply To Annexation Criticism

Two Princess Anne County officials have issued sharp replies to Norfolk City Manager Thomas F. Maxwell's recent criticism of certain parts of the Virginia law on annexation.

Etheridge

One of the strongest replies was issued by County Treasurer V. Alfred Etheridge, who said of Maxwell's speech given at the National Conference on Government in Phoenix, Arizona.

"Mr. Maxwell will find that the annexation acts of 1952 were passed out of the Counties, Cities and Towns Committee of the Senate of Virginia which had seven city and four county senators. One of these was his own representative in the City of Norfolk. If he cares to criticize Sen. Baldwin's opinion in this matter that is entirely up to him."

Maxwell's speech reportedly used the 1959 Norfolk-Princess Anne County annexation case to illustrate what he termed the "most objectionable" feature of Virginia's "judicial" annexation statues.

He objected to the fact that a judge from a county under annexation fire is permitted to sit on the case. The judge is "a political figure of considerable importance (and) is naturally . . . inclined to resist any inroads on the county which he serves."

However, he praised that part of Virginia annexation law which bars voting on the issue:

"It is an orderly, judicial process which avoids petitions, voting of the city, voting of the areas to be annexed, and all of the confusion . . ."

Princess Anne County Executive Secretary Richard J. Webbon who holds the same post in the county that Maxwell does in the city, said: "If you remove the judiciary from annexation cases and you remove the vote of the people, you have nothing but a land grab by cities."

Webbon said Virginia "is one of the few states which doesn't permit persons in areas under the threat of annexation to decide for themselves by vote whether they want to join the city or stay under county government."

Both officials took sharp issue with Maxwell's "developments . . . are forcing upon the county demands for urban services which the county is not prepared to meet."

Etheridge said: "I know of no services which our residents are asking for which we are not able to give them. My contention is that we are giving them these services and doing it at a cheaper cost to them than if they were in the city. We have twice weekly garbage collections in the county, the same as in the city. I do not yield to the City of Norfolk in any comparison of our school system or the teacher salary bracket. We have a police force which is held in high esteem by everyone familiar with the operations. Insurance companies have held that we have adequate fire protection through our volunteers who are aided financially by the county."

County Building Growth Record Toppled In '60

Growing Princess Anne County, the pace-setter for Tidewater, has smashed its previous building permit record in the first 10 months of 1960.

Permits worth $32.4 million have been issued in the Jan. 1-Nov. 7, 1960 period, building inspector Edward M. Williams said Thursday. This figure exceeds by $5.5 million the 12-month 1959 total, which was a record.

"I'd say we've issued at least one million dollars worth of permits since Nov. 7," Williams said.

A compilation released by Builders and Contractors Exchange for the first 10 months of this year show a building permit total of $79,905,000 for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Norfolk County, South Norfolk, Virginia Beach and Princess Anne areas. Princess Anne is responsible for by far the largest single share.

In 1956, Williams was appointed the first full-time building inspector for Princess Anne. He is still the only man in his office. The value of building permits over the years has increased on the whole: 1956, $23,290,000; 1957 (the only decline), $19,400,000; 1958, $25 million. The 1959 figure jumped to $26 million despite the fact that Norfolk annexed 13.5 square miles and 38,038 persons on Jan. 1 of that year.

LOCAL MAN BEING HELD FOR JURY

A. Franklin Nicholson, Jr., owner of Nick's Soda Shoppe here, was ordered held for federal grand jury action by U.S. Commissioner Gilbert R. Swink, Jr., after a hearing last Saturday morning following a Friday raid that netted football parlay cards and cash.

Specifically Nicholson has been charged with failure to purchase an occupational wagering stamp, and failure to file and register a gaming establishment. He posted $1,000 bond.

Dividend Raise Is Announced

The Home Life Insurance Company, New York, has announced a 9% increase over the existing dividend scale for ordinary policies, stated Mr. James S. G. Davenport, Manager of the company's Tidewater, Virginia Agency. A record amount has been set aside for dividend payments during 1961.

"The increased dividend scale reflects higher interest earned on invested assets and streamlined business procedures," said Mr. Davenport. "In this way we are passing on to policyowners the important gains being made by Home Life."

The increase will be relatively large for older policies with substantial cash values. However, dividends in the early policy years, particularly under plans issued in smaller amounts and at younger ages, will be slightly reduced. In most cases, though, the average 20-year net annual outlay will be considerably improved.

Coupled with a larger volume of insurance in force, the proposed new scale would result in about a 15 percent rise in the amount of dividends to be paid next year. The dividend distribution on ordinary policies would be about $7,300,000, nearly triple the amount apportioned 10 years ago. Since then the dividend scale has been increased three times.

In other action Council approved a recommendation of the planning commission for a rezoning request made by J. C. Henry to erect multiple dwelling units on 15th street.

White Heron

New Motel-Marina Planned For Site Off Laskin Road

A group of Richmond investors has financed a $650,000 motel and marina complex on Laskin Road.

Bulkheading on Great Neck Creek has already been installed and piledriving has begun for a 60-unit luxury motel.

The marina, with 40 slips and room for 80 more, will be the largest near Virginia Beach.

Trickling Great Neck Creek has been dredged to 12 feet to serve the big yachts the owners hope will be drawn.

Officially behind the project is Pine Harbor Corp. whose president is Reid Ervin of Kirk Reid Co., Inc., contractors for the building.

Ervin said site work has been underway almost six months and foundation work began this month.

The motel and a private club annexed to it will be called White Heron. The club and a connected restaurant will share a kitchen. The property fronts 1,000 feet on Laskin road and 1,000 feet on the creek.

Club facilities will include three tennis courts and a swimming pool.

Pine Harbor Corp. hopes to cash in on next season by completing the project in mid-June.

Other officers of Pine Harbor are Carlyle Tille of Richmond, vice president, and Robert P. Buford Jr. of Richmond, secretary.

Ervin said the officers hold small interest in the corporation. The principal investors have remained in the background, he said.

State's Traffic Deaths Below High Mark of Year Ago

In spite of an October weekend that saw 17 traffic deaths in Virginia, the month ended with 66 deaths to preserve the downward trend they have taken during 1960, Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee and Superintendent of State Police, announced today.

The 66 deaths recorded exactly duplicated the score for October last year and this is the lowest October total since the 64 of October, 1956. As of October 31, Colonel Woodson noted, the 1960 toll stood at 606 to compare favorably with the 688 for the corresponding period of 1959. Traffic volumes are up about 2 percent for the year.

Col. Woodson was quick to point out that good fortune, rather than any revolutionary improvement in driver behavior, was the big factor in this reduction. During the first 10 months of 1960, Virginia saw 54 crashes which killed more than one person each for a total of 119 deaths. For the same period of 1959, there were 72 multiple fatal crashes killing 183 people.

"The same driver fault which causes a fatal crash," he said, "can bring the deaths of as many people as happen to occupy the involved vehicle or vehicles and who have no part in causing the crash."

Col. Woodson sounded a word of warning in describing November and December as very dangerous months trafficwise, with December averaging the highest toll of any month, and asked that everyone, walking and driving, keep this in mind.

CLUB WOMEN HEAR TALENTED MUSICIANS

The members of the Cape Henry Jr. Woman's Club were delightfully entertained last Wednesday evening by Mr. Denton and Mr. O'Brien of Rowe and Long Music Co.

Mr. Denton and Mr. O'Brien played many fine selections on the organ and members of the club joined in and sung Christmas carols.

The entertainment was arranged by Mrs. Robert Davis, and the meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ira Hubbard, at Lynnhaven.

Four visitors were welcomed, and one new member, Mrs. Earl D. Watters.

Food was collected to give a needy family for Thanksgiving, and clothing was sent to the Lynchburg Training Center, Lynchburg, Va.

The club is also having a raffle and proceeds will go to the Princess Anne Memorial Hospital.

A Mental Health Awareness Campaign was proposed for early in 1961.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, By C. D. Smith

What To Do About Being Bashful

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am a girl of 14 years. A boy and I like each other but the only thing that's wrong is that we are both so bashful that we hardly even speak to each other. I would like your advice on what we should do to get to know each other better and not be so bashful. How do we go about it? Who should make the first move?"

OUR ANSWER: According to the rules of the game, a boy should always make the first "move"—but this does not mean that it is wrong for a girl to be friendly. In fact, she should be.

A girl should not go around asking boys for dates. It isn't done. A smart girl won't do it . . . except, of course, when a school group or club to which she belongs has a party or get-together. Then it is right and proper that she ask a boy if he would like to go.

Bashfulness is not unusual among those in their early teens. It is generally the rule rather than the exception. It can be overcome by adopting a friendly attitude. Be friendly, assume that the rest of the world is too. This does not necessarily mean that we should go around saying "hello" to every stranger we meet, but instead that we have a smile and a friendly word for those with whom we come in contact with every day—in the neighborhood, or at school. Adopt a friendly attitude, a friendly outlook on life, and the world will meet you in the same fashion.

More to the point, we cannot see any reason for bashfulness between two young people who like each other. Usually when someone is "bashful" about letting a person know they like them the reason for bashfulness is fear that the feeling of friendliness may not be returned.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Danny and Tess took part in the Thanksgiving tableau at school last week, and they did a good job. As I looked at them, I thought of the real Pilgrim children and that first Thanksgiving.

Our forefathers weren't inoculated against childhood illnesses. They didn't have miracle drugs and warm clothes. They certainly didn't have more than they could eat. They faced incredible hardships, with no bright toys for special rewards, no candy bars. But they knelt down in the cold with their parents and gave thanks to God just for being alive.

Can we do less today? Can we possibly do less, this Thanksgiving, than go to Church and humbly give thanks to our Creator for His wonderful gift of life?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

VIRGINIA BEACH HI SCHOOL NEWS

By VIRGINIA PETTY and PAT WALLACE

The Magazine Campaign kick-off was on Thursday, the 17th, with an assembly in the auditorium, Mr. Duberry, representative from Curtis Publishing Co., gave an introduction to the audience about the prises offered and our goal for this year. Mr. Johnson announced that the names of last year's top three salesmen, Randy Zehmer, Tommy Tarkenton, and Pete Holt, are listed in the Curtis honor list of high salesmen. Each person whose name appears in this catalogue must have sold at least one hundred dollars worth of magazine subscriptions.

This year's campaign, from November 17th to December 2nd, will be to raise funds for chorus robes, a French horn for the band, library and audio visual equipment. The goal for this year is $15,000. In other words the students need to sell at least $5,000 worth of subscriptions.

Prizes offered are a clock radio, movie projector, movie camera, watches, and two burner camping stoves. These will go to the high salesmen.

The high homeroom will be exempt from late homeroom. If it is a senior homeroom, a party will be given for them. Last year's high homeroom was Mrs. Darst.

The school is divided into two teams, the Pirates and the Bulldogs. The captain and sponsor of the Bulldogs are Diane Abbot and Mr. Gook; captain and sponsor of Pirates are George Chappell and Mr. King.

S.C.A. officers placed small stuffed dogs in homes in the community. Students who sell magazines in these homes will get to keep the dogs. Each day a person's name is drawn, and if he has sold a magazine, he may put his hand in the gold fish bowl, which contains money. The high salesman also receives a bag of candy and money. Every person in the high homeroom who has sold a magazine that day receives a bag of candy.

Virginia Petty and George Chappell, two Virginia Beach High School seniors, have been chosen by the Norfolk Junior Optomist Club as outstanding students in the Senior Class. They will be competing with seniors from other Tidewater schools for merit awards. The selections are based on scholastic ability, extra curricular activities and leadership.

Miss Petty is the editor of the "Beachcomber", the high school newspaper. She was also a delegate to the Southern Interscholastic Press Assn. and is a member of the Quill and Scroll. Virginia was tapped for membership into the Beta Club last year and is secretary of the club this year. In her junior year she was vice-president of her homeroom and president of the Deftera Tri-Hi-Y. She was also selected as a delegate to Girls' State. Chosen by the students as a Senior attendant to the Beach Bowl Queen, a sophomore and a Junior attendant to the Surf Queen, she has disproved that "beauty and brains do not mix." Virginia also plays the piano for the school chorus, sings alto in the girls' chorus, is president of the chorus, a member of the mixed choir and the "Teentones."

George is the Seahawk's quarterback and co-captain. By his sophomore year he was a member of the varsity basketball and baseball teams. He was also the tenth grade class president. Last year as a junior he was class treasurer. George is a member of the Amicitia Hi-Y and the Monogram Club and although he is president of the Wheel Club he still finds time to serve as sports editor of the "Beachcomber." Chosen as a delegate to Boys' State, he spent two weeks at VPI College this past summer.

These students will be guest of the Junior Optomist Club on Sunday, November 20. They are both very outstanding students and Virginia Beach High is proud to have them represent us.

The Junior Civitan has added several new members this year. The club now numbers 36. They are Frank Blanchard, Betty Wright, David Tiller, John Dickens, Cindy Hansborough, Charlie McDowell, Jimmy Gregory, Nant Coleman Swertsfeger, Charlene Norton, Pam Sheridan, Roddy McDowell, Paula Scarborough, Buddy Coppedge, Jimmy Capps, John Alphin, Bill Rapp, "Bim" Grimstead, Kitty Bosher, Garland Wood, Mary Kay Newcomb, Matt Tynes, Elaine Zegan, Vic Vanture, Bill Reuger, Jeff Russell, Louise Rainey, Tobe Falconer, Otto Seamons, Mary Lou Jard, Arthur Slaughter, Annie Kitchin, Darla Sue Deskins, Pam Folck, Marian Wood, Touey Snyder, and Laura Ketsules. For the last two years the Junior Civitan of Virginia Beach High School has been awarded the "Outstanding Club Award" by the district.

The newly formed Wheel Club has taken as its first project of the year, the raffling off of a turkey. The purpose of the raffle is to obtain money to purchase pins for the incoming members. The tickets are two for a quarter. The winner will be announced on Wednesday, November 23.

Virginia Beach High School Juniors and Seniors attended College Night at Princess Anne High School on November 14. Forty-seven colleges and universities were represented there. College Night is an annual occasion sponsored jointly by both schools and held alternately at each school. This is a great help to students in choosing a college because it enables them to get first hand information about the various colleges.

Pam Folck, an outstanding member of the Junior Class, has recently been selected as the 1960-61 co-captain of the cheerleaders.

In the ninth grade she was freshman attendent to the Surf Queen.

As a sophomore she was again chosen as attendant to the Surf Queen.

A member of the Virginia Beach High School chorus for the past two years, she has served as chorus librarian for these years.

Pam was a member of the Dramatics Club and is now a Junior Civitan.

This year she was one of the Junior Class attendants to the Beach Bowl Queen.

We wish Pam the best of luck in her new job as co-captain.

With the 1960-61 football season coming to an end we would like to express our appreciation to the graduating seniors on the team. They are George Chappell, who is in this third year of varsity football and is co-captain and quarterback; David Jones, co-captain of the team and a starting end, this is his fourth year of varsity play; Pat Ricks, starting halfback and a third year man; Elliott Bridges, has played three years and is a guard; George Alcorn, a starting end and is playing for his third year; Richard Grimstead, fullback; Frank Blanchard, a guard and in his third year of football; Bob Courain, a fullback and the first senior over the goal post this year when he made two touchdowns in the Holland game; Bob Bosher, plays end; Bill Rapp, center; Timmy Smith, tackle; and Russell Ramsey, tackle. Friday was declared Green and White day in honor of the last game of the Seahawks.

Pat Hall, an alumna of Virginia Beach High School is now attending Mary Washington College. She has been chosen as vice-president of the Freshman Class and Queen of the Ruritan Bowl game.

Kip Moore, a graduate of 1958, has been selected as a cheerleader at Duke.

By LINWOOD HOLSEY

The Princess Anne Tigers held their pre-Thanksgiving classic football game on Friday night, November 18, playing the Crestwood Bombers, on the Princess Anne Athletic field. A gala half-time show was put on by Crestwood's band, the Princess Anne Drill Team, and our own band.

With Friday being our last game, the Tigers are practicing for a season of hard competition in the Group I VIA District. Mr. Goss the varsity coach said that Albert Shaw, Elbert Knight, Howars Smith, Bernest Munden, Osie Parson, Roy Sykes, Leon Fitzerald, Caly Freeman, James Wilson, Richard Smith, Edward Mosley and James Woodhouse look very good. This year looks very good with these old members and new prospects..

The Tigers will lose some of their football players next season. Those graduating and leaving the team are Charles Walke, Captain, 235 pound tackle; Fred Cross, 220, tackle; Albert Shaw, 170, end; Percell Gregory, end; Bernard Greene, quarterback; Norman Cuffee, guard; Irvin Gary, center; William Cherry, end; Robert Woodhouse, center; Dennis Goffigan, center; and Herman Lawton, halfback.

Along with the team, the school will long for the superior cheering of the Seniors who are leaving. Those leaving in June are Mary Henry, Capt.; Linwood Holsey, Co-capt.; Maud Uzzle, Deloris Jefferson, Cora J. Wilson, Ethel Haynes, Edward Mosley, John Hardy and Stella Harding. The Cheering Squad nevertheless will cheer at some of the basketball games.

A game was played between the old veterans of the Princess Anne Team and the members of the varsity this year. This game was played Wednesday night as a pre-Thanksgiving basketball game. The game began at 8:00 o'clock.

Majorettes leaving are Sylvia Parker and Joyce Harold, who had a year of gala events. Participating in many of the Homecoming parades and football games, they will give their final debut on Monday, November 21, in Carver's Homecoming parade. We salute Joyce and Sylvia for giving such a splendid performance in their four years participating in the band.

GARDEN CLUB GIVES TO STATE HOSPITAL

The November meeting of the Whispering Pines Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. R. F. Coulthard, 615 21st St.

As part of the years therapy program the club will give $10.00 to the Council of Garden Clubs for the new beautification project "shade tree" for the grounds of the new buildings of the Eastern State Hospital.

Mrs. Gilbert Tatman spoke on winter shrubbery for the seashore area and demonstrated with many shrubbery clippings which she brought from her own yard. She said that herbs make lovely borders and have the added attractions of fragrance and may also be used for garnishing.

Blue ribbons were awarded to Mrs. R. F. Coulthard, Mrs. N. C. Edge and Mrs. S. W. Ferguson.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

A Fine Public Servant Retires

Words of praise flowed in abundance Monday at the meeting of the Virginia Beach City Council and to those who have lived and worked in Virginia Beach for any length of time could readily understand. The praise came from members of the council and they were said about Roy Smith, veteran city attorney, who tendered his resignation from the city post after serving 20 years.

Smith

In all Roy Smith served this city continuously in its government for the past 26 years. He served as Virginia Beach mayor from 1934 until 1940. It was in 1940 that he was appointed city attorney and he has served in that post faithfully since that time. He will actually continue to serve until November 30, the effective date of his resignation.

Mr. Smith served this city during a time of great expansion and progress and he was called on many, many times for legal decisions and opinions in complex matters brought on by wars and post-war population growth. As was pointed out by City Manager W. Russell Hatchett Monday Mr. Smith usually gave wise counsel and his decisions always proved correct.

With Mr. Smith's resignation the city is losing an able attorney and friend. It is nice to know that he will still be available and his friendship and counsel will be a welcome asset in the affairs of the city he loves so much.

Roy Smith has been a truly dedicated public servant and the city can be proud of the contribution of time and thought he has given throughout the years.

Thanksgiving Message

The following Thanksgiving message was prepared at our request by the Rev. Charles O. Kidd, Pastor of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church.

"While I would fain have some tincture of all the virtues, there is no quality I would rather have, and be thought to have, than gratitude. For it is not only the greatest virtue, but even the mother of all the rest."

Marcus Lullius Cicero
106-43 B.C.

Thanksgiving! For What?

The other day I heard a person say as he looked up from the daily paper, "There isn't much in that to be thankful for." I was arrested by this statement for while I am fully aware of the kind of world we live in, I am not unaware of a multitude of things for which we can and should be devoutly thankful. I list several with the sincere prayer that they may stimulate an atmosphere of Thanksgiving.

There can hardly be an American who has not become aware, through the solicitation of some institution, of the plight of the hungry and destitute million of the world. To live in a country where God has so richly blessed the efforts of industreous husbandmen with a plenteous increase sufficient not only for our needs but for the needs of millions beyond our land. Where the stocks of food markets spill over onto the sidewalk and doors are open in some instances 24 hours a day, and where individual ownership of homes is at an all time high, to live in such a country ought to provoke us to expressions of gratitude.

In such tumultuous times as the present, when so great a part of the world is in a state of civil war, unsubordination and anarchy, and torn by bloody internal divisions, to be favored by a divine providence with the privilege of uninterrupted order and tranquility is a blessing which ought to be recognized with gratitude.

This is a blessing with which we have beeen favored. We have just ended the most strenuous campaign for the presidency in history. A difference in political and religious opinions were obvious. Party zeal and animosity have in some instances marred our relations, prejudices too often have blinded the eyes of the mind against the perception of the truth. But, we can still thank God that in America these differences do not burst the bonds of society and rage in civil war and bloodshed.

The state of the national health due to the progress of medical research, the freedom of speech and assembly guaranteed by constitutional law, the sheer joy of being alive in such a time as this with the marvelous opportunities of this modern age, these I submit are worthy of our deepest expressions of gratitude for they reflect the generous gifts of a divine Providence.

Musical Revue Is Colorcast As Thanksgiving Day Special

No Place Like Home, a full-hour musical revue special starring Jose Ferrer, Rosemary Clooney, Dick Van Dyke and Carol Burnett, will be colorcast on Channel 10, WAVY TV Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 24 from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The light-hearted revue will examine man's attempts to make a better home for himself. With songs, dances and sketches, the four stars will spoof, in friendly fashion, the foibles of man through the ages, as he has kept up with the Joneses, been taken in hand by generation after generation of determined decorators, and still emerged singing "Home Sweet Home."

Composer Mary Rodgers and lyricist Marshall Barer, whose combined talents were responsible for the score of the Broadway musical "Once Upon a Mattress," have written original material for the special colorcast.

The title melody, "No Place Like Home," with sprightly sophisticated lyrics to be sung by the four stars is their first contribution.

The second song the young composer and her partner have done, is a catchy tune called "Something Special" which praises the qualities to be found in the home of a suburban couple. The song is given a ballad treatment by Miss Clooney and her real-life husband, Jose Ferrer. Then the tempo is changed to a brisk march and Van Dyke, Miss Burnett and six dancers step lightly to the strains. Their antics illustrate the words: "There is no castle in creation so delightfully unique, as our cozy combination of Italian, English, Spanish ranch style, early Cape Cod Greek." A long row of identical houses in a modern suburban housing development provides the setting for both the song and the dance.

BEACH SCREEN TO SHOW ITALIAN FILM

"Where the Hot Wind Blows", starring Gina Lollobrigida, will open at the Beach Theater Sunday and will continue through Tuesday.

The movie is a fiery, intensely dramatic tale of lust and intrigue in a Sicilian fishing village. It is based on a best-selling novel, "The Law". The picture was written for the screen and directed by the famed Jules Dassin.

The cast is entirely foreign and the film is judged one of the better European movies.

ELVIS MOVIE AT BEACH NEXT WEEK

Elvis Presley comes to the Beach Theatre screen next week in his latest movie, "G.I. Blues", which will open on Wednesday, November 30.

This film marks a return to the screen for Presley after his two-year military service in Europe. In the movie he is not the hip-swinging Presley of old and he does not wear the long sideburns.

The picture has plenty of lively music, some excellent dancing and funny comedy moments. The movie has been given an excellent rating by critics.

Here Are Questions And Answers About The Princess Anne County Memorial Hospital

1. Who will own the hospital?

This General Hospital will be owned by the residents of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach. The present Commissioners were appointed by the Supervisors of Princess Anne County and the City Council of Virginia Beach charged with the duty to select a site and to build a general hospital to serve the residents of the area.

2. Is it operated for a profit or is it a non-profit hospital?

Non-profit.

3. Are gifts to the hospital deductable from federal and state income taxes?

Yes.

4. Has this venture been endorsed by any medical association?

Yes. When first proposed the doctors in the area endorsed the plan to build the hospital. P.A. County Medical Society endorsed in 1959. During October of 1960, 20 doctors endorsed it personally and their names were published in the Ledger-Star and the Virginia Beach papers.

5. Is the hospital designed to be self supporting?

No. It will need to be financed as are other non-profit general hospitals—thru fees, thru gifts from individuals and organizations and by allocation from United Communities Fund.

6. Is the hospital for use by white residents or by all residents?

It is anticipated that the hospital will receive a grant under the Hill-Burton Act. One of the provisions of such a grant is that there be no discrimination in a hospital receiving such a grant.

7. Who are the directors?

1. Dr. Ira Hancock, Chairman
2. Frank Kellam, Vice Chairman
3. Frank Tarrall, Treasurer
4. R. J. Webbon, Secretary
5. John Aragona
6. A. L. Bonney
7. Mrs. Alta Griffin
8. Walter Maher
9. Samuel Jones, Sr.

8. To whom does the word "memorial" refer?

1. The fund raising campaign provides for an opportunity for individuals and/or business firms to place a placque on a room or facility in momory of an individual, firm, club, etc.

2. By terms of the will of the late Mr. James Guzzy, Virginia Beach hotel man, his estate of well over $125,000 has been given to the hospital to provide for a Guzzy memorial wing.

9. What leading citizens have endorsed this project?

1. All Garden Clubs in the area.
2. All Woman's Clubs in the area.
3. All Home Demonstration Clubs in the area.
4. 20 of the County Physicians.
5. 11 of the County Churches.
6. Civitan, Exchange, Kiwanis, Rotary, Shrine, Ruritan and Sports Club.
7. 11 Volunteer Fire Departments
8. 12 Civic Leagues
9. Over 200 individuals.

10. Is this hospital endorsed by Civic Clubs, which ones?

See answer to 9 above.

11. Where is the hospital to be built?

At Princess Anne Plaza, about 2 blocks south of Virginia Beach Boulevard (Route 58).

12. What will be the size of the hospital?

100-120 beds.

13. Is there room for expansion at present site?

Yes. We have been given almost 16 acres, 56 building lots. This will be ample for present and forseeable future needs for the hospital and for parking.

14. Has the hospital actual possession of the site?

Yes. The deed to the property was given to Dr. Ira Hancock by Mr. John Aragona. The deed is registered at Princess Anne Courthouse in the name of Princess Anne County Memorial Hospital.

15. Is personnel available to staff the hospital?

Yes. A great many doctors have already asked about practicing in the hospital. Several x-ray and laboratory technicians have expressed interest in coming to us. We believe we will have many advantages to offer to nurses serving here.

16. When will the hospital be started and completed?

It is expected that a start can be made in the early spring of 1961 and that the hospital will be ready to start serving the area about a year later.

17. What is "Hill-Burton Matching Funds?"

Under the federal bill, called the Hill-Burton Act, the government is encouraging the building of new hospitals by providing free grants for construction. The law allows up to 55% of cost to be given from these federal funds. By "Matching Fund" is meant that the federal grant matches or equals, the total amount suscribed by the public. Usually the grant is a smaller percentage for remodeling than a new building.

18. Will donations be refunded if a hospital is not built?

Yes.

19. Is this hospital going to be so fully equipped that doctors will want to send their patients there?

Yes. The hospital will be so constructed, equipped, and staffed that it will meet all the requirements of accreditation by the American Hospital Association.

20. Why does Princess Anne need a general hospital,

1. The population of the present boundaries is:

	1960	1950
Va. Beach	7,966	5,390	47.8%
P.A. County	76,264	29,138	161.7%

2. Population is increasing at about 1,000 per month now.

3. There is no general hospital in the area.

4. Using 4.5 beds needed per 1,000 population, the area needs right now 378 beds.

5. Distances from any spot in the County to Princess Anne County Memorial Hospital, will be less than going into Norfolk, thereby:

A. Saving valuable time for the patient, the doctor and family visitation periods.

B. Getting seriously sick and/or injured to the hospital without delay due to long travel and to traffic congestion.

21. What services will be provided?

All service usually offered by a complete general hospital—both in-patient and out-patient care—with in-patient care being equally divided among surgical, medical and obstetrical cases.

Is a hospital needed in Princess Anne County?

	Population of Area		Beds
	1950	1960	Needed
Nfk.	260,354	276,897	1246
S. Nfk.	20,806	21,830	98
Va. Beach	5,390	7,966	36
Nfk. Coun.	29,819	51,653	232
PA County	29,138	76,264	343
Totals	345,507	434,610	1955

Present Boundaries were used for all areas. 4.5 beds per 1000 standard used for "Beds Needed."

	Number of Beds
De Paul	310*
Leigh	183*
Norfolk Community	115*
Norfolk General	400*
Totals Beds	1008
Virginia Beach (Private)	40

*Number of Beds given by Hospitals over phone, Nov. 17, 1960.

On the basis of the 1960 Census as compared with the number of beds available today, the area is short over 900 beds. If, as has been suggested, the area has all the Hospital Beds needed, it would indicate that almost one-half of the entire population of the entire area is entitled to use the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth.

With the tremendous increase in population in the County and Virginia Beach in the past 10 years and with the indications of continued growth, there can be no doubt that there is a present need for a General Hospital in Princess Anne County.

Sermon

ceived that the ill one would hardly be in this world but a few more days, I asked her, if she was ready to leave his world. She said to me, "When you first started to visit me, I was not a Christian, and was not prepared to die, but your visits, with your prayers and interest in my salvation, have brought me to God, and I feel in my soul, if God should call me today that all is well, and I would go home to heaven." I was made to feel very happy to know that God had used me in this woman's salvation.

There are thousands who need us in many ways, and we should be thankful to our kind heavenly Father that we can render service which will bring joy and peace to the hearts of many burdened souls.

Thanks For Everything

"For all that God in mercy sends;
For health and children, home and friends,
For comfort in the time of need,
For happy thought and holy talk,
For guidance in our daily walk,
For everything give thanks.
For beauty in this world of ours,
For verdant grass and lovely flowers,
For song of birds, for hum of bees,
For refreshing summer breeze,
For hill and plain, for streams and wood,
For the great ocean's mighty flood,
For everything give thanks.
For sweet which comes with night,
For the returning morning's light,
For the bright sun that shines on high,
For the stars glittering in the sky,
For these and everything we see,
O, Lord, our hearts we lift to thee.
For everything give thanks."
The Lord bless thee and keep thee:
The Lord make his face to shine
upon thee:
The Lord lift up his countenance
upon thee,
and give thee peace. Amen.

A unique new home building and remodeling idea service is now available to the residents of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County.

Better Homes and Gardens Magazine announced today that Bill MacDonald's Virginia Beach Lumber and Supply Co. is now operating a Better Homes and Gardens Idea Center in this area.

The Idea Center is designed specifically for the family that is looking for a fresh approach to building a new home or remodeling its present one. By opening the idea center, Virginia Beach Lumber on Birdneck Road becomes an idea stimulating place in which a person may browse and window shop for the latest concepts in new home designs, modern home improvement ideas, and how to do it methods for doing the work himself.

A new 144-page book is found on the display unit. This book, "Better Homes and Gardens Portfolio of ideas for your Home" offers 40 pages of new home designs, many of the well-known books and publications are part of the center. The decorating book, handyman's book and garden book are placed prominently for ready reference.

Additional reference material, in the form of five better homes and gardens idea publications, is also available. These include the home furnishing ideas, home building ideas, home improvement ideas and five-star home plans.

Bill MacDonald has this to say: "Families want advice and ideas when they visit a building material store. We believe the better homes and gardens idea center will give them what they want."

Macy's Annual Thanksgiving Day Parade On Channel 10

The stars of NBC-TV's popular western series, "Bonanza," will be among the celebrities taking part in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, set for network colorcast on Thursday, November 24, on WAVY-TV, Channel 10.

The full-hour program, marking the 34th year of the famous New York holiday parade, will be seen at 11 a.m. It will feature thousands of marchers, top movie and TV stars, four giant balloons, 17 striking floats, 12 championship bands, animals and clowns.

The "Bonanza" stars — Lorne Greene, Dan Blocker, Michael Landon and Pernell Roberts — will appear on horseback. Other notables include Shirley Jones, who will reign over a float depicting a typical Mexican scene; Jo Morrow, appearing on a "Gulliver's Travels" float; and six-year-old David Korney riding in the cockpit of a 22-foot outer-space rocket. David plays the comic strip character, Dondi, in the forthcoming Allied Artists picture.

The parade's four balloons include Gorgeous Gobbler, a cheerful turkey weighing 305 pounds and measuring 45 feet from head to foot; the famous Observation balloon, 28 feet in diameter and 33 feet high; and Popeye the Sailor, standing a full 56 feet high. New this year is a 70-foot dragon, which waggles his tail and requires two dozen men to hold him down. The balloons were made by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

Also appearing in the parade are the members of the Radio City Music Hall Ballet Company. They will ride a 35-foot float featuring a 10-foot high Christmas tree made up of 15 girls seated on tiered platforms. There will be an ice-skating rink at the foot of the tree. When the Music Hall float passes the NBC color cameras in Herald Square, 36 Radio City Rockettes will dance out on Broadway and put on a special show for TV viewers.

Still another highlight will be the New York City Center Light Opera Company, appearing on a 30-foot paddle wheel showboat. All on board will be dressed in antebellum costumes and will sing songs from the Kern-Hammerstein hit, "Showboat."

Music will be provided by 12 championship bands, each featuring from 56 to 144 marchers.

An additional parade feature will be a gas light float carrying out a "barber shop quartet" theme. A 36-man chorus of quartets will ride the gas-light equipped float, which will be drawn by two coal black horses.

The climax of the parade, as in the past 33 years, will be the arrival of Santa Claus on his "First trip from the North Pole" for the new Christmas season. Santa will arrive complete with sleigh and reindeer on a huge glittering float.

Other floats will depict favorite nursery rhymes. They will include "Little Miss Muffet," "The Cow Jumped over the Moon," "The Owl and the Pussy Cat" and "Four and Twenty Blackbirds." "Jack in the Box," "Rocking Horse" and two fun house floats with surved mirrors that make the onlooker appear fat or thin will round out the assemblage of floats.

Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade will be sponsored for the sixth consecutive year by Ideal Toy Corporation and for the second year by the Lionel Corporation. Grey Advertising Agency, Inc. represents both sponsors.

VEE BEE CHATTER

By THE SCOOPERS

Here we are for the first and we hope not the last time bringing you the latest scoope at Virginia Beach High.

Do you need parking space? The parking space around the school area is quite bare, now that the first report cards have come out.

The annual magazine campaign is well underway. Terrifice prizes are being offered to the super campaign salesman. The school was divided into two teams; the Bulldogs and the Pirates. At this moment they are running neck and neck. As the campaign opened the first prize given was the choice of a turkey or $9.00. George Chappell won the prize and took the money.

Thirty-two members of the Junior and Senior class will be tapped in a candlelight ceremony on Tuesday morning of November 22. Mrs. Margaret Jeter, Asst. Principal will install the Beta Club officers and Mr. Elmer Tarrall, Asst. Supt. of Public Schools will be the guest speaker and wil talk to the new members on "The Importance of Maintaining Good Grades." Sara Killen, President of the Beta Club, will instruct the new members on their part in tomorrows leadership. The four elected officers will give a talk on "The Values of Leadership, Character, and Scholarship. As the programs ends all old and new members will light a candle from the master light and sing the Beta Club Song.

Future Teachers of America members who attended the convention in Richmond were: Tarrall Brennan, Joanne Waters, Lynn Black, and Donna Berkley.

At the Thanksgiving assembly the Boy's, Girl's, and the Eighth Grade Chorus' will sing: "One God", "America the Beautiful", and Prayer of "Thanksgiving." Miss Faye Coppege, a graduate of V.B.S. in 1960, will sing a solo. Miss Linda Williamson, a graduate of V.B.S. in 1958, will accompany the Chorus on the piano.

The Annual Staff has sent off its first deadline material, and is working hard to meet its next deadline. We think this year's annual will be the best yet.

This weeks' personality:

If you were to hear the name "Jay" at V.B. you would know we were talking about Gay Riera, a brown haired, green eyed senior. She says her plans for the future is to attend Mary Washington College. We wish her the best of luck in the future.

LYNNHAVEN AFRICAN VIOLET

The Lynnhaven African Violet Society voted to contribute to The Princess Anne Memorial Hospital building fund. Members will also canvas their community for the building fund.

Mrs. C. W. Diggs told the members how to increase the humidity in their homes during the winter months. This factor is most important in growing show plants.

Ribbon winners were Mrs. R. J. Bashford, Mrs. Paul Tower, Mrs. C. L. Hurshberger, Mrs. J. S. Speight, Mrs. R. W. Sharpley, and Mrs. Frances Diggs.

BISHOPS ANNUAL CLOTHING DRIVE

He also reported that work is progressing on schedule at the company's Portsmouth and Possum Point Power Stations, where, at each station, a new 200,000 kilowatt generating unit is under construction. Both units are scheduled for completion in 1962.

The company has started work on a 200,000 kilowatt hydroelectric generating station on the Roanoke River in North Carolina. Site preparation for excavation and construction is underway. Located about eight miles upstream from the company's present Roanoke Rapids Hydro Station, the $50,000,000 project is scheduled for completion in [illegible].

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

The Milky Way Tragedy

Chub Jackson, the town's only milkman, tells us he missed on an important delivery the other day.

Up way before dawn, Chub went busily about his daily rounds. Three quarts of milk for Mrs. Anderson, a gallon of milk for the Fishers, and so on.

Finished with his deliveries, Chub pulled the empty truck up to his front door. "What would you like for breakfast?" called his missus. "A big bowl of cereal with cream," answered Chub. "Sorry, dear," said Mrs. Jackson, "the milkman passed us by today."

From where I sit, it's wonderful the way folks forget themselves to do things for others. My neighbors are like that. When I have supper with them, they always serve my favorite foods and my favorite beverage—beer! They drink tea themselves, but they're happy to accommodate my preference. If we all accepted each other's right to have preferences, we'd never "milk" our friendships dry.

Humidity Is Area Problem

Humidity in the Tidewater area is a problem twelve months of each year. Winter, summer, spring or fall, the moisture problem is always with us, especially if we are home owners. Most of the time the problem is too much humidity, but surprisingly enough, insufficient moisture can be a definite health hazard also, and can cause even more personal discomfort than high humidity. In the spring and summer when the windows and doors are open and outside air contains a high percentage of moisture, the only positive method of controlling the humidity is by mechanical means, such as: de-humidifying machines or air conditioning. In the fall and winter, heating of homes may create additional moisture problems. This is brought about by several basic physical facts. First, warm air will hold a greater percentage of water than will cold air. Second, a greater differential in temperature exists between interior and exterior air. Some examples emphasizing these points are: sweating windows and the fogging of eye glasses on a person entering a warm moist area from outside where the air was colder.

We, at Planters Chemical, have made a study of conditions in this area and have been quite successful, in a number of instances, in correcting moisture problems. Space does not permit giving this subject the detailed discussion it deserves as there are such a wide variety of evaluated on its own merit and recommendations made accordingly.

A study by Purdue University, showed that a family of four generate about 6½ gallons of moisture every 24 hours, merely by breathing, cooking and going through the routine of living. This, in itself, is not too excessive when distributed throughout the thousands of cubic feet in a living quarters. However, when this is added to the moisture which may evaporate off the soil surface in the crawl space below in a dwelling, there is enough total moisture to cause problems. The finer the soil particle, the greater the problem. Depending on temperature, ventilation, insulation and other factors, there may be as much as 19 gallons of water per 1,000 square feet of soil surface added to the space in the living quarters each 24 hours. As a comparison, soil ,in the Bird Neck Point area, where tight clay is found (much to the sorrow of the septic tank people), may approach the maximum. While under the same conditions of temperature, etc., sandy soil can be expected to produce about 50% less moisture by evaporation.

Quite often, installation of a soil vapor barrier, on the soil surface in the crawl area, may correct this cold weather moisture problem, in other cases; it may be necessary to correct drainage, fill in low areas or install additional ventilators. Also, care must be exercised in planning corrective measure so as not to cause another problem by making a living quarters too dry.

Following is a list of a number of Bulletins in reference to this subject which may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C.:

Saving Steps Key to Value In Modern House Building

Saving steps for the housewife is the key to success in home building. At least that is the idea behind the new Terry Corp. homes at Malibu.

Kitchens, especially, and floor and room arrangements of all four homes have been designed for the ease of the housewife and easy access to all rooms.

One of Terry's ranch homes, "The Coral" has been so designed that the housewife can go from the kitchen to any room in the house without going through the living room.

Terry's other ranch "The Polynesian" has a living room so large and so designed that part of it can be used for informal dining or as a "music corner" for hi-fi or stereo enthusiasts.

The kitchens in the four Terry Malibu homes have all been built for finger-tip control. Formica tops cover the service areas, there are double-sinks and eye-level wood cabinets.

Other Terry models include the "Sea-Star," a tri-level home and the "Beachcomber," a Cape Cod. Price range is from $12,500 to $14,700.

Malibu is located on the North side of Virginia Beach Boulevard half-way between Norfolk and Va. Beach. Larasan Realty Corp., Realtors is the Terry Corporation's Sales Agent.

BBB Warns of Holiday Sales Featuring Bargains

"Want to buy some real good perfume? Sells for $18.50 a bottle. I'll let you have it for $3.00"

If you run into that sales pitch at the office, at your plant or even on the sidewalk, "Look Out!", Charles A. Martak, Manager of the Tidewater Better Business Bureau stated today, in warning of Holiday Perfume and Cologne Promotions.

Some of the schemes used in past Holiday seasons included Rebottling, Initialing and Fictitious Pre-Ticketing.

"Rebottling", Martak said, "is the practice by which independent rebottlers place toilet water or cologne in small bottles or purse-size containers of a size commonly used for real perfume and play up nationally advertised names along with a disclosure that the merchandise is rebottled. Because of the similarity of the sizes of the purse-size containers to containers used to sell small quantities of real perfume, the general impression is given the public that they are purchasing expensive perfume at a very low price. Actually, the retail selling price of the rebottled toilet water or cologne is grossly exorbitant when compared to the retail price, of the product packaged by the manufacturer himself.

"Initialing" involves sale of spray containers simply marked with initials such as "A", "MS", "C", "WS", and "T". These initials are a device used to mislead the public into believing that the sprays contain "Arpege," "My Sin," "Chanel No. 5", "White Shoulders" and "Tabu". This merchandise is frequently described as a "scent" with no disclosure as to whether it is perfume or cologne.

Fictitious "Pre-Ticketing" which is the practice of labeling merchandise at prices in excess of their regular and customary prices, to fool the buyer into thinking he's getting a real bargain, has already been reported this season, Martak said. Some perfumes and toilet waters which are preticketed at $12.50, $16.50, and $18.50 are selling for two or three dollars.

"The public can help," the Bureau Manager said, "by reporting such cases, by refusing to do business with fast talking strangers and most of all, by making their purchases at reliable stores in our community."

STEELS TOUGHENED TO MEET NEW STANDARDS

The laboratories and plans of the nation's steel companies currently are turning out some of the toughest steels ever made to meet modern industry's growing demand for new materials combining strength and lightness, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

These steels all have greater minimum yield points than the 33,000 pounds per square inch minimum of structural carbon steel. Their high strengths permit their use in thinner sections which means important weight savings. Too, they have the added qualities of corrosion and wear resistance, and good formability.

Such steels are greatly improving the service life of a wide range of products—from making heavy bridges stronger and lighter to making lamp posts corrosion resistant. They are used in the construction of nuclear power components, automobile bumpers, gears and jacks, transmission towers, jet landing gears, railroad cars, missile pressure tanks, bulldozers, oil drilling rigs—in short, where products are subjected to hard wear.

Credit Card Business Having Rapid Growth in Nation

The credit card business is mushrooming so fast it's hard to say just what the volume will be even a few months from now, says the president of one the country's leading motel associations.

"With the American Express Credit Card alone, we're doing a gross volume of well over $400,000 a month," says Tommy Tucker, president of the non-profit motel association Quality Courts United, Inc.

Quality members as a whole voted to accept the American Express Credit Card just two years ago. Some individual motels also accept others. The first month's volume was a mere $18,000.

Here are some exact figures on Quality's credit card business from American Express alone:

From Sept. 1, 1959 to Aug. 31, 1960, credit card business was $3,747,231.41, which compares with $1,706,454.31 for the previous year.

"What Quality will do even three or four months from now is hard to say," said Tucker, whose association is the largest of its kind in the country with 25,000 units in all states east of the Mississippi and eastern Canada.

Why the great popularity of credit cards?

"They're easy to use and they don't require the holder to carry large sums of cash," says Tucker.

Will this tremendous volume continue to increase a year or more from now?

Tucker thinks it will, and here's why:

"The American people want credit, and they'll turn to organizations, groups or associations which provide it."

Tucker also feels that at the present time credit cards are only beginning to tap the sources of things that can be charged. As more and more of the nation's businesses accept credit cards, the volume of credit card business is certain to increase at a fantastic rate.

"Likewise, the entrance into the field of more credit card companies, with millions in capitalization, and expansion of others is certain to inspire various sources to provide credit,' says Tucker.

"This cause and effect is working swiftly. The results are being felt by greater numbers of people and businesses every day. It won't be too long before billions will be involved in the credit card business, which means that as time goes by, the credit card will play an increasingly important role in the economy of the nation," Quality feels.

News for VETERANS

Those outdated beneficiaries will collect your insurance if you don't watch out! Sad cases are still coming to light in which GI insurance is being paid to persons in whom the veteran no longer had any interest. Why? Simply because some years before the veteran designated beneficiaries he wanted to collect his insurance money at that time. But that was before he was married, or before he was divorced, or before he had children.

Despite repeated reminders and suggestions from federal agencies and veterans' organizations, the veteran just never got around to bringing his beneficiaries up to date. The law requires that GI insurance be paid to the last beneficiary on record, whether or not that beneficiary is in any way connected with the veteran at time of his death.

A very simple step on the part of the veteran can avert these tragic situations. He need only to write the VA Insurance Center in Philadelphia and submit a beneficiary change over his signature. Or better still, use the proper form, a supply of which is available at the office of Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, Division of War Veterans' Claims, 305 McKevitt Bldg., Norfolk Va.

TV Movies for Week

THANKSGIVING DAY

1:10—(3) "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" (1943); Richard Carlson, Martha O'Driscoll. (Unfunny comedy about a widowed bubble dancer who gives birth in a shy professor's apartment, which leads to an hour of silly complication.)

11:15—(3) "The Mad Doctor" (1941); Basil Rathbone, Ellen Drew (Unbalanced psychiatrist marries wealthy women and then does away with them. Just fair thriller is short on suspense.)

11:15—(13) "Looking For Trouble" Jack Oakie, Spencer Tracy.

FRIDAY

1:10—(3) "Never Say Die" (1939) Bob Hope, Martha Raye. (Bob tries but this is a little more than juvenile slapstick about a hypochondriac millionaire who marries a Texas gal because he thinks he has two weeks to live.)

5:05—(3) "Masquerade In Mexico" (1945) Dorothy Lamour, Arturo de Cordova. (To earn some dough an American gal agrees to try and win a Mexican bullfighter's affections from a married woman.. Poorly acted and written)

11:15 — (13) "Mystery of The White Room" (1939) Bruce Cabot. (A murderer runs amok in a hospital. Grade "B" murder mystery.)

SATURDAY

1:30—(3) "Fiesta" (1946) Esther Williams. (Colorful Mexican backgrounds but that's about all the help the cast gets in this film, which wastes Miss Williams in the role of a bullfighter.

"After the Thin Man" (1936) Wm. Powell, Myrna Loy. (Second in the series is again a delight, thanks to smooth acting, glib dialogue and top production. Detective story is incidental to the fun.)

10:30—(10) "Dangerous Exile"

11:00—(13) "Flame of Barbary Coast" John Wayne, Ann Dvorak. (Montana cattleman falls for a San Francisco saloon singer and opens his own gambling hall. Standard period melodrama.)

11:15—(3) "Frenchman's Creek" (1944) Joan Fontaine, Arturo De Cordova. (Costume film about an unholy alliance between an English lady and a French pirate. Swashbuckling, romantic and colorless on a TV screen, in black and white.)

12:00—(10) "Magic Town" (1947) James Stewart, Jane Wyman. (A public opinion pollster publicizes a small town as being statistically accurate in all polls, which only causes trouble for the town's mild way of life. Uneven comedy, misses fire most of the time.)

SUNDAY

10:00—(13) "Big Bluff"

12:00—(3) "Hold 'em Yale" Cesar Romero, Patricia Ellis.

11:15—(10) "Notorious"

11:25—(13) "Change of Heart".

12:30—(10) "Farmer's Daughter"

MONDAY

1:10 — (3) "New York Town" (1941) Fred MacMurray, Mary Martin (occasionally amusing comedy about a sidewalk photographer who befriends a homeless lass in the big city.)

5:05—(3) "Go West Young Man" (1936) Mae West. (Moderately entertaining comedy about what happens when a screen star makes a personal appearance and is forced to mingle with the common folk.)

11:15 — (3) "The Man In Half Moon Street" (1945) Nils Asther. (Scientist tries to maintain eternal youth by removing young men's glands and transferring them to his body. O.K. for horror fans.)

11:15 — (13) "Massacre at Sand Creek"

TUESDAY

1:10—(3) "Interne's Can't Take Money" (1937) Joel McCrea, Barbara Stanwyck. (Fair dramal with a medical background, plus a few gangsters for excitement.)

5:05—(3) "Miss Susie Slagle's" (1946) Sonny Tuft's, Joan Caulfield. (Leisurely pleasant story about a boarding house for medical students in Baltimore around 1910. Inoffensive and generally entertaining.)

11:15—(3) "Well's Fargo" (1937) Joel McCrea, Bob Burns. (This is a "super" western about the beginning of the famous company that transfers money. Some good adventure but heavy with romance and plot. Western fans might enjoy comparing this to the current cycle of "adult" westerns.)

11:15—(13) "Price of Thelves"

WEDNESDAY

1:10 — (3) "Klondike Annie" (1936) Mae West, Victor McLaglen. (Confused Mae West vehicle with Mae playing a gal who kills her lover and then hides out in the Klondike disguised as a missionary.)

5:05 — (3) "Monkey Business" (1931) Marx Brothers. (Great comedy is never dated and even Groucho's depression puns will still make you laugh. The boys are stowaways on a ship and causing their usual amount of trouble.)

11:15—(3) "San Francisco" (1935) Clark Gable, Jennette MacDonald.

11:15—(13) "Home In Indiana"

dead stems. The fungus that causes black spot over-winters on the leaves, so be sure to rake up and burn rose leaves.

The botrytis blight organism of peony, tulip, and some other flowers over-winters on old leaves and stems. Cut these plants back to the ground line after leaf growth stops. A mulch of straw will protect the underground parts of plants through the winter. This mulch, however, should be removed early in the spring to give the soil a chance to warm up and the shoots an opportunity to emerge.

Hollyhock rust is another problem in many areas. The rust organism lives over winter on old leaves and stems, so be sure to get rid of them.

Virginia Beach High School Honor Students Announced

HONOR ROLL

The first six weeks honor roll was announced this week. In order for a student to make the honor roll, he or she must maintain a "B" average or better, and must not make an "C's" for the six weeks. This means that all grades are 89 or above. The idea of an honor roll makes each student strive to make better grades and take more pride in their work.

Several of the students made all "A's", certainly an honor to be commended for. They are the following: Bonnie Walthall, tenth grade; Connie Medas, ninth; Barry Black, Norma Glennon, Paul DeWitt, and Lynn Costenbader, 8th grade.

Our teacher spotlight for the week is Mrs. Dorothy H. Robbins, who teaches senior and 10th grade English.

This delightful lady has quite an impressive background. She has been Asst. principal at Smithfield High School, and has taught in Isle of Wight County. Mrs. Robbins was also a Sunday columnist for the Virginia-Pilot and a free lance writer for magazines and other newspapers.

In her high school years, Mrs. Robbins was a member of the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, the Latin Club, Spanish Club, Girls Glee Club, and the Girls High School Club. She was managing editor of the high school newspaper, and took part in the Senior Play.

She attended Randolph-Macon Woman's College and spent two summers at The College of William and Mary in graduate work. Mrs. Robbins was quite active, also, in her college years. She was a Pan - Hellenic Representative, vice-president of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. Winner of two scholarships, one of which was awarded by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, this talented person was a Sun Dial reporter, and a member of the [illegible] Club and the Dance Group.

Her hobbies are [illegible] feature articles, tracing [illegible] and doing historical research. Asked what her favorite quote is, Mrs. Robbins replied, "This above all, to thine own self be true, and it must follow as the day the night, Thou canst not then be false to any man."

Mrs. Robbins has been president of the Tidewater Chapter of Alumnae of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, president of the Smithfield Junior Woman's Club, and was Democratic committeewoman in Isle of Wight County. She is a member of the D.A.R. and the U.D.C.

The MIXING BOWL . .

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fables . . . for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucille Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

IT'S RICE HARVEST FESTIVAL TIME

For a fresh approach to roast or steaks, delicious stuffings or dressings have no equal in good eating or variety. And, when you make them with rice, they can be prepared quickly top of the range!

Choice for the fall menu is a Celery and Rice Dressing flaked with almonds and pimiento. The cooked rice is simply mixed with the other ingredients. Then, just before serving, it is tossed with a quick and flavorsome sauce of canned cream of chicken soup blended with sharp cheese. No other cooking is necessary!

Another fact you will appreciate is the colorful eye appeal it adds to the plate. Serve it handsomely with a roast, such as roast leg of veal, or other meat entree. Rice goes naturally with meats in menus that provide the eating everybody likes and that hold to the family budget.

CELERY AND RICE DRESSING

3 cups chopped celery
4 cups hot cooked rice
¾ cup blanched almonds, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 10½ ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 cup grated sharp cheese
½ teaspoon salt
Fresh ground pepper to taste

Cut celery into ½ inch pieces. Cook in boiling salted water until tender but slightly crisp. Drain.

Toss together celery, rice, almonds and pimiento.

Combine condensed soup and add grated cheese in a saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. To serve, pour sauce over rice mixture. Sprinkle with freshly ground pepper to taste and mix well.

This dressing requires no extra cooking. It is excellent served with roast leg of veal. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Imagine the convenience of a dressing that combines both vegetables for a meal! This happens when you use fluffy rice grains to make the dressing, since rice can be served "as a vegetables" to accompany any cut of meat. The second vegetable should be chosen for flavor, color and texture interest—such as the plump tender baby lima beans in today's featured recipe.

A quick trick that adds to goodness of the eating is the use of toasted until golden brown. Then both vegetables are simmered top-of-the-range in savory chicken broth to subtly intertwine their flavors.

The perfect accompaniment to Rice and Vegetable Dressing is a juicy pot roast flavored with a tomato-and-onion gravy. Pot roast, like the dressing, practically cooks itself, so you are left free to arrange the salad, brew some coffee, and set the table.

Rice & Vegetable Dressing

1 cup uncooked rice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced marjoram
2¼ cups chicken broth
1 package frozen lima beans
1¼ teaspoon salt

Set oven at 350° F.

Spread rice in a shallow pan and heat in oven until golden brown about 10 minutes. Stir frequently so as not to burn.

Melt butter or margarine in a 3-quart saucepan. Add onion, parsley, marjoram. Saute until onion is tender.

Add chicken broth, lima beans, and salt. Simmer covered for 5 minutes. Add toasted rice. Bring to a boil. Stir. Reduce heat; cover with a tight fitting lid and simmer about 20 minutes. This is excellent served as a dressing with roast beef or steak. Makes 6 servings.

Everybody likes fried rice, but we have to credit our 50th State with an inspired version of this popular dish.

This fried rice is so delicious, it walks off with main course honors, for it is served in a mound atop broiled pineapple rings and garnished with rasher of bacon.

You'd never guess such good eating could be prepared so easily. Cooked rice is added to onions and celery, which have been sauteed in the bacon drippings, along with mushrooms and a generous seasoning of soy sauce. Stir in an egg, and you are ready to serve.

This recipe offers a practical use, too, for any leftover rice you may have on hand. Rice, you know, will keep nicely in the refrigerator for several days.

We suspect that Fried Rice Hawaiian will be such a family favorite, that you will be cooking rice especially for this dish.

Fried Rice Hawaiian

3 tablespoons bacon drippings
½ cup chopped green onions and celery
1 cup diced celery
1 cup sliced mushrooms
2¼ cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 egg, slightly beaten
8 pineapple rings, broiled
16 slices crisp cooked bacon

Heat bacon drippings in skillet. Add green onions and celery. Cook until almost tender.

Add mushrooms, rice and soy sauce. Cook 10 minutes on low heat, stirring occasionally.

Serve mounds of fried rice on broiled pineapple rings with rashers of bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Happy Thanksgiving to you and yours!

Your Social Security

There is good news for many retired persons, and for the widows and children of working people who have died. Because of 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act, less work under social security is now required for benefits to be payable to a worker, or to his surviving family. Approximately one-third less credit for work under social security is now needed. Under the old law, for instance, a person reaching retirement age, or dying in 1960, would have needed credit for 18 or 19 calendar quarters of work under social security. Because of the amendments, however, credit for only 12 such quarters (about 3 years) is now needed.

Payments under the new law can be made beginning with the month of October. Anyone whose application for old-age or survivors insurance benefits has been denied because of insufficient work under social security, recontact the social security office. It will then be possible to check the worker's social security account to see if benefits are payable under the new law.

A leaflet, OASI-1960-1, may be obtained from the Norfolk social security office explaining this and other changes in the law. The leaflet, which is free for the asking, has a chart showing how much credit is now required for benefits to be payable. If you are near the office, stop by and pick one up. If that is not possible, write or call, and a copy will be sent to you in the mail.

VPI Electronic Farm Record Program "A Key To Higher Profits In the 60's"

What is the VPI Electronic Farm Record Program?

This is a method of farm record keeping whereby you record your items of farm expense and farm income each month. Forms are provided for recording these monthly transactions and these forms are mailed to VPI through your County Agent's office. The information you record on the monthly forms is classified, summarized, and maintained by individual accounts at VPI with the use of electronic computing equipment. You maintain a farm inventory on record forms provided for this purpose. You will receive periodic information taken from your expense and income accounts maintained at VPI to assist you in keeping an up-to-date farm inventory record during the year. All information pertaining to your individual farm business is handled as strictly "Confidential" throughout all phases of this record keeping system.

HOW WILL MY FARM RECORDS HELP ME?

You are confronted with many farm business adjustment problems and, with the more narrow profit margins, more precise business decisions are necessary. Farm records supply basic costs and returns information which is so vital for correct decision making. Farm records are also useful with regard to completing income tax returns and preparing credit statements. The VPI Electronic Farm Record Program provides a systematic approach that permits you to maintain an accurate, complete, and up-to-date farm record with relatively little effort.

What Do I Get Back In Terms Of An Analysis of My Farm Business?

You receive an accumulated summary by various expense and income every three months during the year. A business analysis is made at the end of the year which includes various efficiency factors calculated from your record date. Along with your individual farm analysis information, you receive, in most cases, average analysis figures on similar type farms which provide a basis for comparing your farm operation with the situation on similar type farm in your area.

How Do I Enroll In This Program And Where Can I Obtain Further Information?

Your County Agents have the information necessary for enrolling your farm and he can provide you with further information as to the mechanics involved in taking part in this program.

Land Retirement Programs Discussed as Possible Solution To Farm Problem

Will rural ghost towns result from any expanded soil bank or land retirement program?

Much has been said about the need for some kind of supply control program. Curtailment of total agricultural output by limiting land resource is one proposal.

The effect of the current soil bank program has been the removal of 28,000,000 acres from production. Yet total agricultural output has continued to increase. Proponents argue that an effective program would need to retire at least 56,000,000 acres. It is estimated that it takes 2 per cent adjustment in the land resource to make a 1 percent change in supply. Hence, with our supply being approximately 6 to 8 percent out of balance, it would demand the removal of between 60 to 80 million acres of cropland from production.

There are numerous approaches to a land retirement program. These can be broken down in two broad classifications: compulsory and voluntary.

Under a compulsory cropland adjustment program, an allocation of national marketing quotas would be established and these quotas would be broken down into individual farm acreage allotments. The cropland taken out of the production of wheat and feed grains would go into a compulsory conservation reserve for a period of not less than 3 years and perhaps longer, depending on the market conditions.

This program would have strict acreage allotments and penalties. Acreage allotments would become transferable, and present national minimum allotments would be eliminated.

A compulsory program would require every one to participate. It would reduce the output on many farms where current volume is already inadequate and the excess labor or under-employment on these farms would tend to remain.

A voluntary land retirement program could be based on the removal of low productive land — whole farm units, regardless of productivity, and removal of part-farms. It is estimated that under this type of approach, payment would have to average nationally $25 to $30 per acre. As farm prices becomes lower, this attractiveness of this type of land use increases.

Under either program, entire rural communities and areas may be shifted out of agriculture. While a few acres may become ghost town, the aggregate results will be increased efficiency and better use of the resources in our economy. The increased returns under this type of program would, in the long run, more than offset both the social cost to the taxpayers for this adjustment.

Thus, if enough cropland is taken out of cultivation, agricultural production could be reduced, thus bringing about the needed adjustments while protecting farm incomes.

BEEF FEEDING METHODS TRIED AT GLADE SPRING

The most profitable way to produce beef is a question of importance to all cattlemen.

Researchers at the Glade Spring branch of VPI Agricultural Experiment Station have some news which should be of interest. After four years of feeding grain on grass to steers, they have concluded that heavy steer calves, weighing 450 to 500 pounds in the fall and fed to make one pound of grain per day during the winter feeding period, then fed 20 bushels of corn during the last half of the grazing season, will produce desirable slaughter cattle grading "good" at about 950 pounds by early October.

In the test, the winter feed needed to put 1⅓ pounds per day on 450 to 550-pound steer calves during a 140-day winter feeding was 1,936 pounds of silage, 565 pounds of mixed hay, 634 pounds of corn-on-cob meal, and 141 lbs. of cottonseed meal. Cattle of similar weights and grade gained almost .9 of a pound daily for the 140-day feeding period when they ate 2,377 pounds of silage, 564 lbs. of hay, 100 pounds of corn-on-cob meal, and 141 pounds of cottonseed meal.

SPREAD FERTILIZER WHERE IT WILL DO MOST GOOD

"Are your fertilizer dollars being spread where they'll give you most in crop production?"

Many farmers apparently are spreading them profitably, but the records of fertilizer use and crop yields would indicate that many haven't attained the efficiency that goes with high economical yields.

If all of the fertilizer sold in Virginia between July 1, 1959 and June 30, 1960 had been equally distributed on all acres used in crop production, there would have been 172.6 pounds per acre. Unfortunately, not all acres received fertilizer, not did all fertilizer used prove profitable.

Present estimates are for a crop yield of 49 bushels per acre. That's a pretty good yield state-wide, and about at break-even for cost of production. But, there are a lot of below-average yields in that estimate, and producers with below average yields probably didn't show a profit.

The farmer that produces 2 tons of alfalfa hay per acre or 24 bushels of wheat per acre probably isn't producing profitably. A few dollars invested in additional fertilizer would increase yields and lead to profits.

The farmer benefits several ways from high yields, in addition to lower cost per unit of production. He can concentrate his efforts on soil areas best suited to the production of certain crops. He can farm fewer acres with smaller equipment or with fewer pieces of certain types of equipment, or he can do the job with large equipment in less time.

This efficiency can be counted in terms of more potential leisure and more fishing time, which is good for the mind and conductive to fewer heart attacks.

MANAGED MILKING PAYS IN DAIRY HERD

Milking time is the payoff in the dairy industry—that is the time the machine is actually on the cow.

Not only is this true from a monetary standpoint, but from the standpoint of damaged udders leading to mastitis, according to the specialist. He says that the modern milking machine is truly a mechanical masterpiece, but it cannot make management decisions. How long the machine is left on any one cow is up to the man milking.

And each cow is an individual. Each cow differs in how long she takes to let her milk down, how much stimulation is needed, how long she takes to milk out, and how much punishment she can take before her udder is damaged.

Most cows can be stimulated to let down their milk within one minute, and most can be conditioned to milk out in from three to five minutes. Any additional machine time over what is actually required is an invitation to trouble.

Why is time so critical? Look back to the early twenties. A number of milking machines were installed then, used a while, and discarded. Why? Dairymen said, "The machines caused too much mastitis."

This was not the real reason. What actually happened was that the machine were not as good as they are today, and dairymen did not know as much about how to use them properly.

What have we learned? First, better machines are available today. Secondly, researchers have learned a great deal about the anatomy of the udder, the physiology of milk secretion, and the psychology of the cow.

These big-sounding terms just mean that researchers now know that every cow is different. And this is why managed milking pays off.

It is easy for a person to learn to turn on the vaccuum and attach a milking machine. But such a person is not a skilled milker. It takes much longer to develop a feeling for the job and the skill that sets the real milker apart.

In the state-wide mastitis prevention program, managed milking is one of the most important areas for consideration. Even the best can be made better.

TIME SPENT THIS FALL SAVES TROUBLE IN SPRING

The old adage "A stitch in time save nine", can be applied to gardening.

Plant pathologists at VPI say someowners who spend a little time in the yard this fall will have fewer problems next spring.

Most organisms that cause diseases of ornamental plants live over winter on dead branches, twigs, and leaves, which may still be on the plant or on the ground. If the plant materials are pruned off, raked up and burned, there will be far less danger of disease attack next spring.

Roses canes stay green all winter in many sections of Virginia, so don't prune drastically this fall. However, remove and burn all

Swissair has a very special place—at a very special price—for you to start, spend or end your winter vacation

Lisbon's the place. Winter's not invited here. Only sun, sand and sea lovers. And when you sum up the many good things that come with a Swissair 17-day excursion, the price (effective through March 31st) is so low it looks like we made a mistake when we figured it up.

For example, $499 buys a complete Iberian Holiday (covers 3 weekends). Includes: non-stop Swissair Jetliner round trip from New York, transportation, hotels, meals, trips & tips. First stop is Lisbon. Here you'll fill up your memory chest as you uncover the fascination of this Old World City. Then to Madrid. The theater. Cafés. Churches. Art. The Flamenco. Then on to Cordoba, Granada, Malaga, Seville and Toledo.

A value? The best. But suppose you want to spend all your vacation in and around Lisbon. Fine. Rent a secret little villa. Dine, wine, explore. Laugh and sing with the people. Hop south to the beach at Praia da Rocha. Loll on the yellow sand for a latin tan. Unspoiled Portugal is yours. And if you return within 17 days, Swissair's special jet fare is only $350 round trip from New York.

Really, it doesn't matter whether you start, spend or end your vacation in Lisbon. The important thing is to go there. And equally important is how you go there. We suggest Swissair. Aboard our DC-8 Jetliners you'll find something special in service. We call it Swiss-Care. It's a gentle, old-fashioned way of caring for passengers. It's your time for adventure. Mail this coupon or see your travel agent.

Hurray for Hal Borland

Reminiscing about his own early Thanksgivings in Nebraska, Hal Borland reminds us of what we should be particularly thankful for as we sit down at our family tables. Not the turkey, not the pie, not the chrysanthemums and oak leaves in the centerpiece, beautiful as they are – it's the children, first of all, who are the special blessing of the time-honored feast in honor of Providence, human and divine.

What to Make of School Taxes

Of course everyone wants good schools – and wonders how on earth to keep on paying for them. Luis and Jo Villalon have a special interest in this familiar dilemma, being not only taxpayers themselves, but also publishers of a suburban paper, the Westport, Conn., Town Crier. In their article, "Are School Costs Getting Out of Hand?" they grasp the nettle firmly and devise a scheme to help you decide what the answer is in your case.

John Kieran Afoot

How long is it since you have just gone out and taken a walk for fun? It's almost a lost art. No one remembers to, no one has time. But listen to John Kieran, and you may be tempted to park the station wagon and try. Walking is his favorite sport, two to ten miles a day. He prefers open country, but he enjoys walking anywhere – "to the store, to the library, to the post office, or to church."

Marathon Commuter

This is a very remarkable story about Walter Bailey who commutes five days a week from where he lives, practically on the Indiana line, to Columbus, Ohio, where he works – 227 miles round trip. But stranger still, his wife Maxine gets up every morning at 2:30 to get his breakfast!

Homer Hill

A bunch of dried corn, a kitchen calendar (with the butcher's compliments, no doubt), a bowl of Northern Spys being peeled for the pie – out of such simple matters our cover artist makes an arrangement of patterns and colors to delight and entertain the eye.

Stamp contributors include former patients and their friends, students at foreign colleges, and secretaries in offices all over the world. Hurray for Thanksgiving Day

BY HAL BORLAND

And special blessings on the youngest and hungriest around the table—they make the day

WHEN I SIT down this November 24th to the feast my long-line Yankee wife will prepare, I shall be thankful for even more than hearth and home, food and family. As the blessing is said, I shall include particular thanks for childhood memories of Thanksgiving, and maybe it is time to come right out and say that this peculiarly festive and American holiday has always been a family occasion and that, one way or another, the children have made it memorable. It seems to me we should be thankful for that.

My own memories of the day reach back to a Nebraska childhood. The Midwest was largely settled by people of a New England strain, so New England's Thanksgiving traditions persisted, though they were somewhat altered by regional differences. We had no oysters for one thing, and no Indian pudding—field corn was hog feed, not holiday fare. Midwesterners preferred pie to plum pudding. And yellow turnip, rutabaga, never had a place on any festive table. But there was turkey in plenty, and savory stuffing and rich gravy and mashed potatoes, often creamed onions, usually creamed corn and "put up" peas, sometimes squash. Always there was pie, both pumpkin and mince. There was, in a word, feasting.

One of my earliest memories is based on a song that we sang in school. The words of that song, I subsequently learned, were written by a Massachusetts lady more famed in her day for writing Civil War tracts than for her moral tales and poems for children. Her name was Lydia Maria Francis Child, and the first verse of the song went:

> Over the river and through the wood,
> To Grandfather's house we go;
>   The horse knows the way
>   To carry the sleigh
> Through the white and drifted snow.

And it ended, "Hurray for Thanksgiving Day!"

I can still hear that schoolroom full of second-graders singing those words in their barnyard-hen voices, and I remember wondering how come, and where, there was enough white and drifted snow for a sleigh ride on Thanksgiving Day. Where I lived there seldom was enough snow for a good snowball fight on Thanksgiving.

But, snow or not, we did go to Grandfather's house for Thanksgiving. He had quit the farm by the time I am remembering and had moved to a few acres at the edge of a small town, but the farm tradition persisted. He kept his favorite team of horses and a couple of milk cows, and he grew almost all the basic food for the diminished family, of which only three children still remained at home. He kept his hand in with such enduring matters as the soil and the elements. In season, he did his own butchering, usually a hog or two he had fattened through the summer and a yearling steer he had fed along with the milk cows and perhaps "finished off" with an extra diet of corn for a couple of months. Grandfather always smelled somewhat of horses, a pleasant odor that even in memory reminds me of hay and oats and spring plowing.

GRANDMOTHER, in the tradition of all farm women of her day, supervised the garden and the chickens as well as the house. She canned and pickled and preserved and amply stocked her pantry and her outside root cellar, which she called "the cave." She gathered eggs from her flock. She set her broody hens, usually with at least one clutch of duck and goose eggs bartered from some neighbor, and always with at least one clutch of turkey eggs. The poults were hard to raise, but she wouldn't think of buying a turkey for Thanksgiving. She raised hers. She set the milk in crocks for the cream to rise, and she made her own butter.

The house itself was small, a one-story white house with a big back porch, a big farm kitchen, a living room and three bedrooms. When the clan gathered there were from twenty-five to thirty people, depending on how many babies had been born during the year, but somehow we all got in.

Thanksgiving morning was wonderful. By ten o'clock everyone had come, the house was jumping, and the yard was full of kids. And well before noon the whole area smelled of Thanksgiving—roasting turkey, boiling onions, simmering cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, mince pie. The big kitchen was full of women and family gossip, the living room of men and man-talk and laughter.

And something memorable always happened. One year when Aunt Amy brought two huge cakes, someone hid them under the bed in Grandmother's bedroom. I have no idea why they were hidden there, but one small cousin, who had to look into every nook and cranny, found them. He and I did what any of the small fry would have done on Thanksgiving and at Grandmother's house, white and drifted snow or no snow at all. Our guilt was plastered all over our innocent little faces, chocolate icing on mine, white icing with strands of cocoanut on his. We got walloped, of course, and all the other small cousins were delighted. We were too sore to sit when the food finally came to the table, but it didn't matter. I wasn't very hungry. I managed one helping of turkey, a heap of stuffing, one mound of mashed potatoes swimming in gravy, a few creamed onions and half a dill pickle. That's all. I had to leave the table before it was time for pie, and I was sick as a dog. I got no sympathy at all, even from my own mother. Half an hour later, recovering with that remarkable vitality of the young, I was all ready to eat my dinner and do justice to it. But it was too late. Thanksgiving dinner was over. Aunt Eva, bless her, took pity on me. She had no children of her own and was softhearted. She took me secretly to the kitchen and offered me anything I wanted. I chose a big piece of mince pie, ate it, and was completely cured.

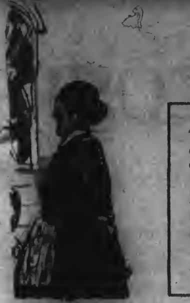

ILLUSTRATION BY HERB DANSKA

Journalist, novelist, and newspaperman, Hal Borland is the author of "This Hill, This Valley," "High, Wide and Lonesome," and many other books and short stories dealing with the ways of life of the American people, their dreams, and their purposes.

What a remarkable organ is the juvenile stomach! I wish I still had one.

No two Thanksgivings were ever the same, and it was always the children who made the difference. There was the year that Uncle Art saved the tail feathers of the turkey to give to us when we needed some new diversion.

It was a fine, crisp, sunny day, and we were busy all morning playing tag or jumping from the beams into the hay in the barn loft. The whole morning passed without notable incident, but about noon we began to get hungry, and the tantalizing odors from the kitchen didn't help. We made a nuisance of ourselves at the kitchen door, and finally Grandmother said, "Arthur, it's time for the feathers." Art assembled us on the back porch and passed out the feathers, saying, "Now you're a tribe of Indians. Stick them in your hair and go hold a buffalo hunt."

We went whooping. We were Apaches, every one of us. But there was an acute shortage of buffalo. Towser, the dog, was available, but he became the first buffalo on record to take refuge under a chicken house. There were a couple of cats, but they didn't want to play either. They took off for the far reaches of town after the first assault. So we gave up the hunt and went on the warpath.

SOME NEAR-GENIUS discovered that a lath and a length of binder twine could be fashioned into a bow that would shoot an arrow made from a strip of shingle.

The air was soon full of arrows and cries of the wounded. But it probably was the shortest Indian fight in history. There couldn't have been more than three or four volleys before a six-year-old brave caught a blunt strip of shingle full in the mouth. He lost two teeth that needed pulling anyway, and he bled like a stuck pig. He also screamed bloody murder. The screams brought aunts and uncles boiling from the house like hot-tailed hornets. The wrong aunt spanked the wrong cousin, and it looked for a time as though the whole tribe, big and little, was in for civil war.

But just when things were getting out of hand, Grandmother came out on the back porch. Her sense of timing was perfect. She shouted, "Dinner's ready to put on the table! Come on in here, every last one of you!"

A truce was called. Everybody gathered in the kitchen and at the table. Napkins were tucked under chins and recriminations died away. Grandfather took the big carving knife in his calloused fist and held it like the sword of the avenging angel while Grandmother hissed everybody to silence. Then Grandfather bowed his head slightly, glared around the table, and said the shortest Thanksgiving grace in all the family records. "Thank God, nobody got killed. Now pass your plates up here. Amen."

There must have been one or two quiet, orderly, dull Thanksgivings, but I don't seem to remember them. There were always children, and children just don't go in for quiet, orderly family holidays. Or dull Thanksgivings.

ARE SCHOOL COSTS

Here's a way to compare your town's operating budget

BY LUIS AND JO VILLALON

THE VOICE of the teacher, the educational television set, and the interroom squawk-box are heard in the land as usual. But, this year, a dark cloud considerably larger than a skinflint's hand is hovering over the sleek, single-storied edifices dedicated to the instruction of our young. In town after town, tax bills are proving more potent than PTA tracts, and the annual school budget is running into opposition too stiff to be overcome by parents' phalanxes.

Even in Great Neck, Long Island, the home of perhaps the lushest school system in the country, with townsfolk conditioned for years by an effective school public-relations program—as well as by effective schools—the budget was tossed out and tailored down to suit the dollar-conscious. In Fairfield, Connecticut, an independent taxpayers' revolt won a town-wide referendum and blocked construction of a badly needed high school. In town after town, harder and harder questions are being asked about school-operating expenditures.

The opposition claims that suburban towns have "gone crazy" trying to provide public schools of private-school quality for their youngsters. They assert that teachers, no longer underpaid, are being pampered and spoiled with too small classes and too short hours. They maintain that too large a percentage of school funds are going into brick and mortar and not enough into readin,' writin,' and 'rithmetic. The Cassandras conclude that school costs are too high—too high for the need, and too high for residential communities to maintain their solvency.

There's Growing Concern

All PTA veterans are familiar with these objections. But this year there's a difference. There are, always, the customary critics of school expenditures—the town's big property owners who are most hurt by every mill increase in the tax rate, and the standpatters who are convinced that the little red schoolhouse is quite good enough for their children and other people's. But today they are being joined by a good many ordinary citizens, even ones with children in the schools, who are sincerely concerned with their ability to afford continuing residence in their school-happy towns.

Is this growing concern justified? Are America's residential towns, largely without benefit of industrial-tax bonanzas, really overspending? Are their residents being asked to spend too large a proportion of their incomes for schooling? Has suburban education gotten plain out of hand?

The ordinary citizen, trying to get answers for himself, is quite likely to find himself drowned in a sea of gobbledygook. He or she will be faced with an impossible choice between black and white—between the bargain-counter economies proffered by the conservatives, and the glittering "nothing-is-too-good-for-our-children" slogans.

The answer to "How high is too high?" in regard to school costs is, of course, neither black nor white. There is no easy way to determine whether an individual town is paying too much for too little education—or even whether it is paying too much for the best possible education.

It is, however, useless to deny that there is some correlation between school-system quality and per-pupil cost. So your town's expenditure per pupil and teaching-salary level, as well as a number of other measurable factors, will tell you something about how adequate a job is being done. Another clue to "How high is too high?" in reference to a specific town will be found by comparing your school costs with those in similar communities.

Suburban Schools Come High

The economy forces like to use national averages because, including as they do Red Clay, Mississippi and Single Stick, Vermont, they always look very low compared with a financially healthy suburban town's expenditures. But the more significant measure is the average cost in towns like yours and the specific expenditures of individual towns that have the same characteristics as yours, financial and otherwise. The school-budget work sheets accompanying this article will help you get some of these answers with a minimum of research on your part.

Critics and defenders of suburban school budgets, alike, might as well start off with a few facts that can't be questioned.

Suburban residential towns do, on average, spend considerably more to educate each of their pupils than do even the most liberal tenth of all U.S. towns. While there is no single national index of per-pupil costs that allows direct comparisons, there are, fortunately, several independent cost studies that can be compared if one is not too particular about the accuracy of the last two pennies. Using studies made by School Management Magazine and by the Metropolitan School Study Council of Columbia University, both in 1960, the facts are about as follows:

The average expenditure of a group of sixty-two metropolitan-area schools, including such typical residential towns as Shaker Heights, Ohio; Lake Forest, Illinois; Abington, Pennsylvania; Greenwich, Connecticut; Montclair, New Jersey; and Great Neck and Manhasset, New York, comes to almost $695 per-pupil per year. This compares with an average expenditure per pupil, figured on the same basis, of $431 for the top ten per cent of all school districts in the nation (the national average expenditure is $292). So, there's no question about it—the suburban family is doling out with others, to see whether your school costs are too high—or too low to meet the need a lot more dollars for education than is the average over the nation, even in the best-supported school districts.

(Incidentally, for the statistical-minded, all per-pupil figures cited in this article refer to what the professionals call "weighted elementary pupil units." This does not mean fat children; on the contrary, "weighting" is done for the higher costs of secondary-school education in comparison with elementary, due to salary differentials, materials costs, and smaller classes—and for higher costs found in small districts, because classes are necessarily smaller.)

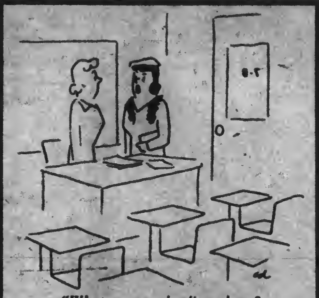
The fact that suburbanites are shelling out more dollars for their kiddies' tutelage does not necessarily mean that they are hurting themselves doing it, or spending "too much." After all, the average income of the suburbanite is a great deal higher than that of the typical U. S. citizen. Only local statistics will indicate how much higher, but common sense shows that the average in your town has little relationship to the national average per capita personal income of $2220 per year.

Surprisingly enough, in the Deep South (Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi), taxpayers spend 12.5% of their per capita income for education, as against only 12.2% in supposedly enlightened New England and 13.1% on the wealthy West Coast. There is, therefore, excellent reason to believe that the average suburban town spends less of its per capita income for education than does the deepest southern state.

Another indication that most suburban towns are not facing imminent bankruptcy comes from the wide range of per capita school expenditures that exists among them. For instance, two towns in the suburban sample spent more than $1000 per-pupil per year, and the top 25% spent well over the $750 mark. Economy-minded observers will be interested to note, however, that the most parsimonious suburban town spent only a little more than $425. If the big spenders can carry the load they do, it is unlikely that those with median costs are going out of business.

Suburban communities are paying considerably more per-pupil to educate their youngsters than even the top ten per cent of school districts in the nation, but they are not paying their teachers anywhere near that much better.

The median suburban school system is paying an average teacher's salary of $6,587, as against an average rate in the top tenth of school districts of $6,674. Seven suburban school systems have reached an average of better than $8,000, and the salaries of classroom teachers in a few of them have surpassed the $11,000 a year mark. (Incidentally, if an "average" teacher who had earned an average salary of $2200 in 1939 had kept pace with the national rise in per capita disposable income—the increased dollars the average American has to spend—she would have to be earning $7,436 in 1960.)



"What are you beefing about? You have him only six hours a day!"

SUBURBIA TODAY

One of the magic statistics, beloved of educationists, is the ratio of the students to instructional staff. (Please note that this is not a pupil-to-classroom-teacher ratio, but rather a ratio of pupils to all members of the instructional staff—which is everybody except the clerks, the janitors, and the secretaries.)

Pupil-Teacher Ratio

Here, our suburban sample gladdens the heart of the enthusiastic PTA'ers. The average suburban school system has a ratio of a thousand pupils to about sixty instructors or, more conventionally, a pupil-instructor ratio of about 17 to 1. This compares with an average ratio in the top tenth of American school districts of 20 to 1, and a national average of about 24 to 1.

The charge that the lush school systems are paying an inordinate share of their dollars for pupil housing just doesn't hold water—despite the fact that it has been just these suburban communities that have faced the worst growth problems in recent years. On average, those schools that are paying more than $400 per pupil for current expenses are adding only 10—11% for "housing"—debt service and capital outlay. This figure is far lower than the percentage that is being spent for similar purposes by those with less heavy current costs.

All this is very interesting, you say, but how about my town? Am I being overcharged for education? Or are my youngsters getting a short shrift, compared with the money being spent on the kids by other good suburban towns in the United States? Are my town's teacher salaries too low to attract the best (as the PTA zealots insist) or foolishly

SCHOOL COSTS

high (as my neighbor, Sam Pennypincher, contends?)

Before you try to answer these questions, remember that your town is not quite like any other. The part of the country in which you live has costs different from those of other sections. And the current cost of your school system must, in all fairness, be related to the demands which your town places upon it—the frills you require, the adult education programs provided, and other costly extras.

However, taking all these things into consideration, you can get a pretty good idea of where you stand in the educational cost spiral by completing the budget work sheets provided with this article. Just match your local figures—which you can secure from your School Board, or perhaps your newspaper—with the suburban averages supplied. You can determine "how high is too high" in your case.

Unless, however, you are one of the real extremes, you are likely to find that, while your town is spending more for education and is paying its teachers better salaries than the highest ten per cent of the communities in the nation, it isn't spending enough to tempt bankruptcy.

If, on the other hand, your expenditure per pupil is plainly out of line with the figure for the quality ten per cent in your region and/or the suburban average, it is time to take a sharp look. It is safe to say that your town either is offering education of an extraordinarily high quality, or you, as a taxpayer, are being taken to the cleaners.

Costs Will Rise Even More

And now is the time to look. A lot more kids to educate are on the way. Even if per-pupil costs are held constant, the school bill is due to rise 30% by 1964-65, and almost 50% by 1960-70. Maybe it's this realization that has given the taxpayer nerve a twinge, and sparked the new national drive to make school dollars go farther—to find cheaper ways to build, to spread instructional talents more efficiently, and to clamp down on the frills.

That's why some facts are so important. As education expert Fred Hechinger says: "For the local citizen, who wants to vote intelligently on school expenditures, or for the national leaders, who want to vote intelligently on Federal aid to education, a cost index seems an indispensable yardstick. It is the only way to shed light on a debate that has so often been carried on in the darkness of guess and prejudice."

It's your move. Sharpen your pencil and see just "how high" the school costs really are in your little utopia—before you make that speech at open meeting!

"I'm supposed to get 30 kilometers to a liter of petrol. Is that good?"

Steel-frame House

Fine finish on low-cost basic construction

As owner and architect, Bayard Underwood faced the usual problem when he built his house in Concord, Massachusetts — how to get the most house, and the most pleasing and livable house — for the least cost. By using steel for the frame he was able to make marked savings in time and labor at the beginning, and by concentrating furnace and other utilities in a central core he freed maximum space for living areas. The sense of spaciousness was heightened, at no additional cost, by flooding the house with light and relating the interior closely to the wide-open out of doors. At the end, because of savings due to the steel construction, Mr. Underwood was able to afford expensive, good-looking finishes and still keep his cost to $12 per square foot on the basis of a 1920-square-foot total floor area. His solution will be used for the Harvard project, a new development outside Boston.

A view of the master bedroom and its wood-panelled walls— one of the fine finishes used generously throughout the house.

We asked John Kieran, "What do you do for fun?" and this famous writer, scholar, and naturalist said,

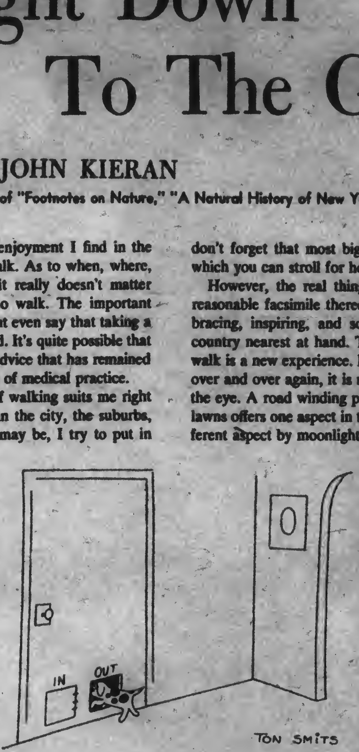
Walking Suits Me Right Down To The Ground

BY JOHN KIERAN

Author of "Footnotes on Nature," "A Natural History of New York City," etc.

THE OLDER I GROW the more enjoyment I find in the simple pastime of taking a walk. As to when, where, how far, and for what purpose, it really doesn't matter much. Any walk is better than no walk. The important thing is to get up and go. You might even say that taking a walk is just what the doctor ordered. It's quite possible that this is the only bit of professional advice that has remained unchanged through thirty centuries of medical practice.

For my part, almost any kind of walking suits me right down to the ground, whether it's in the city, the suburbs, or the open country. Wherever I may be, I try to put in from two to ten miles or more on foot in the area. I prefer greenery on the side to tall buildings looming above me. Woodland paths and country lanes are easier on the feet than paved streets and concrete sidewalks. Even so, Harry S. Truman seems to enjoy hugely his early morning strolls up Park Avenue when he is in New York, and I have demonstrated time and again to doubting natives that, during business hours at least, you can get from one point to another in midtown Manhattan more easily on foot than by taxi.



As a matter of fact, when I visit a city, I like to explore it on foot. You absorb the atmosphere more readily that way, and you see more when you walk than when you ride. As you amble from block to block you can take note of the street names that often are good guides to local history and geography. I have wonderful memories of such exploratory walks along the highways and byways of New Orleans, San Francisco, Chicago, London, Paris, Salzburg, and a hundred other cities here and abroad. If you absolutely insist on a background of greenery for a walk, don't forget that most big cities have fine parks through which you can stroll for hours.

However, the real thing always is better than even a reasonable facsimile thereof, and the perfect setting for a bracing, inspiring, and soul-satisfying walk is the open country nearest at hand. The best part of it is that every walk is a new experience. Even if you take the same route over and over again, it is never the same scene that meets the eye. A road winding past hedges and fences and open lawns offers one aspect in the noonday sun and quite a different aspect by moonlight. The ploughed ground of April becomes the field of waving corn in July. An ice storm in February changes the whole landscape in a single night. Nature is a miraculous stage director. Every new day is the next act with some change of scenery.

There are as many different kinds of walks as there are walkers. Some persons walk merely for exercise. My wife and I, on our accustomed rounds, often used to meet a brisk walker of that type who looked neither to the right nor left as he strode past us with a determined expression on his thin face. We never discovered who he was, but we found a name for him quickly enough. Because of his almost spectacular arm action, we called him "Elbows McFadden." A much different walker is the man with the problem who is thinking things over as he goes along. He profits by the peace and quiet around him but may be so wrapped in thought that he may put a mile of road behind him without any recollection of the actual covering of that distance on foot. I have done it myself on occasions.

day stroll in the country for the sake of the fresh air and the sight of the green world around him. There are Boy Scouts with knapsacks and stray pots and pans on their backs. There are high-school teachers with groups of students armed with collecting jars. There are sturdy grandparents with skipping grandchildren. There is the hefty chap walking to take off weight and the thin man walking to get up an appetite. There is no end to the caste of walk-on characters.

Many of my own walks are birding expeditions. Others are planned botanical excursions such as trips to upland bogs at certain seasons to find the rhodora, arethusa, calopogon, or rose pogonia in bloom. I always carry my field glasses slung around my neck and a magnifying glass in my pocket. The magnifying glass comes into play in looking more closely at the pistils and stamens of small flowers or in getting a better view of plant galls, tiny forms of insect life or other curiosities found along the way.

I have friends and neighbors of similar inclinations, and we go regularly afield together. I long ago discovered that a pleasure shared is a pleasure doubled, and good companionship adds much to the joy of traveling afoot in the open. We have been walking together for some years now and we have a seasonal schedule or annual calendar of events. Certain lanes and footpaths are best in the springtime. Certain roads are followed to get the best view of the colored foliage in autumn. We prefer shady lanes and old wood roads in summer. We are close to the ocean, and in the winter we find the seemingly empty beaches full of interesting things.

As a matter of fact, I believe I enjoy walking anywhere—to the store, to the station, to the library, to the post office, or to church. That it may be good for my health is a mere by-product so far as I am concerned. I am not trying to put over any physical-fitness propaganda. My point is that walking is wonderful and that, if you aren't in on it, you are missing something priceless that you can get for a total cost of nothing on the hoof.

"Why, the nerve of them! Since when are we on a first-name basis?"

PHOTOGRAPH BY JOSEF MUENCH

The sun cereus—out of the gnarled stock a burst of spectacular bloom.

FEW PLANTS are more exotic or make better house plants than those known as the "cacti and other succulents." Yet few are so maligned and mistreated.

Succulents, by definition "having watery tissue," are able to withstand long periods of drought. Some of them are jungle dwellers, but many (including the cactus group) are at home in the desert. You don't happen to live in a desert? Neither do I, but central heating has brought a warm, dry, indoor climate to American homes—perfect for the desert dwellers.

Forget to water the African violets and philodendron for weeks at a time and see them suffer; neglect the cacti and they thrive, for nature has evolved them to survive drought.

Besides being drought-resistant, cacti and many of the other succulents have another advantage over more tender house plants. They can stand temperature changes, so that during a northern winter they can get the abundant sunshine they need while standing near a chilly windowpane. After all, desert nights are a cold contrast to midday heat, with perhaps an eighty-degree drop of the mercury.

Despite their built-in adaptability, however, the cacti and other succulents find few fanciers, and those few are often thought of as off-beat characters, fussing over "prickly plants that are so hard to grow." Actually, succulent culture is not difficult, just different.

A friend who had admired the long, fragrant blossoms of my Easter lily cactus asked for, and was given, a "pup" to take home. "Don't plant the offset for about a month," I cautioned. "That will give the cut a chance to heal and will help keep the plant from rotting. Mix sand with the soil when you do plant the offset, and above all, be sparing with the water."

THE DO's and don'ts fell on deaf ears. A few weeks later my friend confided that the plant had died. "And I took such good care of it," she lamented. "As soon as I got home, I put it in a pot of nice black dirt—and I watered it faithfully so it wouldn't dry out. I'm just not the type to grow cactuses."

How right she was! The "type who can grow cactuses"—or "cacti," whichever you prefer—must be willing to put aside the habits formed while caring for other house plants. Heavy soil that does not drain readily will hold moisture, rotting a cactus. Some of the succulents refuse to turn their characteristic coral or bronze or rosy-red color if the soil is too rich, but others prefer a rich soil, provided it is loose enough. Some of them sunburn in the full sunlight which others demand.

Whether plants are ordered by mail, bought in florist shops, dime stores or supermarkets, or patiently started from seed, it is best to follow the grower's directions, since no single set of rules could cover the 1700 species of cacti and the even more numerous other succulents.

For while it may be true that a rose is a rose is a rose, no such monotony exists in the succulent clan. The word "cactus" conjures up a mental picture of "something with stickers," especially for those unfortunates who may have backed into the prickly pear or fairy needles. Spines, however, are not always what they seem. True, some are dartlike and menacing, some curved like fishhooks or the claws of an eagle. But one cactus has flattened spines resembling strips of paper that get longer and whiter with increased sunshine, while the old man of the Andes is covered with long, soft "hair." Another cactus sports a puff of silky, snow-white "cotton," and mamillaria plumosa is clothed in downy, curling "feathers." There is even a "baldie" or two in the crowd!

Even the most prickly cactus can be handled easily, without injury to fingers or to the plant, with a newspaper "sling." For heavier plants such as this one, place a piece of wire (an old coat hanger will do) inside the paper. Or wear heavy leather gloves when transplanting your cacti.

EXPLORING among all the succulents, one sees necklace stems strung with bright, chunky leaves; miniature "palm trees" whose leaves are edged with baby plants; gaily striped candy canes, and lifeless-looking lumps of "stone."

Besides the more familiar barrel, ball, and beaver-tail shapes, there are imitation pine cones, starfish, and sand dollars. In its native desert, a giant cereus may grow to be 60 feet tall, weighing tons, but you could scoop up a dozen grape cacti in one gloved hand.

All these variations of plant shape and size, color and texture, are compounded when succulents bloom. An individual blossom may be a foot long, or smaller than a button—white, or any rainbow color. It perches at the tip of a long stalk, snuggles against the plant body, or joins others in a lush halo adorning a spiny cactus dome.

Cacti and the other succulents in bloom transform a barren desert landscape into an exciting, fragrant, color-splashed garden. The same miracle can easily happen on your own window sill.

I Commute 227 Miles A Day—

A pipe and a relaxed wheel grip help Walter Bailey on his endurance drive. He has to face into the sun going and coming – hence the dark glasses.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY MIKE TATEM

WHEN THE commuters in my office start griping about the traffic they fight getting to and from work, I laugh to myself and, if the conversation swings around to me, I have to admit to commuting 227 miles each day. Sure, that sounds like a lot of miles but it's really easier than the trip most commuters make.

My typical day gets underway at 3 a.m. with breakfast which my wife Maxine, who gets up at 2:30, has already fixed. At that hour our home in Union City, Ohio, less than a block from the Indiana state line, is the only one on Market Street with a light burning. That seems awfully early to most people but the only time I mind is Monday morning. Too much sleep over the weekend can make me feel logy on Monday, and I can't get started as readily as later in the week. Breakfast usually takes about 20 or 25 minutes and is a good time to catch up on the newspapers or sometimes do a little studying toward my doctor's degree. After breakfast comes shaving and dressing so that by four or 4:05 a.m. I'm ready to begin the 113½ mile trek to my desk in Columbus, Ohio.

There's no work to driving this early, and I'm lucky to meet more than two cars between here and Springfield, 70 miles away. It's a calm, peaceful time of day, with the early morning mists sitting in the hollows and the sun trying to peek over the horizon, making a perfect time to get a lot of thinking done, something that's hard to do during the rest of the day. Listening to the radio helps keep track of time since I don't wear a watch.

With a steady pace of 55 or 60 miles an hour, Greenville is reached in 15 to 18 minutes, and Tipp City comes a half hour later. By 5:40 a.m. I've covered 70 miles. On the east side of Springfield I pick up three other men from the office who alternate driving to Columbus. There's nothing to this last leg of the trip, 43 miles of four-lane divided highway that can be driven at a mile a minute. The last six miles from Columbus' outskirts to the U.S. Army Engineer's Maintenance Center downtown are the toughest, but at this hour there's not too much traffic on the streets of Ohio's capital city. We usually have enough time for coffee before 7 a.m. when I settle to my work as research technician for Royer and Roger, Inc., a private firm producing instruction and assembly manuals for the Engineers.

At day's end we leave the Center about 4:10

IS THE

And Won't Quit! BY WALTER W. BAILEY

Breakfast at 3 A.M. — he takes coffee in a bowl first (it cools quicker), then has a second cup.

p.m., and since it's before evening traffic gets rushed we can clear the city limits in about 15 minutes. An hour later we're at our meeting point, and I'm ready to head back toward Union City. By 6:45 or 6:50 I'm home with 227 miles beneath my wheels and three hours left before bedtime to weed the garden, work on my antique cars, or watch TV.

Driving that far I can't afford to let traffic disturb me — after all it's just one tin can fighting another tin can. I simply hold the wheel lightly and relax by smoking a pipe constantly. At the end of a day the ash tray is overflowing with matches and ashes. With that easy approach, my long-distance drive is simple compared to fighting city traffic. You can drive over ice and snow and rain, but you can't drive over other cars.

In all my miles behind the wheel I've never had an accident and have received only one ticket.

Everyone wants to know why I drive so far. Well, a man has to go where the work is; the jobs never come to you. Our home is another reason. We bought our house in Union City in 1941 and have grown so accustomed to it that we hesitate to move. Our friends are here, and it's a completely different atmosphere than in a larger city, much more rural and slower paced. If we sold and moved to Columbus or Dayton we couldn't duplicate the space we have here for twice the price we'd get out of the house. Here, there's enough room for a fair-sized garden about 36 by 40 feet, and in summer I like to go out and try to keep ahead of the weeds. After sitting at a desk all day you feel a lot better with a little exercise.

There's room for my antique cars, too. Right now 12 cars are stored inside the 70-by-80-foot garage, and another six cars are sitting beside it. Where else could you get that large a storage space? The antiques give me something to do evenings.

So now you know why I've been called a candidate for the title, "Commutingest Commuter." And I won't quit.

Toward the end of his 19-hour day Walter Bailey tinkers contentedly with one of his 31 old cars.

ALAN KING CALLING

A few words on "Phonetiquette" by the Commuters' Comedian

THE TELEPHONE has been a great source of comfort and frustration ever since Don Ameche invented it. The telephone company also says it is "an instrument for public relations," but I'm afraid they're looking on the bright side. As a matter of fact, the two places where I've found my friends at their worst are in front of a mirror and on the telephone.

Just consider some of the strange brands of telephonetiquette you can run into any day out where I live in Rockville Center (and I don't believe it's one bit better in whatever pleasant place you try to sleep). There are the people who let the telephone ring and ring (haven't you sat in their living rooms?) and take their time answering. And what about my time on the other end, as I nervously chew my cigar? And you probably know the impatient type who lets the phone ring twice when he's calling you and then hangs up? Generally you pick up the receiver just as the last faint sound has registered, and more times than not, you may have sprinted the last twenty-five feet to get over to the apparatus, but to no avail. Mark him down as "You never know who."

I can go on. There's the caller who uses a loud booming voice, that forces you to keep the earpiece about six inches from the head. And the one who whispers so softly that you feel as if his call was a military secret. And let me register a special beef for anyone I'm calling who acts high-pressured and picks up the instrument for public relations and says "Yes?" in a bored voice. No compliments, either, to those, mostly young, who forget that I can hear while they hold the phone and yell, "Dad, it's that crazy Alan King for you."

My own personal manager has a lovely way with him. When he calls, he goes right into the middle of the conversation, and when he's finished he hangs up. No good-bye. Click—and that's the end of you. But give me him any day over the talk-talk-talk-talk-talk school.

Then there's the neighbor, God bless him, who wants to complain that your dog kept him awake by barking last night, and he times the call to get you just as you're basking in a hot shower, or sitting down to dinner. My close friend Tony Martin has a genius for this kind of timing, and he is the telephoningest man I ever met. Regardless of where he is—Madrid, Paris, Louisville—he thinks nothing of picking up the phone at any hour of the day or night and calling. He phones his wife three times a day. Funny thing about Tony, he never calls person to person. It's always station to station. So when Martin is on the phone you're never quite sure where the call is being made. He's a great guy for phoning after midnight. After my long association with him, I'm convinced, when the phone rings at 5:00 in the morning, it's Tony.

I've been on the receiving end of a good deal in my day, but no one ever gave me as hard a time on the telephone as my own mother. When I was visiting Israel last year, I decided to give her a special thrill and call her, so I put in the call and after a six- or seven-hour delay I finally got through. The conversation went something like this:

Alan: "Hello—Mom?"

Mother: "Yes, Alan. How are you?"

Alan: "I'm fine. Having a grand time."

Mother: "Where are you calling from?"

Alan: "Tel Aviv, Israel."

Mother: (In an exasperated voice) "Oh, Alan—that's expensive!"

AND SHE HUNG UP!

Another thing the telephone company says is that the telephone is an instrument for making friends, and considering the A,T and T dividends, it seems boorish to argue. But it's not that easy!

Good-bye.

SUBURBIA TODAY PRESENTS

The Last Contest Ever For People who Never Enter Contests!

and the only contest that offers you a choice of entry blanks!

ATTENTION NON-CONTEST PARTICIPANTS:

Besides being the last opportunity you'll have to participate in a contest designed especially for you who never (or hardly ever) enter contests, there are three other reasons why you'll want to enter:

1. You'll have a great conversational ice-breaker for use at parties, and koffee klatches. ("Did I ever tell you about the time I entered a contest for people who never enter contests . . . ?" is the authorized opening line.)

2. The time you spend relaxing with this contest is that much less time you'll have to spend worrying about whatever it is you're worrying about.

3. You may win a prize!

Just Think of a Last Line to Complete this Verse:

Sweet suburbia,
Blooming from California to Maine
Mortgaged to the whole of its terrain
Where one seldom relaxes
Because of high taxes

(And your line would go here)

The last word of your entry line should rhyme with "Maine" and "terrain." For example a last line might be—"And station wagons speeding to the train." Among other rhyming words that might be used: complain, gain, lane, pain, plain, rain, refrain, strain, etc., etc., etc.

Before You Start...Read Over These Rules

(1) Take a warm bath, relax, hum your favorite song softly. (This rule may not help you dream up a winning entry—but it will make you feel good.)

(2) You may enter as many last lines as desired as long as the total number does not exceed three. Your brainstorms may be submitted on the entry forms on the opposite page. (If desired, you may select the coupon form that best suits your personality.) Entries may also be submitted on facsimiles, post cards, greeting cards, or playing cards.

(3) Mail your entries to:
BOX 7525
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

(4) All entries must be received by 8:47 a.m., December 5, 1960. For those who do not hear from us within a few weeks after that date—best wishes for a happy holiday season.

(5) Entries will be judged on the basis of originality and aptness of thought. Judges' decision is final. In case of ties, the tied contestants will be required to complete in 25 words or less the statement, "I never enter contests because..." All entries become the property of Suburbia Today.

(6) Entries must be the original work of contestants and must be submitted in their own names. However, if your name is John Phyrokoltosoonier, we'll understand if your entry is signed Tom Phyrokoltosoonier.

(7) The prizes pictured in this announcement are being awarded in the three contests that appear in the September, October and November issues of Suburbia Today. One hundred prizes will be awarded in each contest. Three hundred fortune cookies—each containing a message listing a prize—will be selected at random for mailing to the 300 individual prize winners.

(8) The contest is open to everyone except recipients of a Pulitzer Prize or an Academy Award.

(9) The contest is subject to all Federal, State and local regulations.

THE MOST FEROCIOUS FLESH EATER that ever lived, Tyrannosaurus Rex stood 20 feet tall and had a mouthful of vicious teeth up to 6 inches long. But not all dinosaurs were large or ferocious. Though some were longer than a railroad car, many were no larger than chickens! Each month you'll make hundreds of fascinating nature discoveries through the Audubon Nature Program.

WHY DO ELEPHANTS HAVE TRUNKS? The elephant's ancestor, the mastodon, had a long lower jaw and an extra pair of tusks for scooping up food. But, over millions of years, his jaw shortened and his lower tusks disappeared. So his nose developed into a trunk to help him gather food, since his mouth could no longer reach the ground!
